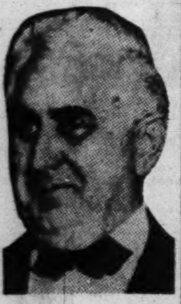
F. D. R. DECREES SEIZURE OF ALL ENEMY PATENTS

Aims to Bar Return After the War.

Washington, D. C., April 21 (AP).—President Roosevelt today announced a plan to seize any useful enemy owned or controled patents and apply them to America's war effort, regardless of technical legal obstacles. By defining patent rights as property, he said, it could be done under his wartime emergency powers.



Leo Crowley.

To this end, he told a press conference, he has directed Leo Crowley, alien property custodian, to conduct an exhaustive survey of thousands of enemy patent holdings and to take any steps necessary to make them available for war production.

We should take everything we need, the President said, because the first thing to do is win the war.

No Return After War.

Furthermore, he made it plain that the seized patents are not to revert to their foreign owners when the war is ended. Patents were seized during the first World war and afterwards were let slip back to their original owners, he said, and a recurrence of this should be prevented.

As enemy property custodian, Crowley has already come into possession of many such enemy owned or controled patents, Mr. Roosevelt said. Most of these were in the chemical and pharmaceutical field. The next few months, he added, will see several thousand more come into his custody.

Crowley, interviewed later, said the program was already in operation—patents are being examined to see if we want them, and whether additional research would make them valuable in prosecuting the war.

Patents of Many Types.

Among the types of patents under examination, he said, were those having to do with artificial rubber, artificial fuels, artificial foods and fabrics, together with all kinds of drugs, a long list of biological patents, and patents on electrical equipment and diesel engines.

Already, Crowley has seized artificial rubber and gasoline patents held by the I. G. Farbenindustrie, commonly called the "German dye trust." Several companies in the United States and their patents, have been taken over. Among these are the Magnesium Development company, New York, and the Schering corporation, Bloomfield, N. J., a pharmaceutical enterprise.

The senate patents committee has been conducting hearings on a bill by Sen. Homer T. Bone [D., Wash.] to give the government sweeping patent seizure powers. President Roosevelt indicated, however, that he already had certain seizure powers under the first war powers act.

Seizure No Surprise.

The senate hearings have seen justice department officials testify that by entering into patent pool arrangements with German concerns, some American corporations have created monopolies in some fields, which are proving detrimental to the war effort.

Sen. Bone said he had not been informed of the President's order but was not surprised "because I know the President's views on patents."

"This simplifies our problem somewhat because the executive has stepped in and done something," the senator said, adding that the order applied only to foreign patents or those linked with foreign pools and that many domestic patents also were vital to the war effort.

"We'll go ahead with our hearings but we may take more time to make our report," Bone said. "We may do some surgery on our bill in order to

Report F. D. R. Aims to Limit Pay and Prices

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 21.—Congress heard reports today that President Roosevelt in a special message next week, will propose price ceilings on retail and wholesale commodities, coupled with rationing of consumer goods, in an effort to curb the spiral of inflation which threatens the economic structure of the nation.

Senate leaders, who usually are reliable sources of news about forthcoming White House programs, said also that the President is contemplating a limitation of $25,000 or $50,000 on individual incomes together with a 99 per cent excess profits levy on earnings of corporations in excess of 6 per cent of their invested capital.

Wage Freezing Considered.

The reports also hinted that Mr. Roosevelt would issue a directive to the war labor board to freeze present wages of highly skilled industrial workers. CIO and AFL representatives have voiced violent opposition to any prohibition of wage increases but the President's order would presumably apply only to workers getting top wages at present and not to the great majority of employés in war factories.

In connection with the rationing report, it was learned that Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago had been summoned to Washington by Leon Henderson, price administrator. Henderson wired that the price problem before the administration was of the greatest magnitude and that the rationing of all consumer goods was under consideration. Kelly left immediately for the capital.

New Powers Bill Offered.

Subordinates of Henderson said they had no knowledge of the Kelly telegram and could not verify whether messages had been sent to mayors of other large cities seeking their advice on the question.

Strength was lent to the reports when Chairman Andrew J. May [D., Ky.] of the house military affairs committee introduced a bill authorizing the President to fix prices, license industry, regulate wages, and draft manpower for war work. Mr. Roosevelt would be empowered under the measure to declare it unlawful to "buy, sell, or otherwise contract for any article, service or thing" at a higher rate than prescribed in Presidential proclamations. He could also regulate rents, prices, and compensation for work.

The President will also, according to reports, indorse a vigorous prosecution by the treasury of its voluntary war bond savings program.

March Level Would Prevail.

Government experts, it is known, have prepared an order freezing all retail consumers goods prices at levels prevailing in March. More than 30,000 manufactured and processed products would be affected.

The Roosevelt message may be sent to congress next Monday and will reportedly include a general discussion of the nation's economic situation. The President is expected to insist that the cost of living not go higher than at present. It has already increased 1 per cent each month for the last 12 months, a total of 12 per cent, and is continuing to rise.

The message to congress is to be followed by a radio broadcast to the nation. The exact date is being kept a secret to prevent any attempt to jam the airwaves by axis agents.

The proposed excess profits tax and the limitation on individual incomes would require legislation to be initiated by the house ways and means committee which is drafting the new tax bill,

Army Physical Standards for Draftees Eased

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 21.—Regulations easing the physical standards for enlistment or induction into the military service were announced today by the war department.

The new regulations add a new classification for those whose physical defects may be corrected. In addition to Class 1-A [physically qualified for general military service]; Class 1-B [physically fit for limited military service], and Class 4 [physically unfit for any military service], there is a new designation of Class 1-A suspended.

The new classification will include individuals with disqualifying defects of a nature which may be correctible and which, when corrected, will qualify them for general military service, the army said.

Face Induction When Corrected.

"These individuals will not be inducted until the defects are satisfactorily corrected," the army said, "They will be subject to reëxamination when the defects have been corrected and may be reclassified in 1-A."

Common examples of such remediable defects cited included dental defects, correctible nasal obstruction, simple goiter, repairable hernia, and remediable nutritional defects.

The regulations also provide for up to three days of hospitalization for men whose physical fitness for military service cannot be determined without hospital study.

Weight Maximum Changed.

Requirements for height, weight, and chest measurement remain the same, with a minimum height of 60 inches and maximum of 78 inches. Minimum weight remains at 105 pounds. Men whose weight is greater than the standard may be classified 1-A if the overweight is not so excessive as to interfere with training.

The new regulations change the standard acuity of vision to provide that certain cases which previously had been classified as 1-B may now be classified as 1-A with the specification that the men serve as noncombatants.

While the minimum requirement remains at 20/100 in each eye without glasses, if, correctible to 20-40 in each eye with classes, the standard for service in the noncombatant branches is 20-200 in each eye without glasses, if correctible to 20-40.

Requirements as to teeth are clarified in the new regulations in respect to accepting fixed and removable bridges and partial or full dentures in lieu of natural teeth.

IRONY, ASSERTS HOYT, WHEN WINCHELL AND O'HARE RANK EQUALLY

Milwaukee, Wis., April 21 [Special].—It is ironic that the government, seeking to bestow high honor on Edward H. O'Hare should find itself in the position of rewarding O'Hare's conspicuous gallantry with a rank already held by Lieut. Comm. Walter Winchell, Lansing Hoyt, Milwaukee Republican leader, commented tonight.

"Who is this Winchell that he is able to strut around New York night spots wearing a uniform bearing the same two and one-half stripes that are regarded as a fitting reward to a man who saved an aircraft carrier by shooting down single handed five enemy bombers?" Hoyt demanded.

"I call attention to this situation, not because I feel that O'Hare has not been suitably rewarded but because I am sure the vast difference in the services rendered their country by these two men clearly demonstrates a startling incongruity," Hoyt said.

Last fall Hoyt was made the target of a national radio broadcast by Winchell, who criticized him for holding simultaneously the jobs of Republican county chairman and chairman of the Wisconsin America First committee.

FIRES THREATEN ASHEVILLE, N. C., CITY WATERSHED

Asheville, N. C., April 21 (AP).—Fresh forest fires broke out late today in the Black and Craggy mountains, 20 to 30 miles east and north of Asheville, bringing to about two dozen the number of timber blazes dotting a 70 mile stretch extending 45 miles southwestward to Brevard.

Crackling flames gnawing tonight thru the Craggies were drawing relentlessly toward the Asheville watershed as the city's public works director, Weldon Weir, rushed fire fighting crews to strategic gaps and ridges. In addition to threatening the drainage basin the flames were said to be lapping toward a frequency modulation radio station being constructed atop of Mount Clingman.

Earlier in the day officials of Pisgah National Forest ordered 600,000 acres of that preserve closed to the public as scores of workers battled a fire along a 15 mile front. District Ranger J. B. Fortin said 21 new fires broke out after midnight along the Pigeon river in Haywood county.

Stagger Hours in Los Angeles; Cut Congestion

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., April 21.—Congestion on street car and bus lines was cut sharply today in the first day's trial of a city-wide system of staggered work periods designed to ease rush hour burdens on the city's overcrowded transportation facilities.

An estimated 100,000 persons went to work at unusually early hours, while others got an hour or two extra sleep and worked later at the end of the day. Transportation officials said traffic in the early morning hours was heavier than ever before and that traffic after 7:30 a. m. was less congested than recently.

Tire Rationing Hits Autos.

Los Angeles has been an acute sufferer from shortage of transportation facilities brought on by the needs of factory workers and by the curtailment of private automobile driving. It is a city of long distances where almost every one in the past has owned and driven an automobile the year round. As the necessity of conserving tires has driven thousands of automobiles into storage, the strain on the car and bus lines has overtaxed their capacity.

The stagger system was worked out by E. E. Duque, chairman of the citizens' transportation committee, in conjunction with railroad, street car, and bus line officials.

Some Changes in Hours.

Factory sections have been divided into zones with shifts in each zone working different hours. Retail stores are open from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. Government workers in some offices work from 7:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. and in others from 7:45 a. m. to 4:45 p. m., with skeleton staffs keeping the offices open until 5 p. m.

The Superior courts are now starting their day at 9:15 or 9:30 a. m., and the noon rest has been cut 30 minutes.

Duque said tonight most reports received on the first day's operation were favorable.

WEIGH ACTION IN CHICAGO.

The problem of staggering work hours to relieve congestion in Chicago transportation facilities is now in the hands of a joint sub-committee of the city council's committees on traffic and transportation, together with city engineers. Leslie Sorensen, city traffic engineer, went to New York yesterday to seek information for the sub-committee. A survey already has been made of all large employers in the area from Chicago avenue to Roosevelt road and west to Halsted street.

U-BOATS ATTACK 3 MORE SHIPS IN U. S. WATERS

Two Are Sunk; One Towed to Port.

The torpedoing of three more ships in the vicinity of American eastern shores was made public yesterday by the navy department. The ships were a small United States merchant vessel and a medium size Norwegian tanker, which were sunk, and a medium size ship of Panamanian registry, which was towed to port after being damaged by two torpedoes.

The attacks brought to 138 the number of ships which have been sunk in American waters since Pearl Harbor, with 878 known dead, 1,117 missing, and 3,858 rescued.

In addition, it was announced yesterday an Argentine tanker had been damaged by a mine or a torpedo while on its way to New York. Details follow:

RESCUE SHIP WARNED

New York, April 21 (AP).—Survivors of a torpedoed American merchant ship today were permitted to reveal that they warned away a possible rescue ship after an enemy submarine followed them in the Caribbean.

Their ship was sunk the afternoon of April 4 and a submarine came to the surface and passed close to their lifeboats.

Shortly afterward they sighted a large United States passenger ship on the horizon "heading toward us." They warned the ship of the submarine, and she changed her course and disappeared.

Three men were killed in the torpedo explosion, but the remaining 39 men and officers were saved after five days on open rafts and in a lifeboat they kept hooked together with lines.

FOOD TOSSED FROM SUB

Lewes, Del., April 21 (AP).—Nine half clothed seamen, haggard and exhausted after drifting 10 days at sea, said a German submarine crew sank their medium size Norwegian tanker off Bermuda Easter Monday—then tossed them food as they huddled in a lifeboat, the 4th naval district disclosed today.

Nine of the crew from the Norwegian ship were landed here from the Portuguese freighter Lobito.

Ten of the survivors, who were landed in New York, said the captain of the submarine, who tossed them some biscuits, appeared to be an Italian, instead of a German. They said there were 34 men in the crew, and that a third boat with 12 men was missing.

Survivors said two men were killed when the U-boat's first torpedo struck, and one man died Tuesday and was buried at sea.

SHIP TOWED TO PORT

Charleston, S. C., April 21.—Forty-eight survivors of a merchant ship of Panamanian registry have reached safety after their vessel ran into a nest of three submarines off the Atlantic coast April 12 and was torpedoed twice.

Capt. A. T. Lagan of Woodberry, N. J., the skipper, remained on board with two crew members, and a salvage ship arrived 18 hours later, repaired the vessel, and towed it to port.

The survivors who took to lifeboats

BRIEF SUMMARY OF DEVELOPMENTS ON WAR FRONTS

War's latest developments:

The United States navy announced that two motor torpedo boats damaged and probably sank a Japanese cruiser near the Island of Cebu in the Philippines. The cruiser was escorted by four enemy destroyers, a communique said, adding that one of the torpedo boats was forced ashore. The second torpedo craft escaped.

Capture Maywood Boys.

Company B of the 192d tank battalion, an Illinois National Guard unit composed of men from Maywood and other communities in metropolitan Chicago, is believed to have been captured by the Japanese on Bataan peninsula, the war department asserted. The company's strength was given as 121 officers and men. The war department said damage inflicted upon American island forts in Manila bay by Japanese shells and bombs was "not great."

From Australia came word that American flyers again had attacked the Japanese base at Rabaul, New Britain Island. Nine heavy Japanese bombers and six fighter planes raided Port Moresby, New Guinea.

Allies Hold in Burma.

A communique issued at New Delhi, India, said British and Chinese troops were holding their ground following what was described as the first allied success in Burma—the recapture of a demolished oil city and the rescue of 7,000 encircled British troops.

The Russians claimed they were attacking Smolensk, center of German resistance 230 miles west of Moscow, under an artillery bombardment. The Reds said 1,800 Nazi troops were killed in fighting in two days on this front.

PUNISH SOLDIERS WHO HAD 'FLING' AND MISSED BOAT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., April 21.—Disciplinary action has been taken against 135 Canadian soldiers who walked off a troopship on which they were being embarked for England at an eastern Canadian port recently and missed the sailing. Two hundred and sixty-five others who left the ship but returned in time to sail recently arrived in England. The walkout, Defense Minister J. L. Ralston said, apparently was caused by the soldiers' desire for a "last fling" and because of their dissatisfaction with their accommodations and food aboard the ship. Admitting conditions on the ship were below standard, Ralston said remedial steps had been taken.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 21.—Hutchinson & Co., London publishers, it was revealed today, have turned over to the British Red Cross $8,000, representing royalties on Mein Kampf, the autobiography of the German fuehrer, which normally would be paid to Adolf Hitler.

ARMY BELIEVES TANK COMPANY LOST IN BATAAN

A Village Answers

"Maywood Boys Prisoners; Buy Defense Bonds!"

That message, with page 1 of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE as its background, was spread all over Maywood by this morning.

As soon as President Earl K. Broberg of the village of Maywood saw the early edition of THE TRIBUNE he bought nearly 300 copies. Summoning a force of policemen and the magistrate, Broberg worked all night posting the page and its message in prominent spots all over the town. Among the busiest of the bill posters was Lieut. John E. Peterson of the Maywood police, whose son Robert was in an open air Bataan hospital when the Japs finally captured the Maywood unit.

Washington, D. C., April 21 [Special].—The war department announced today that Company B of the 192d tank battalion, an Illinois National Guard unit composed of men from Maywood, Ill., and other communities in metropolitan Chicago, is among those units believed to be in the hands of the enemy on Bataan peninsula.

The department said three officers and 104 enlisted men of the 200th coast artillery, New Mexico National Guard, were evacuated from Bataan and are now at Corregidor.

All other National Guard organizations which were on Bataan—the 192d and 194th tank battalions and the remainder of the 200th coast artillery—are believed to be prisoners, the announcement said.

Company B of the 192d tank battalion was composed of 121 officers and men, the majority from Maywood, and the others from Chicago and the suburbs of Melrose Park, Oak Park, and Elmhurst. The company was inducted into service in November, 1940, trained at Fort Knox, Ky., and was sent to the Philippines early in November last year just before the war started. A number of the members have been reported killed in action.

Wisconsin Company Lost.

Other components of the 192d were Companies A, Wisconsin; C, Ohio, and D, Kentucky. In the 194th were Companies A, Minnesota; B, Missouri; C, California, and D, Washington. Each of the tank battalions was made up of four companies.

The exact strength of the units was not known but it was estimated that the two tank battalions numbered beween 700 and 800 men each and the New Mexico regiment of anti-aircraft coast artillerymen had 1,400 men.

The American forts in Manila bay emerged with colors flying today from terrific pounding by Japanese big guns and dive bombers. The war department reported that the "damage inflicted was not great."

A heavy artillery fire was concentrated on the island forts—Corregidor, Fort Hughes, and Fort Drum—yesterday. Dive bombers attacked the fortifications. Their Japanese pilots, however, proved highly inexpert at the technique perfected by the Nazi luftwaffe. The communique said most of the bombs dropped harmlessly in the water and there were no casualties.

Withdraw in Panay.

The heavy artillery fire from shore emplaced guns slackened late in the day, the army said. A communique yesterday had said a cross-fire coming from Bataan on one side and the Cavite shore on the other had resulted in "some casualties and some damage."

"On the Island of Panay," today's communique said, "heavy Japanese attacks forced our troops to withdraw from two positions in Antique. Our outnumbered forces are continuing their resistance and are exacting a heavy toll of enemy casualties."

Praise Medical Flyers.

San Francisco, April 21 (AP).—Bamboo patched transport planes kept a trickle of medical supplies running to Bataan until the last, an army doctor said today, but the loss of three ships carrying a smiliar cargo sealed the fate of the embattled peninsula.

The medical officer, Lieut. Col. William J. Penard, was quoted in a Melbourne radio broadcast.

BRITISH-CHINESE TROOPS CLING TO NEW BURMA LINE

Rescue of 7,000 Britons First Allied Success.

NEW DELHI, India, April 21 (AP).—Heartened by the first allied success of the Burma campaign—recapture of the desolated oil center of Yenangyaung and rescue of 7,000 encircled British troops—Chinese and British forces today held firmly to a line running southwestward from the 3,000 foot heights of Mount Popa to the broad Irrawaddy river.

A British communique confirmed that the Chinese under Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell of the United States had joined British armored forces in an attack which drove the Japanese southward from Yenangyaung, where the British had destroyed 6,000 oil wells last week to keep them from the hands of the invaders.

British Move Northward.

As a result, the communique said, the British main forces were enabled to move northward across the Pinchaung river, which starts on the steep slopes of Mount Popa and plunges quickly down to the Irrawaddy almost at sea level just above Yenangyaung.

The Chinese, who estimated the number of rescued British at 7,000, remained in occupation of Yenangyaung.

They said they had killed 500 Japanese and lost only 100 of their own men, altho these included a battalion chief.

Japs Shell Chinese.

Reënforced Japanese troops were reported attacking the Chinese in the Sittang river area at Lewe, 10 miles southwest of Pyinmana, with artillery shelling extended as far north as Aing, 10 miles north of Lewe.

Japanese success in that zone would endanger Chinese-British positions around Taungdwingyi, on the 1,500 foot ridge which separates the valleys of the Irrawaddy and the Sittang.

The Chinese, however, were giving stubborn battle and in addition were reported to be sending reënforcements down the Salween river to support the troops holding up the Japanese drive toward Loikaw in the Shan states. The Japanese have made a slight northward advance, but still are about 50 miles below Loikaw, the Chinese said.

Australian Destroyer Lost.

MELBOURNE, April 22 [Wednesday]—(AP).—The Australian destroyer Vampire has been lost in the Bay of Bengal as a result of enemy action, but most of the crew was saved, Premier John Curtin announced today. The 1,090 ton flotilla leader carried a normal complement of 134 men.

Curtain said six of the crew were killed, one other died of wounds, and two were missing and supposed dead.

CLAIMS AUSSIE PLANES BOMBED U. S. WARSHIP; THOUGHT IT JAP CRAFT

New York, April 21 (AP).—John Raleigh, CBS correspondent in a broadcast from Australia, said today that the United States destroyer Peary, acknowledged by the United States to have been sunk Feb. 19 at Darwin when the Japanese scored five direct bomb hits, previously had been bombed by the Australians by mistake.

As she was nearing Darwin after successfully undergoing many bombings at Manila and in the Indies, Raleigh said, "Australian planes mistook the Peary for an enemy craft and bombed her, unfortunately, more accurately than the Japanese.

"Her fire control and fore masts were carried away by direct hits. The ship, tho frantically signaling, did not fire back at the allies, who honestly believed the vessel an enemy one. Finally, a bomb fell on the after-deck, setting afire the ammunition stacked beside 4 inch guns. A seaman rushed to the danger spot and hurled the shell cases, afire, overboard. For this he was awarded the navy cross."

The Peary finally reached Darwin, short-handed because mosquitoes nesting in green camouflage used in the islands had infected 25 men with malaria.

FUEHRER'S HOPE FOR SPRING PUSH FADES FAST: REDS

Russians Put Smolensk Under Attack.

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, April 21 (AP).—The Russians reported today that Adolf Hitler's once bright hopes for a spring offensive, by the admission of his own officers whom the Reds have captured, vanished under the fear of a British-American thrust in the west.

Soviet authorities said their own predictions that the threatened Nazi offensive would come in the summer instead of the spring—if it comes at all—had been borne out by statements of a Maj. Bittner, captive German transport officer.

Older Type of Soldier.

The Russians said this officer related that the specter of a war on two fronts had seeped into the German high command itself and that Nazi hopes of big spring operations were growing dim.

Prisoners seen by foreign correspondents and information gathered by the Russians show that the main force of the German army, whittled down by the Red army's winter operations, now is made up of reserves who are family men over 30 years instead of the youths originally thrown into the battle of Russia.

On the fighting fronts, meanwhile, the Russians were reported attacking Smolensk, center of German military power, under cover of an artillery bombardment.

1,800 Germans Slain.

The Moscow radio announced that Gen. Zhukov's troops approaching Smolensk from the northeast repulsed several enemy counterattacks, killing 1,800 Germans in two days.

The Russians stepped up the tempo of assaults against Finnish lines on the Aunus isthmus [between Lake Ladoga and Lake Onega in east Karelia] with fresh troops from Siberia.

Stockholm advices quoted the Finns as saying the heaviest fighting of the war was in progress there.

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, April 21 (AP).—No hothouse plant in all of Russia is being nurtured more tenderly this spring than the delicate question of the soviet's relations with Japan.

The newspapers report only the facts. In their accounts of the western Pacific war they never indulge in so much as an editorial comma, tho they devote column-length articles to the subject.

Twice the papers have spoken out, each time giving warnings to the Japanese militarists to be careful of their northward ambitions while plunging on in the Pacific.

Puts an End to Banquets.

The new Japanese ambassador, Naotake Sato, is one of the most active diplomats in Russia. When he arrived to replace Lieut. Gen. Yoshitsugu Tatekawa, he let it be known that his embassy would emphasize hard work. [Tatekawa, according to a Tokio broadcast, yesterday submitted his official report to Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo.]

The numerous banquets which the Japanese had staged at the Grand hotel here to toast various events and persons stopped after Sato's return from Moscow, where he presented his credentials.

The night after a British broadcast brought word of the bombing of Tokio one Japanese correspondent could not restrain himself. In the early hours of the morning he rushed down the corridor of his hotel, carrying a copy of Pravda [the Communist newspaper] which told the story of the bombing and calling to anyone who would listen: "Look what they have done—I hope you're satisfied."

Closest Approach to Incident.

After half an hour of this shouting, some English-speaking resident whose sleep had been interrupted filled the hall with an even louder yell, "Cut out that damn noise."

That was the closest approach so far to any incident in a town where American, British, and Japanese writers and a lone Australian practically have to rub elbows and sit at adjoining tables night after night.

The Pravda editorial which, on April 13, the anniversary of the Russian-Japanese neutrality pact, warned Tokio's militarists to abide by the terms of the agreement has been a delicate point.

However, there has been no hint of future Russian policy.

Japs Increase Preparations.

CHUNGKING, China, April 21 (AP).—Chinese reports today asserted the Japanese were making further preparations for possible war against soviet Russia, including heavy reënforcements of Japanese garrisons in Inner Mongolia.

They said the Japanese were building defense works in Inner Mongolia, had transferred all departments of the Chahar provincial government from the capital to south of the great wall and were holding air raid precautions tests thruout North China.

NEW RAID ALARM SOUNDS IN JAPAN, BERLIN REPORTS

Tokio Tells of Prayers; Hints of Peace Drive.

Roosevelt Reticent

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 21.—Laughter rocked President Roosevelt's press conference today when he was asked to confirm reports of the bombing of Tokio by American planes. The question reminded him of the kind usually posed by "sweet young things" at the dinner table, he said, recalling that one asked him:

"Could you tell us about the bombing? Where did it start and how did the planes get there?"

He said he answered "Shangri La" [a fictional utopia in Tibet]] and added he was certain the sweet young thing believed him.

Mr. Roosevelt said he could not go so far as to confirm the reports of the Tokio bombing.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Central and western Japan were held under new air alarm yesterday afternoon, the Berlin radio reported, but the Japanese themselves confined their broadcasts to deprecatory reports on Saturday's raids on four great cities and to hints of a peace offensive in a lengthy account of prayers by Japanese Christians for an early peace.

The German report said that alarms sounded between 4 and 5 p. m. Japanese time [2 and 3 a. m. Chicago war time], and that "for central Japan the all-clear sounded about 5 p. m., while the alarm remained in force for western Japan, especially for Kyushiu."

Kyushiu is the most southern and westerly of the four main Japanese islands, and is nearest China. It has many steel mills, the great Sasebo naval base, and the important port of Nagasaki.

Says Nothing of Bombs.

The German broadcast said nothing of planes or bombs, so the alarms may have been precautionary or nervous reaction to the raids of Saturday on Tokio, Yokohama, Nagoya, and Kobe. Russia yesterday denied the report by an Italian newspaper that the bombers had their bases on soviet territory.

The Japanese made several broadcasts about the Saturday raids. One said various ministers reported to the cabinet yesterday that Japanese life had been affected only in a few instances and to small degree and that the transportation system hardly was disturbed. Another, in French, told of two planes being attacked on Saturday by Japanese interceptors.

The Tokio radio also said Premier Hideki Tojo would leave today on a tour of industrial establishments in Miye prefecture, a district some 250 miles west of Tokio and containing many war industries.

Quote Christian Kagawa.

The Japanese broadcast on prayers for peace quoted Toyohiko Kagawa, most famous Japanese Christian leader, as saying that more than 200 Japanese Christians prayed day and night for a week before the outbreak of war and that even now "prayers are being said daily for an early conclusion of the war and restoration of peace thruout the world."

This broadcast might be a cautious feeler in a "peace offensive" of the type which Archibald MacLeish, director of the federal Office of Facts and Figures, predicted on Monday the axis would launch this summer.

Kagawa has lectured widely in the United States and his books have had some circulation in America, so Japanese leaders could be counting on his reputation to gain a hearing for such an offensive.

The broadcast said Kagawa declared the pre-war prayers were "started in response to an appeal made by Bishop Stanley Jones of the Methodist church and well-known American writer."

Other Christians Pray, Too.

Austin, Tex., April 21 (AP).—Dr. Stanley Jones, widely known as a Methodist missionary in the orient, today confirmed a statement by Dr. Toyohiko Kagawa, that Japanese Christians in Tokio prayed in the hope of averting the Pacific war before it began.

The missionary said Japanese Christians at his request started a 24 hour a day seven day vigil of prayer on Dec. 3, four days before the attack on Pearl Harbor.

"Dr. Kagawa," Dr. Jones related, "cabled me that Tokio church leaders had begun the seven day vigil of prayer for peace in the Pacific on that date. I presume the vigil continued thru Dec. 10. No doubt Japanese Christians, like Christians everywhere, are praying daily for an early conclusion of the war."

Dr. Jones said he also had asked Melbourne, Australia, church leaders to inaugurate the prayer and received a reply it had started on approximately the same date as that in Japan.

"I also cabled Christian churchmen in Shanghai, but received no response. Possibly the message was not delivered," Dr. Jones said.

Naval Training Cadets Graduated

School Praised

Graduation of the first class of the nation's first primary naval training school in ultra high frequency radio was hailed last night as a victory for voluntary effort by the students and the corporation which donated the space, equipment, and instructional staff at 190 North State street.

The student sailors will proceed to an undisclosed secondary school for advanced training in operating the navy's Radar apparatus to detect approaching airplanes.

"Here we have a double example of the manner in which a good democracy functions," said Commander Frederick H. Schnell, communications officer of the 9th naval district. "On the one hand we have a patriotic corporation [Balaban and Katz] stepping forward to volunteer its assets to aid in our war effort, and on the other hand, this fine group of men who exercised their democratic privilege by volunteering for this service."

Susan Hayward, Hollywood actress who was voted "Miss Radar" by the students, attended the dinner and ceremonies held in the large class rooms where they put in 70 hour school weeks during the intensive three month course.

BRETT MISSES NEW GUINEA RAID BY 22 MINUTES

AT AN ADVANCED ALLIED AIR BASE IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, April 21.—Lieut. Gen. George H. Brett, commander of the air forces, completed an inspection of the Port Moresby, New Guinea, area today and took off for the south just prior to a Japanese air raid.

Gen. Brett wanted to see the show, but it was imperative that the big plane in which he and his party were traveling get into the air or run the risk of destruction. "We cannot afford to lose any more planes than we have to," the general said.

Twenty-two minutes after the plane left the Jap raiders arrived. The general was greatly pleased with the progress that has been made by the Australians and Americans in New Guinea. He said "every one has been working hard and a lot has been accomplished during the last few weeks."

Dutch Demand Seizure of Vichy Lands in Americas

This Netherlands territory borders on French Guiana.

BRITISH BELIEVE JAPANESE DRIVE IN CEYLON IS NEAR

Discount Reports Enemy Heads for Aden.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 21.—The Japanese tonight were reported to have organized a powerful naval and military expeditionary force for full scale attack against Ceylon as the next step westward in the drive across the Indian ocean. The offensive is expected to be launched at any moment.

Other reports that the Japanese intend to by-pass Ceylon, site of British naval base, and attack Aden at the entrance to the Red sea, which leads to the Suez canal, are given little credence by military authorities. They maintain that Japanese strategy has been to consolidate each position along their line of advance. They also argue it would be risky to the Japanese to extend their lines of communications across the Indian ocean, leaving Ceylon as an allied spearhead threatening to sever Japanese transport routes.

Fear Isolation of India.

It is conceded, however, that the capture of Aden may be the ultimate objective of an Indian ocean attack since it would isolate India, cut off aid to Russia thru Bushire, Iranian port on the Persian gulf, and deprive British forces in Africa, Egypt, and the middle east of supplies, munitions and military reëforcements.

Even the occupation of Madagascar might go a long way toward achieving these ends, and the London Times calls for vigilance on the part of the allies regarding "French possessions which acknowledge the sovereignty of Vichy—north and west Africa, Madagascar, and Somaliland."

Lull Stirs Suspicion.

Suspicions regarding the Japanese plans in the Indian ocean are intensified by the lull of naval activities there since the sinking of the aircraft carrier Hermes and the cruisers Cornwall and Dorsetshire in the Bay of Bengal.

It is believed that Japanese warships, following that battle, returned either to Singapore, or Port Blair in the Andaman Islands for fresh fuel and ammunition preparatory to an attempt to take Ceylon.

Sees Japs Driven from Sea.

NEW DELHI, India, April 21 (AP).—Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell predicted today that the time may not be so far distant when the united nations will have sufficient sea power "to drive the Japanese from the Indian ocean," but warned the people of India that until then the threat to India's shores is obvious.

WAR PRODUCTION 'OVER THE HUMP,' NELSON DECLARES

Axis Reserves Soon Will be Equaled, He Says.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 21.—Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production board, testified before the Truman senate committee today that the United States, England, and Russia are producing a much greater quantity of armament than our axis enemies.

"I believe we are over the hump on production," he said. "We still have to overcome the reserve built up by Germany and Japan in the years before we got started, but in a few months I think we will overcome that."

Nelson said there would be far less criticism of the WPB and particularly of its dollar a year men "if we could publish the figures and show what splendid results have been achieved."

Suggests Release of Figures.

Sen. Joseph H. Ball [R., Minn.] suggested that the public does not understand why the figures on arms production are not published. The people cannot understand, he said, why production figures would give aid and comfort to the enemy if they are as good as they are represented to be. For this reason, he added, the public is likely to believe that the figures are withheld because they are not as good as they might be.

Nelson conceded that Sen. Ball's position was logical and said he would give it serious consideration.

The war production chief vehemently decried criticism of the dollar a year men and other industrialists in his organization. Business men are "suspect" just because they are business men, he said.

Denies Anti-Business Views.

Sen. Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.], chairman of the investigating committee, denied that there is any anti-business attitude in congress.

"Congress has authorized the use of these business men," he said. "Now it's up to you to get the good ones to do the job and to kick the bad ones out. We're not criticising the business men who are here doing a good job for the government, but we do criticise those who are here to look out for their own interests."

Sen. Tom Connally [D., Tex.] remarked that business men in the government service should be prepared to withstand criticism and that Nelson particularly "ought to have the hide of a rhinocerous."

"These heroic business men—and they are heroic—certainly can stand some sniping if the boys on the battle fronts can stand machine gun and artillery fire," Connally added.

Captain of British Plane Carrier Hermes Missing

LONDON, April 21 (AP).—Capt. Richard Onslow, commander of the aircraft carrier Hermes which was sunk April 9 in the bay of Bengal by Japanese planes, was officially reported today to be missing and presumed killed. He was a classmate of King George VI. at the Osborne Naval college at the outset of his naval career.

SWEDISH VESSELS TO CARRY FOOD TO STARVING GREEKS

U. S., Britain, Canada Agree on Plan.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 21.—By offering the necessary shipping, the Swedish government is helping America and Britain to send sufficient food to "prevent actual starvation in the cities of Greece," as well as the islands which have been hit the worst, Dingle M. Foot, parliamentary secretary of the ministry of economic warfare, told the house of commons today.

He said the British, Canadian, and United States governments are willing to allow monthly shipments of 15,000 tons of wheat and flour from Canada to Greece, provided the Swedish representatives receive the necessary facilities from the occupying powers.

Ships Carry Wheat and Flour.

In addition to 7,000 tons of wheat sent from Haifa, Palestine, last month, two ships are understood to have reached Greece last week. One carried 4,500 tons of wheat bought by the Greek government from Swedish stocks in Lisbon, Portugal. The other was loaded with 2,200 tons of flour, a gift from the Greek War Relief association in the United States.

Safe conduct has been asked from the German and Italian governments, Foot revealed, for another ship sailing from Haifa shortly with 2,500 tons of wheat. He said the departure of the first regular monthly shipments will depend on the German and Italian governments.

Eye Shipments to Spain.

Undersecretary of Foreign Affairs Richard Law assured questioners that the British and American governments are "exercising the greatest possible care" to see that materials sent to Spain are intended solely for Spanish requirements.

He said American and British governments "were in constant touch regarding the economic exchanges between Spain and the dollar and sterling areas" and that a general agreement has been reached between them regarding the export policy.

ALL AXIS OWNED PATENTS SEIZED BY F. D. R. ORDER

Technicalities Disregarded in Alien Action.

During the day, a Philadelphia manufacturing executive told the senate patents committee that agreements with German firms enabled American interests to obtain valuable patents and technical information for making plastic glass substitutes needed in bombing and pursuit planes.

S. C. Kelton, secretary of Rohm & Haas, said:

"The story of plexiglas is a story of a one way flow of information, and the flow was from Germany to this country. If we hadn't secured from German concerns both the patents and the technical information on manufacture there wouldn't be an inch of plexiglas in an American bomber or pursuit plane today."

Didn't Await Freezing.

The German patents were paid for in royalties to the German concerns on sales made by Rohm & Haas, Kelton said, but he asserted:

"We have paid no royalties to German firms on sales made since Jan. 1, 1941," adding that the royalty payments previously sent to Germany were "insignificant." During 1940, he testified, $74,000 went to Germany while Rohm & Haas spent $3,984,000 in the United States.

The witness made a general denial of charges by Walter R. Hutchinson, special assistant to the attorney general, that production of needed materials had been hampered by international cartel agreements involving Rohm & Haas, a firm by the same name in Germany, I. G. Farbenindustrie of Germany, E. I. du Pont de Nemours, Inc., and Imperial Chemistries, Ltd., of England.

Sought to Insure Control.

Hutchinson said the companies entered into international agreements to insure control over the plastic and to limit its manufacture. The government attorney testified that American firms also had supplied companies in Japan, South America, and Mexico.

The agreements were made, Hutchinson continued, to insure "the German economic position in such materials, to the detriment of legitimate American competition, for further German exploitation in South America upon the termination of the hostilities."

Hutchinson emphasized, however, that he was not questioning the patriotism of American firms involved.

CREDENTIALS TAKEN FROM LONDON WRITER OF CONVOY DISPATCH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 21.—The army and navy joint credentials board has withdrawn the press credentials of Walter Farr, American correspondent of the London Daily Mail, it was learned tonight.

Farr sent a dispatch several weeks ago from Honolulu which told of vast convoys of United States forces in the southwestern Pacific. Washington correspondents protested that Farr's story was a violation of the self-imposed censorship on the American press, and Secretary of the Navy Knox promised an investigation. The withdrawal of Farr's credentials was the result. It was the first instance of such a drastic penalty imposed on a correspondent since the war began.

If Farr returns to the United States, he will be accorded the privileges of other newspaper men, a war department spokesman said.

BIG POLISH ARMY IN RUSSIA SENT TO NEAR EAST

CAIRO, Egypt, April 21 (AP).—A new army of more than 25,000 Poles from Russia has arrived in the near east to swell the allied forces in this region.

In Russian camps since the collapse of Poland, these soldiers now are clad in uniforms supplied by Britain. They are in rugged health and, as one stalwart put it: "We only want to get back into battle at the side of other Polish units already here to avenge Hitler's rape of our country."

Their commander is Gen. Wladyslaw Anders, who had charge of all Polish forces in Russia. Accompanying them was a woman's corps garbed also in British battle dress with breeches and military boots. These Polish girls are unrouged, have no lipstick, but some are beautiful. They are assigned to jobs such as driving trucks and ambulances.

Honolulu Shipping Area Restricted; Aliens Barred

HONOLULU, Hawaii, April 21 (AP).—Lieut. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, military governor of Hawaii, has designated the Honolulu shipping area a restricted zone to which entry will be limited to individuals and vehicles properly identified and to passengers of inter-island and trans-Pacific ships. Employment of enemy aliens in the restricted district will be permitted only under conditions prescribed by the provost marshal.

Cannonade on Continent Echoes on British Coast

FOLKESTONE, England, April 22 [Wednesday]—(AP).—A heavy, distant cannonade rumbling thru the thick mist over the Dover strait was heard before daylight today by lookouts on the Kent coast. The firing sounded as tho it came from the direction of Boulogne.

Two Sent to Bottom; One Towed to Port.

were rescued by patrol boats 13 hours later. Two crew members died of exhaustion after clinging to an overturned lifeboat and were buried at sea. One sailor is missing.

Crew Feels Thud on Ship.

Crew members said they felt a thud against the side of their ship soon after midnight, but that an inspection failed to reveal any damage. About 40 minutes later, however, there was a terrific explosion and Capt. Lagan ordered the crew to abandon ship. All except him and the two crew members took to lifeboats.

William W. Wilds of Woodside, N. Y., the chief mate, said the crew in his lifeboat had difficulty pulling away from the ship because of suction caused by water pouring into the hole blasted by the second torpedo.

He said he saw two submarines awash, side by side, 500 or 600 feet astern of the torpedoed ship. He maneuvered his boat past them and then saw a third submarine nearby.

Thirty-four of the survivors reached port here and the 14 others were taken to Morehead City, N. C.

ARGENTINE SHIP HIT

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, April 21 (AP).—The Argentine government announced today that a torpedo or mine had damaged the Argentine tanker Victoria, inflicting the first casualty on this country's neutral merchant marine since the United States entered the war.

The 12,500 ton ship presumably was proceeding with her flag visible and showing lights at night, in accordance with the instructions issued to all Argentine merchantmen. Argentine authorities have emphasized their belief this is the best procedure to guard their ships against axis submarine attacks, and also have indicated Argentine ships would refrain from participating in any western hemisphere convoy system.

Earlier the foreign ministry had announced the ship was continuing to New York under difficult conditions, because of serious damage, and that it was believed there was no loss of life. Authoritative quarters clung to the belief that the ship had struck a mine because, they said, it was unlikely an axis submarine would torpedo an Argentine ship in view of this country's neutral policy.

FRANCE WATCHES FOR FIRST CLEW TO LAVAL PLANS

Darlan Appointees Ousted in Purge of Bureaus.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, April 22 [Wednesday]—(AP).—Reuters said today the Vichy radio reported from Morocco that a British naval force of two battleships and six destroyers passed Gibraltar and steamed into the Mediterranean early yesterday afternoon.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, April 21. — All France watched carefully today for the first sign of how Pierre Laval, new chief of government, will put into effect his program of social reforms on the home front and reconciliation with Germany on the political front.

The consensus was that it would take days, and perhaps weeks, before any exact idea may be had of the new orientation of the government, which was presented to Chief of State Marshal Petain yesterday. As the newspaper Le Temps pointed out, Laval is too shrewd a bargainer to disclose in advance the details of his collaboration policy.

Most persons analyzing Laval's declaration of intentions made yesterday concurred in the belief that his essential doctrine is that Europe either must get together in peace—and that means a durable entente with Germany—or else it will be overrun by communistic chaos.

Darlan Appointees Ousted.

Laval worked all day in his office in the Hotel du Parc. Since yesterday, he has seen Krug von Nidda, German consul general, and also Spanish Ambassador José Lequerica.

Various burocratic changes of personnel are being effected, with many of Adm. Jean Darlan's appointees being replaced.

Darlan, who is commander of the armed forces under Petain and who does not come under Laval's governing fuctions, broadcast an order of the day to the members of the land, sea, and air forces.

Pledging to "consecrate my time and my energy to you, my comrades," he said he would "follow the road of honor and defend the empire under the high authority of the marshal."

Vichy authorities ridiculed reports that German sailors were in Marseilles, prepared to man the French fleet.

Parisian Theaters Closed.

BERLIN, April 21 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—The German radio tonight announced that as a result of the slaying in Paris of a sergeant of the French volunteers against Russia, all theaters, movies, and places of entertainment in the occupied French capital would be closed from 2 p. m. today until 5 p. m. April 24.

"I am happy to become an American citizen, for I know that with this country's wonderful help my native France will rise again," she said as she left the immigration offices. Miss Bradna was a dancing star with the "Folies Bergere." She came to this country in 1934.

STRIKING FORCE OF U. S. BOMBERS GROWS IN BRITAIN

British Expect Offensive Action 'Any Day Now.'

LONDON, April 21 (AP).—Heavy bombers of the United States air force, the first of the all-American striking units which soon will fly wing to wing with the RAF against Nazi held territory of the continent, are being ferried to British operational bases, it was reported tonight.

Any day now, the British expect to see the red, white, and blue star insignia of the American planes. Air correspondents of the British press are saying that the planes and their American crews will make Britain "the world's greatest air base."

This fruition of plans for joint air action is the most noticeable consequence of the visit here of Gen. George C. Marshall, the United States chief of staff. Last Saturday, before he flew back to the United States, Gen. Marshall said that American air force units soon would be at fields in all parts of Britain and that American troops in the British Isles would participate in British commando raids on Nazi-held European coasts.

Big Bombers Sent First.

The first American planes—to be flown and probably serviced by Americans—are understood to be big bombers capable of flying the Atlantic and going into service quickly after mechanical tuneups and establishment of base facilities, which will be provided largely ready made.

To follow by ship will be medium bombers and possibly dive bombers, which some commentators long have regarded as the RAF's greatest need.

At the receiving end of this imminent combined offensive action, the German occupying forces in northern France, the Netherlands and Belgium were reported by Dutch sources today to be building up a bicycle army to combat invasion thrusts from the British Isles.

Cycle Factories Speed Up.

Dutchmen escaping from the Netherlands said cycle factories in the Low Countries and Denmark were working at top speed on German army orders.

Likewise the Norwegian Telegraph agency said that several more divisions of German troops, including an armored force, had been sent to Norway to guard against possible united nations invasion.

Defenses were said to have been especially strengthened and extensive mining carried out in the Bodo area, south of the commando raided Lofoten Islands.

SIX PREMIERS OF AUSTRALIA WILL HEAR MacARTHUR

General to Tell Them What to Do to Win.

BULLETIN.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 22 [Wednesday]—(AP).—Allied headquarters announced today that fighter planes defending Port Moresby, New Guinea, shot down four Japanese Zero fighters in a raid on that strategic port by enemy planes yesterday. Allied planes, in an attack on Rabaul, New Britain, yesterday caused numerous fires among wharves and buildings.

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 21.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur at a conference soon will tell the premiers of the six Australian states the part they are expected to play in the total war against the Japanese.

Maj. Gen. Richard K. Sutherland [top] and Brig. Gen. Richard J. Marshall.

The commander in chief, it is said, will talk straight from the shoulder in outlining the dangers facing Australia and the sacrifices which it will be necessary to make in driving the enemy from these shores.

The general's appearance will highlight a meeting of state premiers called to discuss Sunday entertainment for the troops and the seven day work week.

Prime Minister John Curtin, who discussed the military situation with Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, commander of all land forces under MacArthur, today, will preside over the MacArthur meeting.

New Zealand's Problem.

Gen. MacArthur, having named his chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Richard K. Sutherland, and deputy chief of staff, Brig. Gen. Richard J. Marshall, has clarified the status of his command here.

Meanwhile, reports from New Zealand reveal that there is considerable concern there over the part that dominion is to play in the southwest Pacific strategy. Pointing out that the position of New Zealand is not clear, the New Zealand Herald, the leading newspaper, called upon Prime Minister Peter Fraser for a definite statement whether New Zealand is included in MacArthur's command. The paper said:

Wants Subordinate Command.

The paper emphasized New Zealand's strong contribution to the allied cause by the dispatch of thousands of troops overseas which, it declared, entitles it to a place in the allied defense plan for this part of the world. It asserted that a subordinate command under MacArthur could have been organized. It was recently announced that a joint Australian-New Zealand defense agreement had been reached, and the Herald wants Fraser to say if it has been abandoned and, if it has, what has been put in its place.

MELTING SNOWS AID SERB REBELS TO RENEW WAR

[By wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

BERNE, Switzerland, April 21.—In Jugo-Slavia the melting snows have marked a renewal of fighting between the occupying troops, aided by Croats, and insurgent Serbs. Casualties claimed to have been inflicted on the insurgents in one case were 257 killed and 600 wounded.

Zagreb continues to announce that the insurgents are mostly "communists," but there is reason to believe that the resistance is provided by remnants of the regular Jugo-Slav army supported by bands of peasants of the orthodox religion.

An appeal has been sent from Zagreb to the orthodox population urging it not to put faith in "criminal bolsheviks paid by London, whose object is the eventual annihilation of all adherents of the orthodox creed." Many women are to be found in the ranks of the insurgents; they are generally described as "Jewesses."

Allied Flyers Bag 66 Jap Planes, Damage 50 in April

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 21 (AP).—Airmen of the united nations have "destroyed or probably destroyed" 66 Japanese planes and damaged about 50 others since April 1 in the air war in the southwest Pacific, an authoritative tabulation from allied communiques showed today. These figures cover action over New Guinea, New Britain, Timor, and the recent American dash into the Philippines.

YANKS WIN IN 2 AUSSIE STATES FROM 'WOWSERS'

Permit Sunday Fun; Girls Barred!

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, April 21.—Proponents of brighter week-ends for the troops won two rounds today, but the "wowsers" [bluenoses] made a strong comeback in a North Sydney decision to ban Sunday baseball games.

John Willock, premier of Western Australia, and Thomas Playford, premier of South Australia, both announced that they had given the green light to Sabbath entertainment events for American soldiers.

The North Sydney council, by a vote of eight to three, rejected a proposal for American and local teams to play baseball on Sundays on the North Sydney oval. The North Sydney mayor, Alderman G. Fowle, said:

"I am in favor of this idea myself because I would like to see a baseball match."

The council's decision is to be appealed.

Women Companions Barred.

Willock said that all factions in Western Australia, including the churches, are arranging entertainment for next week-end which, he said, would "be along the lines of pleasant Sunday afternoons." He added that the ban on organized sports, such as league football, would remain, but unorganized sports among the troops will be permitted. Theaters in Perth will be open.

The premier of South Australia said his government has decided that all facilities should be given to entertain the troops on Sundays but that women companions will be banned. Films will be shown in the evenings after church services.

Would Brighten Weekdays.

The New South Wales cabinet discussed the issue for two hours but decided to make no decision pending the conference of state premiers opening in Melbourne tomorrow.

An Australian army spokesman declared:

"We want brighter weekdays, as well as Sundays."

Many Australians, however, believe this is carrying things a little too far. The pubs at present close at 6 p. m., most restaurants at 8 p. m., and the trend seems toward curtailing the drinking hours.

Hundreds of United States soldiers and their girl friends will attend a cabaret dance and jitterbug session at the American camp next Sunday, for which, it is reported, "hot" bands have been engaged. The Australian camp is arranging to show movies.

VERY LITTLE LEFT OF LUEBECK PORT AFTER RAID, SWEDES HEAR

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 21.—The first evidence to reach Stockholm of damage done to Luebeck during the last British raid was received tonight to the effect that the offices of the importing firm of Possehl were destroyed.

The Possehl concern is one of the largest importers of Swedish iron ore and was situated on the quays surrounded by hangars and oil depots. Not even a single letterhead remained intact, it is said.

Swedish seamen returning from Luebeck say little if anything remained of the port and that the destruction was "beyond description."

TWO U. S. TORPEDO BOATS BLAST JAP CRUISER AT CEBU

Attack Warship Escorted by 4 Destroyers.

Washington, D. C., April 21 (AP).—Two motor torpedo boats attacking at-night against overwhelming odds recently damaged and possibly sank a Japanese light cruiser near the Philippine Island of Cebu, the navy reported today.

Lieut. John D. Bulkeley.

The cruiser had an escort of four destroyers, and indications were that all five enemy warships laid down a heavy fire against the swift little motor boats. Despite this counteraction, the American craft did not withdraw until they had completed their mission.

One Boat Forced Ashore.

However, one of the torpedo boats, the PT-34, finally was forced ashore on Cebu, the navy said, but the other, the PT-41, made good its escape. In addition to the PT-34, the navy also reported that the PT-35 had been lost, being destroyed to prevent its falling into enemy hands during the invasion of the city of Cebu.

Whether the torpedoed cruiser was the same one which the army announced April 10 as having been sunk by PT boats in the Philippine archipelago was not established. Naval officers said today's communique might have duplicated the earlier army report.

Previous Raids Recalled.

The navy said the raid it reported was carried out by units of Lieut. John D. Bulkeley's motor torpedo boat squadron which was first heard from Jan. 20 after a raid into Japanese held Subic bay resulted in the torpedoing of a 5,000 ton enemy vessel.

A second raid into the same bay a few days later cost the Japanese another 5,000 ton ship. Then on Feb. 3 the navy reported that Bulkeley's craft had torpedoed an unidentified enemy warship at the entrance to Manila bay.

As in the case of the recent action, all these attacks were carried out against heavy resistance. On March 10 Bulkeley was awarded the navy cross for his heroic part in conducting them successfully.

Claim Escaping Ship Sunk.

TOKIO, April 21 [from Japanese broadcasts]—(AP).—A large, armed United States merchant vessel "attempting to escape from Manila" was sunk by Japanese army planes and another was damaged severely, the Japanese said today.

Planes inflicted heavy losses on "the retreating enemy in Panay," the report continued, saying United States and Filipino troops had been encircled and compressed in a small mountainous region. Japanese vanguards which applied a pincer movement from the north and south were said to have met Saturday.

BRITISH PRINCESS, 16, TURNS INTO COLONEL OF GRENADIER GUARDS

LONDON, April 21 (AP).—Looking more than ever a Windsor, Princess Elizabeth entered public life today on her 16th birthday, reviewing as "her royal highness the colonel" the famed grenadier guards on the grounds of Windsor castle.

The tall girl who may some day be Britain's sovereign took the salute, smiling and selfpossessed, with her mother, Queen Elizabeth, and father, King George VI., and her sister, 11 year old Margaret Rose, in the background. Then she walked away, holding Margaret's hand.

Even in low shoes, Elizabeth stood an inch taller than the queen, in high heeled slippers. Both daughters and mother wore blue wool "utility suits" of plain cut.

Officially Elizabeth's girlhood is over, for the king and queen have decided that she must assume the responsibilities of her station.

Five Commands for Pacific Under U.S. Officers Planned

Washington, D. C., April 21 [Special].—New Zealand will be included in a new south Pacific command under an American naval officer who will receive his orders from Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the United States Pacific fleet, it was disclosed by a responsible source today.

This means that New Zealand, about 1,200 miles east of Australia, will not be under Gen. Douglas MacArthur's southwestern Pacific command, altho it is understood that the closest possible liaison will be maintained between the south and southwestern Pacific commands.

The Pacific war council is considering establishing two more Pacific operating areas under the general authority of Adm. Nimitz. The first of these would embrace all the Pacific lying north of the equator, except an area around Alaska, which may be put under a separate operations officer.

Includes Many Islands.

The decision to place the Pacific up to the equator, with the exception of the area under Gen. MacArthur's control, under a naval authority obviously was made because of the numerous islands in this expanse and because any eventual drive at sea westward toward Japan would have to be under naval supervision. The eventual offensive by Gen. MacArthur would be northward.

It was said in Washington that New Zealand had been in favor of being placed under Gen. MacArthur's authority from the time the project of getting him out of Bataan to Australia was first broached, and that the decision was taken against this step for purely strategical reasons, upon which the Pacific war council was agreed.

While Adm. Nimitz will be in command of the whole Pacific, with the exception of the southwestern Pacific, according to President Roosevelt and Secretary Stimson, the area is so vast that, at least as far as the South Pacific is concerned, a subordinate naval officer is deemed necessary to pass on his instructions and tend to the details of operations.

Five Commands in Pacific.

It is for this reason also that a North Pacific command and an Alaskan command are being seriously considered, with an outside possibility that the southeastern Pacific will constitute a separate area, which would make a total of five Pacific command areas, four of them under American naval officers and the fifth under Gen. MacArthur.

The new South Pacific command obviously will embrace the islands lying to the north and east of New Zealand, including the Fijis and Samoa.

Since the United States navy is the most important united nations unit in this area, the reason for putting an American naval officer in command is clear. Numerous other forces, including British and "Free French," in this area will come under the American naval authority.

NEW DEAL FAILS TO PURGE CRITICS FROM AP BOARD

2 Marked for Retirement Easily Re-elected.

New York, April 21 [Special].—An attempted "purge" of members of the Associated Press board of directors who have been critical of the Roosevelt administration's blunders in the conduct of the war fizzled out today at the annual membership meeting of the world-wide news gathering organization.

Six incumbent directors, two of whom had been marked for retirement by Washington, were reëlected by a wide margin. The two targets of the administration's behind-the-scenes attack were Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and W. H. Cowles, publisher of the Spokane, Wash., Spokesman-Review. Cowles' family are stockholders of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Pressure Exerted.

Outside of the usual buttonholing tactics and back room conferences designed to sway a member's vote, two attempts at pressure from the outside were injected into the AP meeting, it was learned from authoritative sources.

One of these developments was the appearance of Archibald MacLeish, Harvard poet, librarian of congress and director of the government's Office of Facts and Figures. MacLeish addressed a luncheon meeting of the AP yesterday and launched an attack on the same newspaper interests he attacked last week at a gathering of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

MacLeish named no names but the identity of those he was firing at on behalf of the administration was unmistakable. They were Col. McCormick and his two cousins, Joseph Patterson, publisher of the New York Daily News, and Eleanor Patterson, publisher of the Washington Times-Herald.

Pamphlets Slipped Under Doors.

The second development was the slipping of pamphlets attacking THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE underneath the hotel doors of various members of the Associated Press. A vote on the directors was taken yesterday morning but because of the complicated method of calculating the results, the election of directors was not known until today.

Final tabulation of the vote showed:

Reëlected from towns over 50,000 population:

E. Lansing Ray, St. Louis Globe-Democrat, 6,929 votes.

George B. Longan, Kansas City Star, 6,883.

L. K. Nicholson, New Orleans Times-Picayune, 6,670.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, Chicago Tribune, 5,764.

W. H. Cowles, Spokane Spokesman-Review, 5,529.

Stuart H. Perry of the Adrian, Mich., Telegram, was reëlected as a director representing cities of less than 50,000 population with a vote of 5,650. His rival was W. R. Mathews of the Tucson [Ariz.] Star, who received 2,050 votes.

Other candidates and vote:

Grove Patterson, Toledo Blade, 4,578.

H. J. Powell, Coffeyville, Kas., Journal, 903.

W. A. Rupp, Aberdeen, Wash., World, 311.

Silliman Evans, Nashville Tennesseean, 7.

Proxies Hold Up Tabulation.

Directors of the Associated Press are elected on a basis of one vote per member and a vote for every $25 bond held in the nonprofit news organization. No paper, however, may hold more than $1,000 worth of bonds and cast more than 41 votes for a director.

Examination of proxies sent in by various newspaper members from all parts of the country held up the final tabulation of the vote on directors.

Associated Press members held a lively session during the afternoon on the question of new applications for membership which, if granted, would open up the organization's vast news service, its valuable Wirephotos and feature services to various competing newspapers.

YEOMAN JOHN KENNEDY.

John Kennedy, yeoman second class in the navy, who was on the aircraft tender Langley and the tanker Pecos when they were sunk a few days apart by the Japanese, will be recommended for officer training under the V-7 program, Lieut. David N. Goldenson, chief recruiting officer in Chicago, said yesterday. Kennedy is 23 years old and lives at 4633 Barry avenue. He came here yesterday to visit Lieut. Goldenson, who enlisted him last July 25. Kennedy has been cited for bravery in action for his feat in swimming with $50,000 in ship's money tied around his neck.

FBI NEARING END OF INQUIRY INTO CHICAGO GROUPS

Washington, D. C., April 21 [Special].—The Federal Bureau of Investigation is reported tonight to be completing an investigation of a number of alleged subversive organizations and seditious publications in the Chicago area.

The FBI has been at work on the inquiry for several months, with a view to presenting its evidence to a federal grand jury. Chicago is one of the cities under consideration as the seat of the grand jury investigation.

PRINT THE TRUTH TO HELP WIN WAR, PUBLISHERS TOLD

Press Warned Against Pollyanna Reporting.

New York, April 21 (AP).—American newspapers "must be left free to do their own reporting and their own thinking" to help the united nations win the war, Frank S. Hoy of the Lewiston [Me.] Sun and Journal said today as the American Newspaper Publishers' association opened its 56th annual convention.

"We are not going to win this war by surrendering our rights," said Hoy, "by deceiving the people, by refraining from constructive criticism, by Pollyanna talk of victories won when we actually have lost, by withholding casualty lists, or by making war seem easy."

Hoy's speech was delivered at the opening meeting, which was devoted to newspapers with a circulation of 50,000 or less—approximately 90 per cent of the newspapers of this country.

Press Telling Truth, He Says.

"The newspapers are telling the people the truth," he said. "The people turn to the newspapers for the truth. It is our great responsibility to see that the public continues to get the truth.

"Our newspaper offices are flooded with wasteful and silly publicity stories emanating from army and naval services and from innumerable government bureaus. The waste of time, money, and of materials is positively shocking to those of us who are being forced to save paper, to save labor, and to reduce costs wherever possible.

"Some of these releases go to great length to tell us that ping-pong is the most widely played game at the camps or that three times as much coffee is consumed by United States marines as by civilians.

"Such silly releases are accomplishing little more than filling the waste baskets in all the daily newspaper offices of the country.

Cites MacArthur's Statement.

"The most intelligent use of newspaper space can be made thru paid advertising by the government prepared by the advertising agencies of this country that know how to do the job."

In concluding he exhorted the publishers:

"Give the people of America the truth, good or bad, and they have what it takes to win. We can agree wholeheartedly with Gen. MacArthur in his statement, 'In the democracies it is essential that the public should know the truth.'

"The newspapers have access to the homes of this country. They have the confidence of the people, who are buying more newspapers than ever before.

"The newspapers are ready to share uncomplainingly the sacrifices of war with all other types of business and the newspapers are going to contribute their full share to ultimate victory—that freedom may live."

CHURCHILL PUTS THUMBS DOWN ON CRIPPS' BROTHER

Opposes His Election to Parliament.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 21.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill today came out flatly in opposition to Maj. Leonard H. Cripps, brother of the cabinet member, Sir Stafford Cripps, who is running as an independent candidate in the Wallasey by-election.

In spite of the fact that Maj. Cripps recently stated he would support Churchill and Sir Stafford in the house of commons if elected, the prime minister today sent a message to the Conservative candidate, Ald. John Pennington, in which he praised his record of municipal service and called on all voters in Wallasey to support him, regardless of party allegiance. Already, Labor party leaders have approved local members of Wallasey supporting Pennington in every way possible.

Tells Knowledge of Shipping.

Leonard Cripps, in an election address, suggested that his specialized knowledge of shipping problems would be especially useful to the government. As a ship owner and capitalist, his political views heretofore have been sharply at variance with his brother's.

For the first time since the party election truce, prewar excitement and tactics were being introduced into the by-election at Rugby.

Col. Holbrook, Conservative candidate, who eschewed modern methods, found himself bawled out at an open air meeting this evening by a radio loud speaker truck used on behalf of the rival candidate, W. J. Brown, general secretary of the Civil Service Clerical association, who is standing as an independent.

Drowns Out His Rival.

When the truck failed to break up Holbrook's meeting, Brown started an open air meeting of his own 50 yards away with the aid of such a powerful loud speaker as to make the government candidate inaudible.

Further liveliness foreshadowed the forthcoming by-election of the Cathcart division of Glasgow, which has no fewer than four candidates contesting. These include Government Candidate Francis Beattie, Independent Laborite Bailee James Carmichael, Scottish Nationalist William Whyte, and the Hon. Douglas Home, Progressive-Independent.

BRITISH DOWN 16 AXIS PLANES IN 2 DAYS AT MALTA

VALETTA, Malta, April 21 (AP).—RAF fighters shot down 5 more axis aircraft today, bringing the total of enemy planes destroyed over Malta in two days to 16. Twenty-eight other planes were damaged in the two days, eight seriously. A recapitulation of yesterday's air fights raised the number of destroyed enemy aircraft from 7 to 11.

Libyan Weather Improves.

CAIRO, Egypt, April 21 (AP).—British headquarters announced today that "normal patrol activities" on the Libyan front were resumed yesterday with the return of better weather. The RAF also reported new attacks on axis troop encampments and motor transport and another raid on Bengazi, Libyan port.

Claim Merchantman Sunk.

ROME, April 21 [from Italian broadcasts] — (AP). — The Italian high command said today that Italian torpedo planes sank a merchantman from a heavily protected British convoy in the Mediterranean. Italian and German reports of air attacks on Malta said a British submarine received direct hits, and that six British planes were shot down in combats and five more on the ground at Malta and over North Africa.

MacArthur GUARDS

BY BOB BECKER

There are seven grades represented from the top noncommissioned officer in the army down to the private, a series that the youth who expects to see military service will want to memorize. Members of the MacArthur Guards who are making a serious effort to gain helpful preinduction information thru these articles cannot overlook this topic of noncoms and their insignia.

Whereas commissioned officers wear their insignia on shoulder loops, noncommissioned officers wear their insignia of rank, or chevrons on their sleeves, with the top of the chevron five inches below the seam of the shoulder.

Master Sergeant at Top.

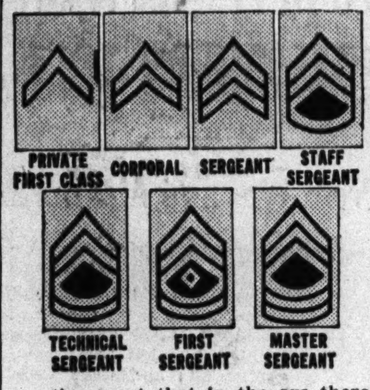
The top noncommissioned officer, the master sergeant, wears three chevrons and an arc of three bars forming a tie to the lower chevrons.

Other noncoms, in the order of their rank, are:

Technical sergeant [second grade]: Chevrons almost the same as those of the master sergeant, the only difference being two bars in the arc instead of three.

First sergeant [second grade]: Chevrons same as those of the technical sergeant with one addition. A diamond is placed in the angle between the upper chevrons and the lower arc.

Staff sergeant [third grade]: His chevrons are much like a master sergeant's except that in the arc there is only one bar instead of three.



Sergeant [fourth grade]: Three chevrons only.

2 Chevrons for Corporal.

Corporal [fifth grade]: Two chevrons.

Private first class: One chevron.

Private: No chevron.

Not only are there definite regulations regarding the wearing of insignia by noncommissioned and commissioned officers, but there is a very specific regulation concerning the wearing of the army uniform. It is unlawful for any unauthorized person to wear the uniform of the army, navy, or marine corps, or any part of such uniforms.

RELIEFERS MAY BUY WAR BONDS WITHIN LIMITS

WPA Rules Vary with Amount Saved.

WPA workers may buy war savings bonds—and they may not.

That in brief, was as close to a rule on the subject as Arthur E. Allen, acting state director of the employment division of the federal works agency, was able to give yesterday.

The question arose when Robert L. Daniel, 40 years old, a bachelor who held a WPA job in Randolph county, was fired for buying two $37.50 bonds out of money he saved on his $72 a month salary.

Discharge Termed Proper.

Allen said that Daniel's discharge was proper and according to the rules. Yet on March 17, Allen addressed a letter to the First District council of the American Legion, which said in part:

"There is no federal or state regulation in this agency which could be construed as prohibiting the purchase of war savings stamps or bonds by WPA employés.

"WPA wages are regarded in the same light as wages earned in private industry and WPA employés may spend their wages as they desire.

Privileged to Buy Bonds.

"They assuredly are not denied the privilege of purchasing the stamps and bonds."

Yesterday Allen said the letter was substantially correct and he explained the seeming paradox this way:

"War savings bonds and stamps—under existing regulations—must be considered resources. Every 90 days we examine the resources of WPA employés including outside income, savings, and so forth.

Rulings Vary with Amounts.

"These resources are balanced against the family budget. If they amount to a considerable proportion of that budget, the worker is dropped until he uses up his resources.

"So, while there is no regulation prohibiting a WPA worker from buying war bonds and stamps, any considerable accumulation would automatically make him ineligible for relief, hence ineligible for WPA employment.

"In Daniel's case, the accumulation was obviously enough to carry him for a month. But if he had just been able to purchase a few stamps, his need for WPA employment would still exist."

It was admitted the rules are in need of clarification, but Allen said the whole problem is under review by headquarters in Washington. He said a ruling can be expected shortly.

The Legion addressed its question to Allen because of reports that children of WPA workers were not being allowed to participate in school programs for the purchase of war savings stamps.

M'CAHEY GUIDES NAVY AID DRIVE IN PUBLIC OFFICES

Active in Campaign to Help Families.

The Chicago Citizens' committee of the Navy Relief society announced yesterday that James B. McCahey, president of the board of education, has accepted leadership of the public departments division of the Chicago campaign.

The committee is seeking to raise $330,000, Chicago's quota in the national drive for $5,000,000 for emergency aid to the families of navy men. McCahey said:

"Any one who reads of the heroic deeds of our navy men—sailors, marines, and coast guardsmen—and who gives a thought to the sacrifices they and their families are making, should get behind the great work of the Navy Relief society.

"Our navy men leave their families behind and face death thousands of miles away, fighting for the survival of America and the American way of life. We must keep faith with these men by protecting their loved ones at home from hardship and distress in emergencies."

The Navy Relief provides a revolving fund for loans to needy families of navy men. Ninety per cent of the loans eventually are repaid. The sponsors therefore believe that money raised in the present campaign will be adequate for future needs.

The society was organized 40 years ago and this is the first time public subscriptions ever have been asked.

Escaped German Prisoner Suspect Seized in Texas

San Antonio, Tex., April 21 (AP).—A man believed to be Peter Krug, 21 year old German army combat pilot, who escaped from a concentration camp in Canada last week, was arrested here today by a city patrolman. The suspect, who fitted the description of Krug, is being held incommunicado until finger prints are received from the Canadian camp. Federal men in Detroit said yesterday the escape of Krug was made possible thru the cooperation of Max Stephan, German born owner of a Detroit restaurant.

O'HARE, SHY HERO, RECEIVES MEDAL AND PROMOTION

Home Town Next

St. Louis, Mo., April 21 (AP).—The home town plans to give Lieut. Comm. Edward N. O'Hare a gigantic reception this week-end but Mayor William Dee Becker tonight requested the public to "let him alone" except at the civic ceremonies of welcome. "Outside of the public functions, O'Hare should be allowed his privacy while he is here to visit his mother," Becker declared. O'Hare will represent the navy in presenting to St. Louis the navy "E" pennant as the first city to exceed its quota in the navy relief fund campaign. He is expected to arrive Friday night and remain thru Monday.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 21.—Far more shy and nervous than he was Feb. 20, when he pitched into a formation of nine Japanese planes and shot down five of them, Navy Pilot Edward H. O'Hare, 28 year old Chicago reared war hero, today received the nation's highest award for bravery—the congressional medal of honor—at the White House.

Before presenting the medal President Roosevelt informed O'Hare that he had been promoted to the rank of lieutenant commander by joshing him about the stripes on his uniform. O'Hare appeared in a blue uniform which bore the heavy gold stripe and half stripe of a lieutenant junior grade. He has been a lieutenant since January and should have worn two full stripes on his uniform.

Blushes Before President.

O'Hare flushed with embarrassment when the President joked with him and didn't mention that he has been wearing khaki on duty and has only one blue uniform. The President added that the uniform could easily be set to rights without disturbing the half stripe by adding a full stripe to make up the rank of lieutenant commander—a stripe, a half stripe, and a stripe.

Then Mr. Roosevelt read the citation on which the medal was issued, as follows:

"For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in aerial combat at grave risk of his life above and beyond the call of duty, as section leader and pilot of fighting squadron 3, when on Feb. 20, 1942, having lost the assistance of his teammates, he interposed his plane between his ship [a carrier] and an advancing enemy formation of nine attacking twin-engined heavy bombers.

Sixth Jap Ship Damaged.

"Without hesitation, alone and unaided, he repeatedly attacked this enemy formation at close range in the face of their intense combined machine gun and cannon fire, and, despite this concentrated opposition, he, by his gallant and courageous action, his extremely skillful marksmanship, making the most of every shot of his limited amount of ammunition, shot down five enemy bombers and severely damaged a sixth before they reached the bomb release point [the aircraft carrier].

"As a result of his gallant action, one of the most daring, if not the most daring single action in the history of combat aviation, he undoubtedly saved his carrier from serious damage."

The President then took the medal out of its case and gave it to Mrs. O'Hare, a bride of six months, who placed the starred blue ribbon and bronze medal around her husband's neck. Mr. Roosevelt then gave O'Hare the case and the lapel button of the decoration.

Hitler Appeals for Funds for Germany's Red Cross

BERLIN, April 21 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—Adolf Hitler today declared that "What the front is sacrificing for our people, the people at home will never be able to make good." He made this statement in an appeal for money for the German Red Cross.

U. S. MEDAL OF HONOR COVERS 80 YEARS OF GALLANTRY IN BATTLE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 21.—The congressional medal of honor, highest military decoration which the United States awards to its heroes, was established by act of congress July 12, 1862. Two thousand medals were ordered to be struck off for presentation in the name of congress "to such noncommissioned officers and privates as shall distinguish themselves by their gallantry in action and other soldierlike qualities during the present insurrection."

Additional medals of honor were ordered by congress March 3, 1863, this time for men who "have most distinguished, or who may hereafter most distinguish themselves in action."

Not until July 9, 1918, when the nation was engaged in the World war, was the act changed. The President was authorized in the name of congress to present the medal of honor only to each person "who while an officer or enlisted man of the army shall hereafter in action involving actual conflict with an enemy, distinguish himself conspicuously by gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of his life above and beyond the call of duty."

War department records carry the names of nearly 2,000 men who have won the medal of honor in the Civil war, Indian wars, Spanish-American, and the two World wars. The citations presenting the evidence of heroism for which the medals are granted give a stirring picture of gallantry in battle during the last 80 years.

NEW MECHANIZED CAVALRY GUARDS SECTOR OF COAST

Greatest Value Lies in Its Mobility.

WITH THE CAVALRY IN THE PACIFIC NORTHWEST, April 21 (AP).—A regiment of mechanized cavalry stands guard along a sector of the north Pacific coast today. This unit, half horse, half motorized, has part of the job of protecting this mountainous and timbered sector from any invasion from the Pacific.

It has the combined power of the old time cavalry and motorized units, and a mobility that neither previously had achieved. The cavalry really begins to function where the mechanized forces are halted by heavy timber and precipitous mountains.

Newspapermen and others were given an opportunity to watch part of this regiment in action over terrain that would be, in case of invasion, a battleground.

Range Greatly Increased.

In action this new force puts on a far different show than the cavalry of earlier years. An important difference is the approach to battle. It can move long distances—as much as 500 miles in a day, compared with from 35 to 50 miles, the limit of the older cavalry.

Huge van like trucks, called portes, carry horses, riders, and equipment only slightly slower than the mile a minute clip of the jeeps, armored scout reconnaisance cars, and motorcycles that make up the rest of the regiment. Eight horses and riders are carried in each porte.

The portes go as far as there are roads. At that point the cargoes are unloaded in from 90 seconds to two minutes, and the mounted troops proceed. The jeeps and other motorized equipment can operate in somewhat open country, without roads, but the horse troops find it comparatively easy going on timbered and precipitous terrain.

Fight as Infantrymen.

Once contact is made with the enemy, the cavalrymen dismount and carry on as infantrymen. The regiment has the same weapons as an infantry regiment—pistols, rifles, machine guns, mortars, and light anti-tank artillery. The mechanized elements, which often team in a fight with the horse troops, can give battle either aboard their mounts or on the ground.

Fighting contact with the enemy soon was made. As the mechanized cavalry fought a delaying action, troops that had been summoned from another point by radio, moved up and took over the battle. The horsemen moved out to the flanks. When the enemy fled in disorder, the horsemen took up the pursuit.

FORT SHAFTER, T. H.—[By Mail].—Since Dec. 7 there have been plenty of signs to show that the United States army garrison has been increased and is busy strengthening the defenses of the Territory of Hawaii.

Everywhere one sees barbed wire shore barricades, cannon and machine gun emplacements, and new army camps. The several forts which surround the Island of Oahu have been brought up to full strength and anti-aircraft batteries have been mounted at widely dispersed positions.

The eight islands, Hawaii, Kahoolawe, Maui, Lanai, Oahu, Kauai, and Niihau, extend across more than 250 miles of sea, with Oahu, where Pearl Harbor is located, lying amidships. Oahu is within easy bomber range of any point in the group.

Few Aircraft Visible.

The airfields present a picture radically different from that of four months ago. Instead of hangars filled with planes and the runways covered with closely grouped machines, the only aircraft one now sees on the fields are those about to take off or which have just come in.

Each plane is sheltered in an earthwork embankment which limits to a single airplane the possible damage from a bomb. Many others are well hidden. New air fields have been built and others are under construction.

Because grass grows thruout the year here and trees keep their leaves, camouflage can be utilized to give real protection all the time—instead of being seasonable as in Europe.

Guns Bark Constantly.

The men who man coastal guns, anti-aircraft batteries, and field guns can be seen and heard practicing almost every day. They have ample opportunity to improve their shooting, and their accuracy should be good.

Coastal batteries shoot at buoys anchored off shore. Anti-aircraft gunners are provided with targets when planes fly past towing white cloth sleeves some 2,000 feet astern. The field artillery has a firing range in the hills where it can blaze away all day. The clatter of machine guns is heard so frequently that civilians no longer look to see what is happening.

Cite Islands' Importance.

When asked what they think of the possibility of invasion, the army officers point to the importance of the Hawaiian Islands both to ourselves and the Japanese. From here our naval forces make forays against enemy shipping and island bases.

A summary of the feelings expressed indicates that more men, planes and modern equipment still are needed to make these islands impregnable. The numbers of each needed to accomplish this are comparatively small and withholding them from Europe will not swing the scales of battle on Europe's battlefields.

CHURCHILL SAYS HE ALREADY HAS JOINT WAR STAFF

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 21.—A white paper was issued late tonight by Prime Minister Churchill as a reply to agitation for establishment of a combined general staff. Viscount Swinton and the new minister of war, Sir Edward Grigg, have advocated the changes.

The white paper, however, maintains that a joint staff, has, in fact, existed for many years. It consists, it says, of specially selected officers of the three services who "live and work together in the same offices," thus learn to act in terms of a single fighting unit.

The white paper makes it clear, however, that final responsibility for the conduct of the war rests with Churchill and the war cabinet, and chiefs of staffs and other military authorities can only act as professional advisers.

SERVICES SEEK 16,000 DOCTORS, 3,000 DENTISTS

Plans for Procurement Told by M'Nutt.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 21.—Paul V. McNutt, as chairman of the new war manpower commission, announced today that 16,000 physicians and 3,000 dentists are to be added to the armed forces by the end of 1942. He said that the procurement plan is designed to cause a minimum of loss in professional services for the civilian population.

Questionnaires are being mailed to the 186,000 licensed physicians, 71,000 dentists, and 12,000 veterinarians in the United States. They are asked to state their preference as to service in the army, navy, public health service, research, teaching, or private practice. McNutt said that "due regard will be given such preferences, consistent with the needs of military service."

Need Doctors and Dentists.

In this mechanized war, the immediate needs of the armed forces for veterinarians are being met by recalling retired or reserve officers to active service. But the demands for doctors and dentists are said to be urgent.

The McNutt announcement said all interns should apply for commissions as first lieutenants, medical or dental corps, United States army, or as lieutenant [J. G.], United States navy or naval reserve.

"After completion of 12 months internship," the announcement continued, "except those instances in which the necessity of continuation as a member of the staff or as a resident can be defended by the institution, all who are physically fit may be required to enter military service."

Will Protect Civilians.

Regarding medical care of the civilian and industrial population at home, McNutt emphasized that every precaution is being taken to see that the medical and dental structure there is weakened as little as possible by the call of physicians and dentists into the armed forces.

"For this first call of physicians it should be possible to secure a suitable number to meet the demands of the armed forces without too great dislocation of civilian needs," he said. "This is being accomplished by the evaluation of the various community needs by state and county chairmen."

"In the meantime, however, more precise standards and criteria for civilian needs are being developed and will, we hope, be announced shortly."

Chicago Area War Bond Sales Hit $816,083,000

Sale of war bonds thru the 7th federal reserve district on Monday totaled $3,058,000, bringing the aggregate since May 1, 1941, to $816,083,000, it was announced yesterday.

EXPERTS STRAIN TO CUT SANITARY SPENDING 4 PCT.!

Fifteen months ago three experts—Tappan Gregory, former president of the Chicago Bar association; Joshua D'Esposito, project engineer for the Federal Works agency, and Francis E. Manierre, real estate operator—began a survey to determine how costs could be reduced and operations improved in the sanitary district.

Yesterday their labors brought forth a blue covered 24 page report. They recommended a seven point program for achieving the objectives. The changes proposed—reached after deep analysis and deliberation since January, 1941—would save $164,000 a year, less than 4 per cent of the sanitary district's $4,250,000 annual budget.

Survey Costs $5,600.

The cost of the survey was $5,600, nearly 3⅛ per cent of the savings recommended. Of this amount $3,600 was furnished by the sanitary district and $2,000 in staff work by the Civic federation which sponsored the job with the Chicago Association of Commerce.

The special committee made its report to Ross A. Woodhull, president of the district. The report, in commenting that not more than $164,000 a year could be saved, threw in an accolade for the district, saying, "This speaks well for the efficiency of the present management under President Woodhull and the board."

Want Smaller Board.

The seven points, reinforced by numerous subheadings and tables of figures dealing in millions of dollars, were:

1. Delegate most of the authority of a three man civil service board to the superintendent of employment.
2. Make retirement of all employés mandatory at a certain age.
3. Eliminate six employés in the law department and cut the salaries of three others from $4,950 to $2,100 a year.
4. Have the district dispose of real estate not needed in operations.
5. Centralize the work of the finance department.
6. Centralize the engineering department.
7. Eliminate six of the nine board members and their six secretaries and create the job of chief engineer.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

MARTIN PLEASED BY RESULTS OF G. O. P. MEETING

Praises Wisdom of War Policy Statement.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Congressman Joseph W. Martin Jr., chairman of the Republican national committee, formally expressed yesterday his pleasure over the work done by the committee in its meeting at the La Salle hotel on Monday.

Other members who lingered for a meeting of the executive committee to discuss financing also were content with the outcome of the meeting, particularly because Martin and his associates had avoided a split in the organization over what they described as the nonvital wording of a resolution that merely stated what has become the accepted attitude of most Republican leaders — that the issue of isolationism vs. interventionism during the war is dead.

Committee Speaks for Itself.

If there was any exception to the general rule it was Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, again a Presidential prospect, who said that, while he was not discontent with the text of the war policy resolution, the committee had exceeded its jurisdiction as it could speak only for itself. National conventions alone, he said, speak for the G. O. P.

"Of course," said Taft, "the committee has no authority to lay down the principles of the party but, so far as the declarations concerning our responsibilities among nations are concerned, that was merely a redeclaration of what is recognized as sound Republicanism and sound Christianity. But, altho all of us recognized the unavoidable necessity for some statement on the current war situation, the committee should have avoided anything beyond that."

He was asked whether the committee resolution would be considered the Republican platform for the congressional and senatorial elections in November.

None Bound by Statement.

"No congressman or senator or any candidate," he said, "is bound to regard the committee's words as the party platform. They may adopt them as part of their own platforms if they wish but there is nothing in the party's laws, rules, or customs requiring them to do so."

It was learned yesterday that Thomas E. Dewey of New York, another 1944 G. O. P. Presidential prospect, sent the following telegram to the committee during its Chicago meeting:

"I sincerely hope that skeletons of issues buried in the blood stained earth of Pearl Harbor and Bataan will not be allowed to injure either our national or our party unity in a battle over words of resolutions to be adopted at the national Republican committee meeting. Issues which split both Republican and Democratic parties before Dec. 7 are now dead. Our complete unity of purpose to win the war overshadows every other subject.

"But we should not neglect our duty to demand and procure a more efficient conduct of the war and a firm declaration that as Republicans we shall help lead America in procuring a lasting peace after we have won the war. Our children must not face another war for survival all over again 20 years from now."

Chairman Martin's Statement.

Chairman Martin's typewritten statement about the meeting was distributed to his final meeting with the temporary press gallery before taking off by plane for Washington.

It read:

"The Republican national committee may well be proud of its accomplishments yesterday. The committee has defined the position of the Republican party upon questions of vital importance to America.

"There was complete unity. The party, from coast to coast, is knit together as it has not been for more than a year. All controversial questions were handled with wisdom and in a remarkable spirit of coöperation that amounted to statesmanship.

Financial Condition Sound.

In the chat with newspaper men which followed Martin was asked in a semijoking way whether Sinclair Weeks, present treasurer of the committee, and his eastern associates will be more generous in providing funds for the committee's operations, now that most of the Willkie text was adopted in the policy resolution.

The chairman answered this query seriously, saying that while there are a few bills to be paid, the committee is in unusually good financial condition—far better than in 1937 when it had a deficit of $1,500,000.

He said he thought there would be enough money raised for the November campaign altho it will be a poor man's campaign, a moderate one, and that efforts to raise money have not been begun yet. Contributions received up to this time have come in without solicitation and that they naturally have been small, Martin remarked.

New Fire Trucks

Firemen of squad 7 on extended 100 foot ladders of two new fire trucks in the fire department repair barns yesterday.

Fire department engineers yesterday tested the city's newest, most modern fire fighting equipment, two $20,000 hydraulically operated extension ladders and trucks. The trucks were received from the American La France company, manufacturers of fire department equipment. Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan said the hydraulic mechanism permits the use of steel 100 foot ladders on the extension trucks rather than 85 foot wooden ladders formerly used. The new ladders have handrails on their sides. The handrails, according to Corrigan, convert the ladders into "portable fire escapes that any individual would be unafraid to climb down."

Waukegan Curbs Police, Fire Sirens 'For Duration'

Waukegan fell in step yesterday with Chicago and many other cities by banning police and fire sirens "for the duration." "People might confuse them with air raid warnings," said Mayor Frank Wallin in his orders to the police and fire departments. Waukegan's air raid warning system is now nearing completion. It will have 1 large and 10 smaller sirens.

CALL DEMOCRAT SLAPS AT G. O. P. STAND DISUNITY

House Republicans Back Chicago Action.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 21.—Democrats arose in the house today to prod their Republican colleagues about the resolution approved yesterday at Chicago by the Republican National committee which recognized that "our nation has an obligation to assist in the bringing about the understanding, comity and coöperation among the nations of the world" after the war.

Rep. Ed Gossett [D., Tex.] started a verbal flurry by expressing regret that Republicans had not realized their international responsibility prior to Dec. 7. He and other Democrats charged that the isolationist policy of Republicans, if followed prior to Pearl Harbor, would have left this country "utterly defenseless."

Rep. J. William Ditter [R., Pa.], chairman of the Republican congressional committee, replied that such attacks were a promotion of disunity.

Suggests Winning War First.

"The important thing is to win the war rather than to start arguments about what we are going to do after the war," he said. "The injection into public discussion of postwar problems helps to bring about a division of the war effort."

Rep. Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.] said it was evident that the Republican national committee considered such pre-war controversies as nonintervention versus intervention to be dead issues.

"Any attempt to revive them, as was done against Sen. Brooks in the recent Illinois primary, promotes disunity and impairs our war effort," he declared. "In the words of Sen. Brooks, 'the issue of isolationism is dead—it was sunk at Pearl Harbor!'

Supports Chicago Resolution.

"I am in accord with and will support the committee resolution, and I hope that all Republican members of congress will unite in upholding the principles enunciated by the committee in this fall's congressional campaign."

"The Republicans have a plain duty to point out the mistakes and failures of the New Deal, without fear or favor along constructive lines. That is our function as a minority party, and there should be forthright constructive criticism for the efficient conduct of the war and against the waste of public funds on nondefense projects."

JUSTICE WILSON CHOOSES TO RUN AS A DEMOCRAT

Springfield, Ill., April 21 (AP).—Justice Francis S. Wilson of Chicago, who was elected to the Illinois Supreme court as a Democratic coalition candidate in 1935, has chosen to run for reëlection under the Democratic party label in the June 1 judicial election.

Justice Wilson received both the Democratic and Republican convention nominations in the 7th district earlier this month. The law required him to reject one of the nominations and run under a single party label. His formal withdrawal as a Republican candidate was filed in the office of Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes.

ANNOUNCE PLANS FOR 45-64 DRAFT LISTING MONDAY

475,000 Are Expected in Cook County.

Preparations for registering men between the ages of 45 and 64 years next Monday were announced yesterday by Paul G. Armstrong, state director of selective service. It is expected that 475,000 men will register at 600 stations, many of them elementary schools, in Cook county.

All men, whether citizens or aliens, who became 45 years old on or before Feb. 16 and who have not reached their 65th birthday on or before next Monday must register. Unlike those in previous registrations, it is not anticipated that Monday's enrollees in the selective service system will be called for military duty. Congress has not yet provided for assigning this group to any particular service.

Teachers to Be Registrars.

Elementary school teachers will be registrars. Lists of registration places are being completed and will be published before Monday. The stations will be open from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. A man may register at any station within his ward, but Armstrong urged that the registration be made nearest the home so that clerical work on transfers of cards may be kept to a minimum.

Chicagoans who are away from home on Monday may register at any station in the town where they happen to be. Persons passing thru the city or visiting here may register in room 230 of the county building or at any station more convenient. However, those on transcontinental trains or buses may wait until they reach their destination, even tho it be the next day.

Will Go to Hospitals.

Registrars will visit hospitals to enroll the sick. Special arrangements will also be made to register persons ill at home who notify their local board offices.

The registration cards to be used provide spaces for recording first, middle, and last names, the residence and mailing address, telephone number, age, date and place of birth, name and address of a person who will always know the registrant's address, employer's name and address, and place of employment or business.

The cards will be numbered serially and will be shuffled by the local draft boards on May 20, but no lottery is planned for this group of registrants.

LUNCHEON HELD BY BERTHA BAUR FOR G. O. P. CHIEFS

Mrs. Bertha Baur, Republican national committeewoman for Illinois, was hostess yesterday at a luncheon for members of the Republican national executive committee in her home at 1511 Astor street. The luncheon marked the close of committee sessions held here Monday and yesterday morning and observed the birthday of Harold W. Mason, national committeeman for Vermont.

SERVING CHICAGO FOR 94 YEARS

CHICAGO TRIBUNE WANT AD SECTION

THIS IS THE STORY OF CARBOLOY

How a Most Strategic Material of the War—Invented in Germany—Was Made Available to the United Nations

More Precious Than Diamonds In War Production . . . Carboloy is an American trademark for cemented tungsten-carbide, an alloy second only to diamonds in hardness, more precious than diamonds as a vital material in America's war program. It is used for the tips of cutting tools, and for wear-resistant dies. Carboloy is used in small quantities; it is difficult to make and difficult to use—but it has never been scarce in modern times. There is no scarcity now.

Invented In Germany—Krupp Protected by U. S. Patents . . . Cemented carbide was invented in Germany—it belonged to Krupp of Germany, and this made all the rest of the world Krupp's customer. In this country, Krupp was protected by patent grants from the United States.

General Electric Creates Independent Production . . . The General Electric Company two years before this had begun research on tungsten-carbide and foresaw its importance in industrial production. For immediate use in its own plants and for easier availability to others, General Electric undertook the long and arduous negotiations for the American rights. Limited rights were obtained in 1928 with Krupp continuing to export the material to its United States customers, a business which languished, however, as General Electric painstakingly developed its own Carboloy technique. This paved the way for General Electric to make the United States entirely independent of Germany for its cemented tungsten-carbide supply as early as 1936.

American Tool Costs Half That of German . . . From the start, two totally different businesses were involved. Krupp originally exported cemented carbides in chunks—and was unsuccessful. General Electric—and its subsidiary, Carboloy Co., Inc. found it necessary to develop a complete engineering and manufacturing service, making various types of Carboloy-equipped tools, training men in their use, and offering to its customers a specialized and successful production technique. For purposes of fair comparison, a typical German cemented carbide tool, in 1928 cost $22.26 in the United States, while a comparable American Carboloy tool cost $11.11.

Loss to General Electric for Many Years—Art Taught to Industry . . . In times of peace—and 1928 was such a time—the measure of success of industrial adventure is to be found in profit to the adventurer. By such a measure, Carboloy could not be called successful. Initial expenses were great. For a time the Company lost at the rate of $1000 a day, and once had an operating deficit of more than a million dollars.* One of the major contributing reasons was the continuing high cost of development, standardization, and training. In 1936-37 alone, training courses were given to 10,000 men in industry. Moreover, six major price reductions were made in the face of operating losses, until the standard tool blank had been reduced in price 90 per cent.

Faith and Perseverance . . . Depression was still another reason—labor-saving tools could not be sold to industry or labor at any price. But General Electric, with determination that now seems providential, kept on—increasing its capacity, granting new licenses, condoning instances of unlicensed production, staying ahead of its market.

Production Multiplied Forty-Five Times In Four Years . . . Cemented tungsten-carbide could easily have been a source of weakness here, as it was in England, had it not been for General Electric's policy of continued expansion. In 1939, the production of the Carboloy Company was less than 20,000 lbs.; in 1940, it was 55,000 lbs.; in 1941, it was 163,000—and in December came Pearl Harbor. Now, in 1942, the Company's production is going at a rate that is 45 times that of only four years ago.

Britain Dependent Upon Us . . . By contrast, British companies, which had been content to continue as customers of Krupp, found themselves cut off from the vital material when Poland was invaded. But the General Electric Company was able to supply substantial quantities to British industry immediately and since then has continuously filled British orders. It has, in like manner, filled Canada's requirements since 1936. It is currently supplying Canada, Russia and other United Nations. All this in addition to supplying the greatly expanded needs of American industry.

An Inspirational Story of American Industry . . . Thus, the story of Carboloy does not end in "too little and too late". Like many previously untold stories of American industry, it continues, a sturdy and inspiring example of public service born of private enterprise, and characterized by hard work, ingenuity, investment, research, risk, and courage—a familiar pattern on this side of the Atlantic. General Electric Company, Schenectady, New York.

GENERAL ELECTRIC

Over the entire period of its existence up to January 1st, 1942 the total net profit of the Carboloy Company was 2.5 per cent of sales.*

BY CLAY GOWRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BALBOA, Canal Zone, April 21.—Several hundred men and officers from Illinois—bronzed and hardened by the tropic sun—are members of a mechanized cavalry force guarding this vital ocean lifeline from possible attack.

Stationed deep in the almost impenetrable "boskey" or jungle, 56 miles from the nearest town with more than one store, the Illinoisans are an outpost unit which likely would be among the first combat organizations to see real action in the event of a thrust at the Panama canal.

The heavily armored cars of the unit, bristling with machine guns and capable of smashing their way over the roughest trails, will be an important factor in stopping the "Charlies" if the time arrives.

Days of Ceaseless Patrols.

The more or less easy-going training days back home are over for these Illinois men. Since early February they have been at their jungle station without relief, watching and waiting. Their days are filled with ceaseless patrols of the hot, dripping jungle country in which they will make their stand if action comes.

But the men and officers have found time to transform their tent camp, situated on a small plateau near the ocean, into a miniature Chicago. The outpost's main street, of course, is "Michigan avenue." The officers dine in a screened, canvas-topped version of the "Palmer House." A dirty little jungle stream which runs past the foot of the plateau is the "Chicago river."

A few days ago this correspondent dined in the "Palmer House" with Capt. Joseph Oline, formerly employed in the Illinois state insurance department at Springfield and now one of the commanding officers of the Illinois group.

Rations Behind Schedule.

We dined lightly, because the unit's rations—which must be trucked in over the jungle roads—were several days behind schedule. Beans, canned corn, and the inevitable corned beef hash made up the meal.

Recently the Illinoisans had a change of pace when they were called upon to act as the "eyes of Brig. Gen. Edward J. Stackpole's Blue task force in the jungleland maneuvers in which thousands of troops of the Panama mobile force engaged. Moving ahead of Gen. Stackpole's force, charged with defending the canal against an invading Yellow army fighting its way thru the jungle, the Illinois men in their armored machines performed reconnaissance missions night and day during the maneuvers.

Salvage

Beer, not blood, was spilled at 2501 Ashland avenue yesterday afternoon when a beer truck, driven by Sol Rosenberg, 1432 Farwell avenue, collided with a truck driven by Henry Hilbart, 1520 Diversey boulevard. Rosenberg's truck turned over, striking a parked truck belonging to Marco Civione, 2501 Ashland avenue, and spilling beer into the street. No one was injured.

AMERICAN OPERA SERIES TO START ON W-G-N MAY 11

Operas written by Americans about America will be presented by W-G-N and the Mutual network in a new series of programs to be aired from 10 to 11 a. m. Saturdays, starting May 11. The series of six will be titled the First American Opera festival. Alfred Wallenstein, Mutual's musical director in New York, will direct the series.

The series will be presented in coöperation with the treasury department to promote the sale of war bonds and stamps. First work to be presented will be George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess." Then will follow Douglas Moore's "The Devil and Daniel Webster," Gian-Carlo Menotti's "The Old Maid and the Thief," Quinto Maganini's "Tennessee's Partner," Virgin Thomson's "Four Saints in Three Acts," Aaron Copland's "The Second Hurricane," and Deems Taylor's "The King's Henchman."

Mother! That LAMB'S here again!
Kellogg's ALL-BRAN
K.D.S.

THE LAMB: Excuse the intrusion—but I am a lamb with a purpose. I'm here to remind you of a gentler way of getting after that little trouble of yours.

BABS: You mean . . .

THE LAMB: Yes, constipation! If you are one of those people with normal intestines who are troubled with constipation due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, a crisp, delicious cereal, KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, will not only correct the cause of the trouble—but will do it in a way that is pleasant and gentle, too.

MOTHER: Did you say "gentle"?

THE LAMB: I did indeed, ma'am! ALL-BRAN acts differently from many medicinal laxatives. They work by prodding the intestines into action, or by drawing moisture into them from other parts of the body. ALL-BRAN works principally on the contents of the colon, helping you to have easy and normal elimination.

BABS: But tell us, lamb, does ALL-BRAN taste good?

THE LAMB: My dear young lady, ALL-BRAN has a grand nutty flavor—you'll enjoy every crunchy spoonful! Eat it every day, drink plenty of water and "Join the Regulars."

GENTLE AS A LAMB
For people with normal intestines who are troubled with constipation due to lack of "bulk" in the diet

WE'RE GOING BACK TO BATAAN!

REPUBLICAN POLICY.

Where the resolution adopted by the Republican national committee was forthright it was satisfactory and even admirable. It stated the national determination to fight the war thru to complete victory. It pointed to the principal weaknesses in the prosecution of the war thus far and proposed the remedies. It insisted upon the preservation of the constitutional liberties of the people. It called for an end to boondoggling and other wasteful expenditures. It protested against propaganda based on falsehood and against the suppression of unfavorable news. It suggested methods of improving the organization of the war effort in the administrative departments as well as in the military services. It called attention to the misuse of the emergency for partisan advantage and for the fostering of panaceas.

These declarations were sound and sensible and will be received as such by all Republicans and by almost everybody else possessed of independent judgment. There is great and justified dissatisfaction with the manner in which the war has been conducted. It is certain that correction will be slow and it may never arrive unless the Republican influence in congress becomes strong enough to receive respectful attention.

The resolution was weak in the brief section which dealt with foreign policy after the war. A form of words was found which can mean anything or nothing. The resolution speaks of "an obligation to assist in the bringing about of understanding, comity, and coöperation among the nations of the world." It can be argued plausibly that this has always been the Republican foreign policy and marks no departure. It can be argued, also, that the formula contains an indorsement of any scheme which would deprive the United States of any part of its sovereignty.

The explanation given for this straddle is not a respectable one if there ever can be a respectable excuse for straddling. It is said that the eastern wing of the party is internationalist and the western wing is not. Accordingly, it was believed necessary to find a formula which would prove satisfactory all around. The easterners got their references to something vague, called comity and coöperation; the westerners succeeded in eliminating all use of the word "international."

It is doubtful if the division within the party is as described. Certainly the successful wing of the party is the western one which has not pussyfooted. The Republican cause has suffered for years from the influence of wealthy eastern members who have sought to use it for their own advantage. They appear to have done so once more. Even if there were any real division within the ranks, as is alleged, it would have been more expedient and more honest of the committee to have avoided a declaration on the issues in dispute. Sen. Taft was correct in his judgment that the country should not be diverted from the business at hand, the winning of the war.

More particularly, it is not the right of the national committee to break new ground in party policy. There is only one agency empowered to do that: the national convention of the party. Until the next convention is held, the foreign policy of the Republican party remains as it was stated in the 1940 platform. The resolution adopted on Monday by the national committee, whatever it means or doesn't mean, is not binding upon members of the party or their candidates in the autumn elections.

JESSE JONES GOES INTO ECLIPSE.

Jesse Jones, who bungled so badly the projects to insure this country against the loss of strategic war materials by accumulating stockpiles and building plants to make substitutes, has been stripped of his powers in that field by the President. The action is a confession of error but it is impossible speedily to remedy the error. Malaya and Java are now lost and the opportunities which Jones and the administration neglected to accumulate stockpiles of rubber and tin have been lost with them. In consequence, our war economy has been put on a straitened diet and revolutionary changes are being forced in the habits and comforts of the civilian population.

Mr. Jones' personal share of the blame for this is admittedly large, but the extent to which he is being made the scapegoat for others in the administration who are equally guilty of complacency and shortsightedness must await fuller information. A good deal of blundering has been covered up. Congress was given the inference that one reason Jones failed to buy rubber was that he was assured by persons in high official position that western Pacific sources of crude rubber would not be attacked by the Japanese or, if attacked, would be held. It has been charged in congress that Mr. Roosevelt and Vice President Wallace both opposed the construction of synthetic rubber plants because they didn't want an industry which would demand tariff protection after the war.

Mr. Jones' powers have been invested in Vice President Wallace as head of the Board of Economic Warfare. There is nothing in Mr. Wallace's record to indicate that he will be any improvement over Mr. Jones. It is doubtful, in fact, whether he will be as good. Mr. Jones has been presented to the country as a man of wide business experience, accustomed to the handling of large affairs. The description certainly fitted him insofar as it described his control of federal lending. There is nothing in Mr. Wallace's record, either in private or public life, to indicate any high order of executive ability. He was a failure as a publisher, and in the cabinet his only distinction was that of director of the program for buying farm votes with federal subventions.

That the direction of the raw material procurement program, of such vital importance to the nation, should be placed in his hands is a further indication of the lack of talent in the present cabinet. Wallace may be ill fitted for the job, but to whom else could President Roosevelt turn in that circle?

The President's refusal to withdraw power from those in whom he has placed confidence has occasioned wide comment. Within limits it might be considered a personal virtue, but as practiced it has become a public vice.

HITLER AT FIFTY-THREE.

Herr Goebbels on the eve of Hitler's birthday anniversary was a muezzin on the minaret calling the faithful not so much to worship the prophet as to pray for him. Adversity promotes devotion, but to what deity did the wizened little propaganda minister address himself? It seems to have been not to Wotan but to Jehovah, the Lord, the God of the peoples in arms against the Nazi eccentrics and sadists who have persecuted the Jews and have denied the exercise of religious conscience to Lutherans and Catholics alike.

Some people think Herr Goebbels is the master mind of the most dangerous propaganda machine in the world. Others are inclined to doubt. Before there was an overt act perpetrated on another nation by Hitler the promotional department of his government had filled the civilized world with disgust for his ideas, his methods, for the man himself and every one about him, and with a renewed distrust of the German people. If this is good advertising an evil record is an asset.

Private enterprise would not regard such sales management as successful. However, the Nazis are not only brutish. They are peculiar. They are queer as well as savage. Rudolf Hess, flying to Scotland, was not the only odd fish, odd as he is. Hitler himself is at times a screaming demon and again a musing lover of a beautiful scene. Mr. Chamberlain recorded one of these sudden transitions.

The changed tone in the public addresses of both Hitler and Goebbels has caused speculation and a search for the trickery which might be involved. The change may result from a quite honest appraisal of the German mood. The Nazi voice is beginning to sound like Churchill's. Hitler did not promise his dupes blood, sweat, and tears, but he has caused these inflictions and they are the least of the injuries he has done to his own as well as the other peoples of Europe.

No one can do more than estimate the casualties on both sides in the war with Russia, but they have been tremendous. They probably exceed the older war ratio, and in millions of German homes, which were promised quick, easy, and profitable victory, there are empty places or physically ruined men. The German army is still a formidable, if not the most formidable, war machine, but it has suffered great losses and a doubtful future contains the inevitability of still further sacrifice.

It behooves Hitler now to rewrite his rôle. He is not the invincible conqueror, but must become the solitary man bearing the heavy burden of his country's destiny. He needs sympathy, understanding, and prayer. The people must know that he now can lead them to their ultimate success only thru supreme effort and with their unstinted loyalty, devotion and sacrifice.

The people might be indifferent to successful exhibitions of bad faith, but when the consequences come home in disagreeable form the wisdom of perfidy and brutality may be questioned. Germany could live under a half-witted kaiser and still raise its head. What can present day Germany say to the inquiry of the future? There will be no acceptable explanations or excuses.

Hitler has made the German nation under Nazi domination the most detested political and military organization in the world. It isn't pleasant to be so thoroly hated by peoples, even if you have overrun them and dominate them. In the long view that is not profitable and no temporary sense of superiority can make it so. The spurious benefits the German people thought Hitler had brought them by his ruthlessness have been erased by the price he has made them pay for them.

Hitler at 53 is probably still secure in his control. No sensible person expects a quick victory over the German army or a sudden evaporation of the Nazi terror, altho we cannot understand how a Germany which in 1914 was rapidly becoming a truly representative government even under the kaiser, with a reichstag which had the imperial set vastly alarmed, could have become the total victim of a brutish autocracy in which no dissident voice could be raised and no check put upon acts of inhumanity which disgrace the entire nation.

Hitler in need of prayer is a new sort of monstrosity and Goebbels calling for the prayers is another.

SUNDAY IN AUSTRALIA.

Last Sunday the Rev. Wildred Jarvis of the Central Baptist church of Sydney, Australia, preached a sermon entitled "Shall Sydney Submit to the Spirit of Sodom?" Had the Japs landed, or what?

Well, it develops, it was not as simple as that. Australia's blue laws close everything up tight as a drum on Sundays and the thousands of American soldiers who have come to defend Australia could find nothing to do with themselves on their day off. There wasn't an ice cream soda to be had or a movie to be seen and, as one of their commanders said, they just "wandered around the streets like a lot of lost sheep."

Memories of Pearl Harbor may prompt the question whether it is advisable to let the army take Sunday off, but if the practice is to continue, it is admitted that something should be done to liven up the day for the boys. They work hard all week, and they need a little relaxation and gayety.

This fact has resulted in the growth of a considerable sentiment among Australians to chuck the Sunday blue laws overboard, and it is here that the Rev. Mr. Jarvis comes in. "I am proud to be a wowser," he observes. [The word "wowser" signifies "bluenose" in Australian.]

To this it may be said that any wowser has every right to be a wowser by choice, and that no effort should be made to influence him to change his position. On the other hand, the wowser should feel under a corresponding obligation not to attempt to enforce his views on everybody else, particularly if the object of his attention is a guest who has come half way around the world to defend a strange land.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

A FEW THUMBNAIL SKETCHES.

Description of a diplomat;

"He is a most agreeable man, and talks exceedingly well in company, but he is always lying. One can lie once, twice, three times, but one cannot lie all the time."

Definition of a liberal by an absolute monarchist:

"A liberal desires unrestrained power to please himself in religion, morals, politics, and literature, without reference to the wisdom or the will, either of God or man. Whatever restrains him is just so much tyrannical interference with his material and individual rights."

Spoken by an Austrian courtier of the old régime to Mrs. Anthony Trollope, wife of the English novelist.

The last hours of a tyrant:

"He wept and said again and again, 'What an artist the world is losing.' . . . He read that he had been pronounced a public enemy by the senate, and that they were seeking to punish him in the ancient fashion. . . . In mortal terror he seized two daggers, and then, after trying the point of each, put them aside again, pleading that the fated hour had not yet come. . . . Now the horsemen were at hand who had orders to take him off alive. When he heard them he quavered a line from Homer and drove a dagger into his throat, aided by his private secretary."

Candid opinion of a genius by his friend:

"The players have often mentioned it as an honor that in his writing, whatsoever he penned, he never blotted out a line. My answer hath been, 'Would he had blotted a thousand.' . . . I loved the man and do honor his memory, this side idolatry, as much as any. He was, indeed, honest, and of an open and free nature; he had an excellent fancy, brave notions, and gentle expressions, wherein he flowed with that facility that sometimes it was necessary he should be stopped."

From Ben Jonson's firsthand testimony regarding Shakespeare.

MACHINE AND PROFESSOR.

(Reflections on the recent primary.)

The auld machine is movin' strong,
Wi' puff an' toot it chugs along;
Goliath-like issues a dare
Tae a' reformers everywhere:
"Come, lads, an' join me noo at yince,
Or, by m' faith, I'll make ye wince."
David, the prof, a gallant youth,
Fits in his sling the stone o' truth,
An' lets it fly, quick as a wink—
A' that comes back's a tiny clink.
The auld machine moves on apace,
An' gallant Dave, tae save his face,
Smilingly, an' wi' sweet accord,
Eats up his words an' climbs aboard.

The auld machine, wi' wee bit cough,

The Origin of Drexel Boulevard.

You ask [April 18], "Why is a street in Chicago named after a family of bankers in Philadelphia?"

About 1840, when the old Illinois and Michigan canal was projected, the United States government deeded a vast strip of land to the Illinois and Michigan canal commissioners, for them to sell and dispose of to create funds for the building of the canal. Various strips of this land were offered at auction, and a man by the name of Egan purchased a considerable amount. He named the district Egandale.

In due course of time Mr. Egan found that he had bitten off more than he could chew, with the result that either thru bankruptcy or direct sale a portion of his holdings was acquired by the Drexel family of Philadelphia. The Drexels deeded a long strip of Egandale to the city, with the understanding that this strip was to be called Drexel avenue or Drexel boulevard.

Jacob Weinstein.

* * *

George H. Rozet of Chicago, a brother-in-law of A. J. Drexel, suggested to the Drexels that they might give some object to enhance the beauty of the street bearing their family name. Mr. Drexel and George W. Childs came to Chicago to inspect Drexel boulevard and found it worthy of the name. Hence the gift of the fountain.

GARDEN PROMISES.

Of war and arms let other poets sing;
I celebrate my garden, bourgeoning.

In this dark acre tulips now awake,
And lilac soon will come, for beauty's sake.

Narcissus, crocus, daffodils galore,
With hyacinths, will my lost faith restore.

Of iris, blue and yellow, there will be Sufficient to relieve my penury;

And daisies, hollyhocks—dear common flowers—
Will shed their wealth to cheer my summer hours.

In sunny bowers of roses I shall sing,
While other men keep busy—blustering.

In this dank plot of dreariness and dearth

With war let other poets have their fling;

When Reason Totters on Its Throne.

I am in a dilemma, quandary, and predicament! To renew my driver's license I must answer "yes" or "no" to the following:

"If afflicted with a mental disease or disability, have you now been restored to competency by the methods provided by law?"

If I say "yes," I admit having been insane; if I say "no," I am still crazy! Quizzicuss.

Since we're cutting down on everything to win the war, the Australians ought to do something about their Lake Cadibarrawirracanna.

SORE THROAT AND ENLARGED LYMPH GLANDS.

SORE throat may have little significance. On the other hand it precedes or accompanies so many maladies that it should always be investigated.

Among numerous possibilities, this symptom may indicate a peculiar type of infection characterized by fever, enlargement of the lymph glands, and a marked increase in some of the white cells of the blood. Other manifestations include headache, chills, cough, abdominal pain, and sweating. Appetite disappears rapidly, and severe prostration may be observed.

Altho the onset may be sudden, as a rule, the victim will be indisposed for several days with malaise which increases gradually until a temperature of 103 degrees F. is reached.

The exact cause remains a puzzle. No single organism has been proved guilty, altho many are suspected. Effort to isolate the microbes found in the nasal passages and in the throat has been unavailing. This explains why no vaccine or other preventive measure has been developed.

Strangely enough, the membrane on the tonsils may suggest diphtheria. But when a culture is made the typical organisms are absent. However, many physicians have employed antitoxin in their anxiety not to overlook a critical condition. Of course the remedy is not effective, inasmuch as diphtheria is not present. Nevertheless, irritation in this area may persist for two or three weeks, occasionally traveling down the pharynx — producing swelling within the voice box.

But the rapid enlargement of the lymph depots along the side of the neck, at the hairline on the back of the head, beneath the arm, and in the groin will point to the diagnosis. When the blood is checked, cells known as "lymphocytes" will be encountered in profusion. With both of these factors present we may with reasonable certainty conclude that we are entertaining glandular fever.

Children and young people are afflicted chiefly. It is prevalent among high school and college students, and nurses in hospitals. We must look upon the ailment as contagious and one that should not be trifled with when it appears in the neighborhood.

For the most part, good nursing will ward off complications. Sometimes abdominal pain will imitate appendicitis, and unless careful study is made the surgeon may whisk the patient to a hospital and remove the appendix. Only later will the routine signs of the disorder be apparent.

We must be on the alert against spread of the malady, particularly to the nervous system. Unfortunately, symptoms simulating meningitis will be observed in a small number of instances. These, however, will disappear thru copious draughts of fruit juices and the reduction of temperature.

Treatment consists in keeping the patient comfortable and providing adequate irrigation of the nose and throat to allay the sense of soreness. Some physicians employ preparations of arsenic—seemingly with benefit.

YES.

J. N. C. writes: Has a 2 year old child as much heat in his body as his young mother? In other words, can he stand the cold better?

REPLY.

A healthy child is a veritable stove. He is able to utilize energy rapidly, converting it into heat. His metabolic rate [use of oxygen] is slightly higher than that of his mother.

FUNCTIONAL DISTURBANCE.

H. G. writes: My husband has developed spastic colitis. Is this serious? What is the treatment?

REPLY.

It is uncomfortable at times but rarely dangerous. Treatment consists of proper diet, medication, and relief of mental strain. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on this disorder.

DUCTLESS GLANDS.

Q. R. writes: What is meant by an endocrine?

REPLY.

This term is applied to structures which pour their secretions into the circulation. Examples are: Thyroid, adrenals, pituitary, etc.

THE WHEAT QUOTA REFERENDUM.

Manhattan, Kas., April 15.—As has always been the case when the life of this nation has been threatened, the responsibility of saving it today rests with the men and women on the soil. The wheat farmers of America will soon have a chance sternly to reprove those politicians of high and low degree in Washington who, in their zeal to fortify the "gains" of the New Deal revolution and in fear of forfeiting their political power, are even now willfully wasting the money needed for armament by giving it to farmers in the guise of "benefit" payments and loans on crops.

Last year the question of establishing marketing quotas on wheat was submitted to a vote of the wheat farmers of America. Conducted under rules prescribed by the burocrats of the AAA, the referendum was a scandal and a farce. Announcement was made that the quotas had carried and farmers who had overseeded their allotments were punished with heavy fines. The sole purpose of this policy was to weld all wheat farmers into a politically submissive group. The extent to which this purpose has been accomplished accurately measures the sum total of self-respect and independence lost by our farmers in their silly, selfish, and blind subservience to the administration's revolutionary farm program.

On May 2 wheat farmers will have a last chance to redeem their manhood and renounce their folly; since the AAA magicians have brazenly invoked another referendum on marketing quotas for that date.

If the referendum carries, loans on the new crop equaling 85 per cent of "parity"—whatever that may mean—are promised to all farmers complying with the program. Correspondingly heavy fines are to be assessed against those still retaining enough independence to raise more wheat than the government has decreed as their share.

Unless farmers generally have lost every vestige of the sound and sturdy spirit that once distinguished them, they will turn in an adverse vote that will rake the flagship of the New Deal revolution from stem to stern. The reasons for so doing are so obvious and so compelling that no farmer of intelligence and integrity can possibly deny them.

1. The rules governing the referendum are so biased and the whole procedure is so scornful of all right and justice that men of honor who are wheat producers will vote only in angry resentment of the insult it implies.

2. The threat made by the administration that, in case the referendum fails, the price of wheat will sink to 50 cents a bushel is, in the light of reason, a lie.

3. The bribe promised, if the referendum carries, is a loan of public money in addition to the "benefit" checks automatically accruing to those complying with the program. But the acceptance of public money now by any farmer who is not actually a public charge, in the face of an all-out war requiring all-out sacrifice, will burn a shameful brand on that farmer's character. Surely they are mistaken who expect our wheat farmers now to vote into their pockets the money which is so badly needed to supply with weapons of war their own sons in the armed forces of our country. Do they not realize that should we lose in this conflict the fate of all of us will be far worse than death? DAN D. CASEMENT.

ANTI-LIQUOR.

Chicago, April 6.—With the rationing of sugar, tires, kitchen utensils, refrigerators, and countless things which we have come to take for granted in this era, it occurs to me that very little common sense has been used by the WPB and its associated bureaus and boards.

The taverns are open day and night purveying liquor to the public. A man may drink himself into a state of intoxication, hurting his own health, causing pain and anguish to his family, spending money which might well be used for defense bonds, to say nothing of using alcohol which is so necessary to our defense effort that it has become necessary to ration sugar to provide sufficient for war needs.

My only complaint is this—I cannot understand why people must be deprived of simple, healthful pleasures, and of foods to which they are accustomed, when the manufacture and sale of liquor, purely a luxury, is allowed. I am no prohibitionist and enjoy a drink upon occasion, but this has been a puzzle to me. R. B. S.

LITTERED STREETS.

Chicago, March 25.—This morning in the Chicago public library my heart was filled with pride when I was told of a world-wide traveler and critic who said that the mosaics in our library were surpassed only by those in a wonderful temple in India.

But—"Pride goeth before a fall." The first thing I saw outside was a smartly dressed young woman throwing an empty candy bag on the sidewalk. Just beyond was an empty cigaret box. Papers were strewn about. Nearly every street in Chicago is littered with torn papers and trash.

I know it is about time for starting our "Clean Up Week." Isn't it possible to make it a "Keep Clean Year?"

OFFICERS' UNIFORMS.

Chicago, April 13.—Why no ceiling on the price of army and naval uniforms the officers have to buy? It is a swell racket and one worth investigating. SUCCOR.

THE STREET CAR FARE ORDER.

Chicago, April 19.—Our Illinois Commerce commission told the surface lines to buy more buses and cars in return for an 8 cent fare. Our government asks all people to conserve on steel, copper, and other commodities. Does our Illinois Commerce commission ignore this fact?

Even tho the surface lines had an honest intention to abide by the commission's ruling, how could they? They would only be able to collect the higher fare but would not be allowed, on account of restrictions, to fulfill the first part of their obligation. Is this, perhaps, another political football?

GARAGE REPAIRS.

Chicago, April 17.—[Friend of the People.]—On the premises of the building next to us is a garage of brick without doors which lead from the street to the alley into which hobos find their way to sleep at night. It is also a menace to the children in the neighborhood as they climb on the roof which is very weak.

U. N.

Our inspector reports this is a one story brick garage on rear of lot, vacant and in a dilapidated condition.

The owner has been notified to repair building and put it in good condition, or wreck it.

If this work is not done at the expiration of time allotted in our notice, we will proceed according to law.

DEMANDS BIDDLE TAKE ACTION TO DEPORT BRIDGES

Congressman Asks What Influence Is at Work.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 21.—Attorney General Francis Biddle was assailed in the house today for his repeated failure to take action against Harry Bridges, czar of the west coast maritime unions, whose deportation as a communist was recommended months ago by a special federal trial examiner.

With the government prosecuting others for seditious statements, Rep. Leland M. Ford [R., Cal.] asked, how can the attorney general justify his refusal to act against Bridges? Ford, who charged recently that the CIO leader owes his freedom to high government officials using their influence to defeat the deportation proceedings, demanded immediate action on a pending resolution calling for a congressional inquiry into the entire Bridges case.

All Efforts Sidetracked.

All attempts to have the union overlord sent back to his native Australia have ended in failure. Bills for that specific purpose which passed the house by overwhelming majorities have been killed in the senate. A deportation warrant issued over a year ago was quashed by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins after James M. Landis, former New Deal chairman of the Securities and Exchange commission and now head of the Office of Civilian Defense, entered a finding after long hearings that Bridges is not a communist.

More recently the Federal Bureau of Investigation made its own inquiry into Bridges' activities, which became the basis of a new hearing conducted by Federal Judge Charles B. Sears sitting as a special trial examiner. The finding was that Bridges unquestionably was a communist and should be deported.

Judge Finds Communist Link.

In his decision, Judge Sears asserted that the testimony had shown that the Marine Workers Industrial union, headed by Bridges, believed in, advised, advocated, and taught the overthrow of the government of the United States by force and violence. The same facts, Judge Sears continued, were shown to be true of the communist party, of which Bridges was also a member.

This finding left the deportation order up to the attorney general, from whom action is still awaited. In the meantime soviet Russia has become one of the allies in the war against Hitlerism, and friends of Bridges have been working in his behalf on the pretext that to send him out of the country now might give offense to the Reds.

Pledges House Support.

"Every member of this house will back up the attorney general in prosecuting to the finish any seditious statement, sedition or treason," said Rep. Ford. "But it seems that certain people are immune from prosecution while others are taken. Inasmuch as he is now prosecuting others for seditious statements, how can the attorney general justify his position of not taking action against Bridges, who has made many seditious utterances and advocated treason?

"How can he square up his present attitude regarding enemies of our government with the findings of Judge Sears? If the attorney general is afraid to prosecute Bridges because of his communist connections, he can prosecute him on the ground that his union has advocated the overthrow of the government, or can it be that Bridges has immunity on account of his connections with high officialdom?"

Detours Sabotage Reports.

A few weeks ago Ford revealed in the house that the Maritime union czar had issued orders for the union members to report all acts of sabotage to him rather than to the duly constituted government agencies as required by law. The California representative described this as a deliberate flouting of wartime statutes enacted to protect the arms program. He told his colleagues today that Biddle's office refused to act when the matter was brought to official attention.

"I appealed to the attorney general's office for the enforcement of the laws," Ford concluded, "and was advised we would have to wait for the commission of an act."

$75,000 IS DAMAGE AS FIRE HALTS 'L' TRAFFIC 2 HOURS

Damage estimated by Fire Marshal Michael J. Corrigan at $75,000 was caused early yesterday by a spectacular fire at 213 West Hubbard street. The flames, discovered at about 4:30 a. m., stopped Chicago Rapid Transit company trains for nearly two hours while firemen used the elevated structure as a platform from which to throw water into the building.

The greatest loss was to the quarters of the Cogeshall Label company on the second and third floors. Other firms in the structure are the Latex Glove Dipping and Manufacturing company and the Robinson Furnace company. The origin of the blaze was not determined.

While the elevated lines' power was turned off, trains were operated as far south as Chicago avenue and then sent back north. Direct service was restored for the morning rush hour.

INJURED BY FALLING BRICK.

Carl Bondeson, 45 years old, 4825 Potomac avenue, foreman of a construction crew, was injured yesterday when a brick fell 15 feet from a scaffold at 885 North Dearborn street and struck him on the head.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and personally, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries. Persons are asked to keep their letters short because of the volume of mail.]

S. S. asks: "What is the minimum weight acceptable for class 1-A for a man 5 feet 7 inches in height? Is it the same for army enlistments?"

ANSWER: Army physical standards set the minimum weight, for both draft induction and enlistment, at 121 pounds for a man that height. If an applicant is below this standard, he still might be accepted providing the examining physician believes the variation is correctible with proper food and physical training.

D. I. writes: "I have an FHA loan on my home. If I were to be called into service would I lose my home if my pay does not permit me to keep up the payments? Many men, like myself, are willing and glad to fight for our country, but aren't we deserving of some protection at home?"

ANSWER: If your obligation was contracted before Oct. 17, 1940, you will receive some protection under the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief act of 1940. However, as yet, no law has been enacted protecting debts originating after that date. Under the civil relief act, court proceedings during a person's military service arising from failure to meet obligations, originating before Oct. 17, 1940, and secured by a mortgage, trust deed, or similar instrument, may be stayed by the court, or the court may make some other equitable disposition of the case. The law further provides that sale of property pledged as security shall not be made during the period of military service or within three months thereafter unless by court order.

G. M. asks: "What are the educational requirements for enlistment in the coast guard?"

ANSWER: Applicants must be elementary school graduates. However, preference is given to high school graduates.

J. J. S. writes: "Some time ago I was placed in 4-F because of a perforation in my ear drum. I am now up for reclassification. What classification will I be given by the army doctors?"

ANSWER: If this condition has been corrected and you are otherwise physically fit and are not eligible for a dependency or occupational deferment, you quite likely will be reclassified to 1-A. If your ailment has not been corrected, you again will be placed in class 4-F.

G. J. asks: "Is an army warrant officer a commissioned or noncommissioned officer? What is their insignia?"

ANSWER: A warrant officer is ranked as neither. He is above the highest noncommissioned officer and below the lowest commissioned officer. He is a specially qualified soldier, usually placed in an administrative capacity, who has received a permit, or warrant—rather than a commission—from the President, to act as an officer. He wears neither shoulder or arm insignia, but wears a gold laurel wreathed eagle that is clasping a bundle of arrows in its talons. The insignia is worn on the hat and lapel.

Mrs. H. C. asks: "Do draftees or volunteers have the best opportunities for being sent to an officers' training school?"

ANSWER: No distinction is made between men who are drafted and those who volunteer. Both have equal opportunities.

U. S. TO RECRUIT BOYS AND GIRLS FOR FARM JOBS

Students to Be Hired in Vacations.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 21.—High school and college students are to be recruited for farm work during their summer vacations, it was announced today by Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator.

"Loss of regular farm workers to war industry and to the army and navy has resulted in shortages of labor for farm work in some parts of the country," McNutt said. "Young people—both boys and girls—may be needed to work in the fields during crop emergencies.

"This does not mean students should flock to the farms in search of work. The United States employment service is responsible for seeing to it that boys and girls are sent to farm jobs only where there are not enough regular workers available."

Higher Production Sought.

Farmers have been called upon to produce crops in unprecedented quantities this year, and large quantities of foodstuffs are being exported to allies. Observers said planting, cultivation, and harvest of crops will be handicapped by labor shortages and by shortages of machinery resulting from the conversion of equipment factories to arms production. Farm employment totaled 8,940,000 last March 1, which was 25 per cent less than on June 1, 1941.

McNutt said John J. Corson, director of the United States employment service, had instructed farm placement personnel thruout the country to work out coöperative arrangements with governmental and voluntary agencies for emergency recruiting of students.

Use Existing Agencies.

He said that where organizations such as Boys' Working Reserves, Junior Victory Armies, Volunteer Land Corps, or other similar groups have been set up, the coöperation of their sponsors should be obtained.

Other agencies which will be asked to coöperate in the program include state and local defense councils, high schools, colleges, universities, county agents, farm organizations, business, civic, and welfare groups, and state departments of education, labor, and welfare.

McNutt said that where transportation must be arranged it will be the responsibility of individual farmers and coöperating agencies to arrange it.

Corson's instructions also said that if it becomes necessary for young people to live away from home for the work the local employment office must have complete knowledge of housing facilities before boys and girls are referred to jobs.

DEALERS REFUSE MILK DRIVERS' WAGE DEMANDS

Demands of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union for greatly increased wages and shorter hours were rejected yesterday by the Associated Milk Dealers, whose representatives asserted that they could not meet the higher scale of pay without charging higher prices to consumers.

Paul Potter, executive secretary of the dealers, said that on some routes delivering milk to stores the extra cost under the demanded scale would be 2 cents a quart and would be at least a cent a quart on all deliveries. He said that the dealers would not even consider the proposals and had asked the union for something "more reasonable."

The union wanted an increase of $5 a week for every milkman, a work week of 51 instead of 54 hours, and greatly increased commissions on deliveries to stores.

HOUSE CONSENTS TO REJECTION OF 6% PROFIT CURB

Told New Bill Will Deal with Problem.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 21.—Acting upon the assurance that a realistic war profits limitation bill would be reported for consideration within a few days, the house today unanimously agreed to the senate's rejection of a rigid 6 per cent restriction on gains resulting from military contracts.

The profits proviso had been attached to legislation appropriating 19 billions, 151 millions for the war effort, the sixth supplemental defense measure to be passed this year. Minor differences remain to be straightened out between senate and house versions of the bill, but it is expected to be sped to the White House for President Roosevelt's signature before the end of the week.

Promises New Bill Soon.

The chamber accepted the senate's substitute profits rider altho several speakers noted that it was not much more than a legislative gesture. The substitute directs the war and navy departments and the maritime commission to renegotiate contracts in order to recapture profits deemed by the heads of the contracting agencies to be excessive.

Chairman Carl Vinson [D., Ga.] of the naval affairs committee told the house that his committee planned to report shortly a bill dealing effectively with the war profits problem and also with the closed shop and 40-hour week questions which are interfering with the production of weapons. Of the senate amendment, he declared:

"It is nothing more nor less than a restatement of existing departmental practice. Each department head now has authority to renegotiate contracts if profits are excessive and 50 million dollars has already been saved by redrafting of contracts."

Backer of Limit Satisfied.

Rep. Francis Case, of South Dakota, who led the Republican drive to write the 6 per cent limitation into the bill, said he was satisfied with the senate amendment pending consideration of a separate bill dealing with the problem.

The authority to renegotiate applies to all contracts in excess of $100,000. All war contracts hereafter must contain a provision for the repayment to the United States of profits found to be excessive.

Chairman Clarence Cannon [D., Mo.] of the appropriations committee, said the 19 billion dollar bill represented a milepost in the fiscal provision for the war. Basic production was well under way in every branch of the military service, he declared, and "by the end of the year we will have passed the accumulated reserves of the enemy and the end will be in sight."

TRUCK UPSETS; DELAYS TRAFFIC.

Street car traffic was delayed 30 minutes yesterday after a Daum Overnight Express company trailer truck overturned at 33d and State streets when the driver, Edward Paul, 7118 South Talman avenue, swerved to avoid hitting an automobile at the intersection.

SHOOTS WIFE, THEN DIES IN BIZARRE SUICIDE

Second Couple Wounded in Divorce Quarrel.

Two women were shot and wounded in Chicago yesterday by their estranged husbands. One of the men killed himself a little later. The other shot himself and is in critical condition in the Bridewell hospital.

Mrs. Mary Lessner, 40 years old, was slightly wounded in her home at 622 Buckingham place during a struggle with her husband, Stanley. They were fighting at the time for possession of a pistol. Lessner died in the Bridewell hospital after taking poison and inhaling gas in his rooms at 1349 North Clark street. He had gone to his wife's home to see their son, Marcus, 6 months old.

Police Question Victims.

Town Hall police questioned Mrs. Lessner and an aunt with whom she lived. They learned that Lessner drew his gun and both rushed him. One shot struck Mrs. Lessner in the left breast.

Police found Lessner barricaded in his home, broke down a door. He was unconscious from poison and gas. All gas pipes in the place were uncapped. Lessner had lighted candles in every room. He left notes blaming his wife and her aunt for his difficulties. Similar accusations were scrawled on walls.

Seriously Wounded.

About two hours later Mrs. Jean Novak, 26, of 1012 North Wood street, was shot four or five times by her former husband, Edward, 30 years old. Mrs. Novak was taken to St. Mary's hospital. Her condition is critical.

The quarrel between the Novaks followed a court hearing in which Mrs. Novak sought an increase in alimony. Novak, a welder, came to the home after court, the argument was renewed, and Mrs. Novak was shot in the neck, thigh, arm, and both breasts.

Neighbors peered in the rear window in time to see Novak shoot himself in the chest. The Novaks' 3 year old daughter, Patsy, was present.

FIVE ILLINOIS AIDS FOUND GUILTY IN HATCH ACT TRIAL

Springfield, Ill., April 21 (AP).—The dismissal of two high ranking officials of the Illinois division of highways for alleged violation of the Hatch anti-politics law was recommended today in a report drafted by James W. Irwin, examiner for the federal civil service commission.

Irwin, who presided at recent hearing here for over 60 highway officials and employés accused of violating the federal statute, recommended dismissal of Matthew J. Fleming, assistant chief state highway engineer, and Charles M. Slaymaker, a district engineer for 28 years and now in charge of the Springfield district highway office.

Fleming, a veteran of 27 years with the state highway division, was acting chief engineer at the time of the Hatch trials last fall. Both officials were charged with actively participating in the 1940 Democratic state campaign.

Examiner Irwin also held Robert MacLeod, chief auditor in the highway division, and two others, H. B. Emery and L. M. Babbitt, to have violated the Hatch act, but said that their violations did not warrant their ouster.

The examiner recommended acquittal of 58 other state highway employés who were defendants in the trials lasting several weeks.

ARMY DESERTER GETS CHAIR FOR TAXICAB SLAYING

Find Former Illinoisan Guilty in Second Trial.

Spartanburg, S. C., April 21 [Special].—John K. Robinson, 20, of Ottawa, Ill., ex-army corporal indicted for murder in connection with the slaying of Kenneth J. Wofford, middle aged Spartanburg taxicab driver, on Jan. 4, was found guilty early tonight. The general sessions court jury failed to recommend mercy.

Trial Judge M. M. Mann passed sentence of death by electrocution and fixed June 12 as the date for execution. Under South Carolina law the death penalty was mandatory in view of the jury's verdict.

Denies New Trial Motion.

T. H. Whiteside, court appointed counsel, entered a motion for a new trial on grounds that photographs introduced by the state in the trial today were "unnecessarily brutal in appearance," but the motion was denied by Judge Mann.

Robinson, a slender, blond youth, displayed no emotion as sentence was imposed. He shrugged his shoulders as he turned away from the bar and smiled at his wife, a co-defendant in the case but not on trial today.

In the earlier trial, held Jan. 15, and 16, a jury deliberated for 20 hours upon whether or not to extend mercy before Judge Mann finally ordered a mistrial. Evidence presented today was much the same as that offered by the state in the earlier trial.

State's Story of Slaying.

Robinson and his wife, the state alleged, hired Wofford for a drive into the country outside Spartanburg and Camp Croft, where the then corporal was stationed.

On a lonely road the taxi driver was forced from the car and shot twice with a .45 service revolver, stolen by Robinson. Robinson was quoted as saying he shot the driver twice—once in the middle of the back, the second time in the head.

Robinson and his wife were taken into custody the following morning at Corbin, Ky., while driving the stolen car. At that time, they said they were en route to Robinson's home in Illinois.

Solicitor Sam R. Watt, the states attorney, has not announced plans for disposal of the case against Mrs. Robinson, a former Spartanburg girl. Robinson continuously has told officers that she had no part in the crime but only happened to be present at the time of the shooting.

LANDLADY SHOT DURING QUARREL WITH 2 TENANTS

Mrs. Amelia Humphries, 60 years old, owner of a rooming house at 6151 Kimbark avenue, was shot in the right leg yesterday during a quarrel, with two of her tenants, Mrs. Reva Wood, 43, and her daughter, Bonnie, 24.

Bonnie Wood.

Another tenant, Mrs. David Goldman, told Woodlawn police that Miss Wood took an automatic pistol out of her handbag while her mother and the landlady were quarreling. Mrs. Goldman, who had fled to call police, said she heard a shot and saw the Woods run from the building.

Mrs. Humphries was taken to Billings hospital, where it was said her wound was slight. The mother gave up to police early today, but the daughter was still sought.

RETIRED CHICAGO POLICEMAN SHOT BY OWN GUN DIES

Henry E. Anson, 68 years old, a retired Chicago policeman, died yesterday in the Evanston hospital of an accidental gunshot wound.

Anson, employed as custodian at the Roosevelt Park fieldhouse in Glenview, was shot thru the chin Monday night when he dropped his revolver accidentally. He crawled to a telephone. He could not speak, but his moans were heard by Miss Anna Franke, the Glenview telephone operator, who sent police to the fieldhouse.

Anson retired from the Chicago police force in 1935 after 35 years of service, most of the time as a mounted traffic policeman at Madison and Wells streets. Both he and his horse, Jim, were well known in the area. Anson lived in the Glen Oak Acres section of Glenview.

Issue Warrants for Beauty Shop Owner and Operator

Warrants were issued in the County court yesterday against Elizabeth McAndrews, owner, and Betty Truesdale, an operator, of a beauty shop at 715 North Michigan avenue. The charge is that Miss Truesdale practiced beauty culture without a license and that Mrs. McAndrews aided her in the practice.

ROBBED OF $100 RING, $15 CASH.

Joseph Lemontree, 4522 Drexel boulevard, a grocer, was robbed of a ring valued at $100 and $15 by two men who drove him thru the south side for an hour yesterday in his car, he told police.

OUT OF THE PAST, PACKET STEAMER PLIES THE RIVERS

Carries Passengers from April Thru October.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

St. Louis, Mo., April 21.—Down on the historic Mississippi river levee here each Saturday evening there is enacted a scene out of the past—the departure of a majestic packet steamboat.

The levee itself is a changing place. The gray stone buildings that in 1870 looked down upon the finish of the epochal race between the Robt. E. Lee and the Natchez have been reduced to rock piles by demolition crews. Before long a river front park will occupy their site.

But so long as the big Golden Eagle of the Eagle Packet company continues to ply the rivers, the traditions of the colorful steamboat era will be preserved. For several years the boat—the last of her kind on the Mississippi—has been carrying passengers from April thru October on the big river, the Illinois, the Ohio, the Tennessee, and the Cumberland.

A Family Tradition.

Her owners, Capts. William H. [Buck] Leyhe and H. W. Leyhe, have been steamboating for half a century. Their father, founder of the Eagle line, was a steamboat man in the 1860s. Capt. Buck and Capt. Henry explain that they preserve the river customs, not as something quaint in an age of speed, but because those customs represent comfort, good living, and a respite from the age of speed.

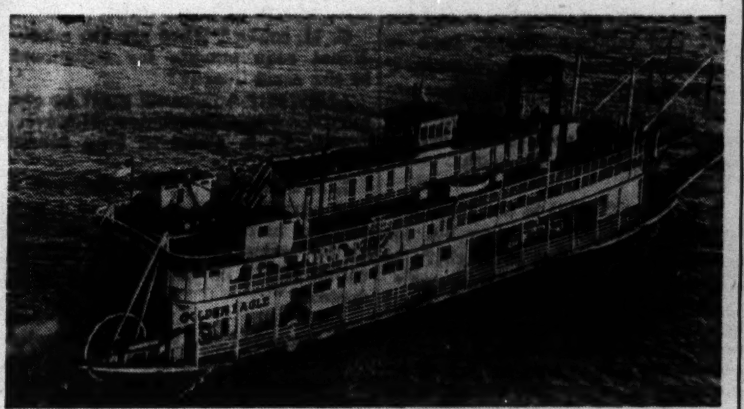
Five o'clock was always "leaving time" in river language. In the days when the magnificent packet boats lined the levee in serried ranks for more than a mile, leaving time presented a scene unrivaled by anything today. The din and bustle, the blares of music, the clanging bells and mellow whistles, and the pall of black smoke above the gleaming, graceful boats was something unforgettable.

The Golden Eagle stands alone now, at the foot of Vine street, but the same scene is enacted at leaving time. And, if you don't look at the stretches of lonely levee above her and below, it is easy to imagine that the others are there—the Grand Republic, the City of Memphis, the Belle of the Bends, and the rest.

Carries Some Freight.

The Golden Eagle is chiefly for passengers, but Capt. Buck usually carries a little freight on his down river trips to accommodate some patron of other years. And the din that attends the loading of it is reminiscent of the old days. The mate—a fabulous figure in steamboat history—comments as bitterly to his sweating roustabouts as tho he had a thousand bales of cotton to load and no time to do it.

A Veteran of the Mississippi



[Acme Photo.]

The Golden Eagle leaving her St. Louis landing for a down river excursion. The last of the hundreds of packet steamers that once plied western rivers, she preserves their architecture and traditions.

The last minute passengers who walk thru this scene on the lower deck before mounting to the boiler [passenger] deck realize, probably for the first time, that Mark Twain was not stretching the blanket in his accounts of similar scenes in the 1850s and 1880s.

On reaching the second deck the passenger finds himself looking into what appears to be a long, white tunnel, off which the staterooms open. Unlike staterooms on ocean liners, these have two doors. One opens into the white tunnel, which is the main cabin for dining and dancing. The other opens onto the broad guards of the promenade deck.

Pilot House Surveys All.

The third [hurricane] deck is surmounted by the texas—the long superstructure originally containing only the officers' staterooms—and it in turn is topped by the glass enclosed sky parlor [pilot house]. Up here reigns the pilot.

On either side of the texas the twin smokestacks reach skyward. And as the passenger catches sight of them at leaving time the black smoke is rolling and tumbling and being blown into fantastic patterns by the wind. In a moment Capt. Buck sounds the big bell. Lines are let go. The Golden Eagle drifts idly into the current. There is a tremor as her engines begin turning over the mammoth sternwheel. In a moment the whistle is sending out its mellow thunder.

Trips to Muscle Shoals.

A little later smoky St. Louis is slipping smoothly away and the passenger goes below for steamboat supper of fried chicken, beaten biscuit, jamablaya, and steamboat coffee.

The Golden Eagle's trips take her to Muscle Shoals, Ala., on the Tennessee; Nashville, on the Cumberland; to the Mark Twain country, on the upper Mississippi, and as far north as Ottawa, Ill., on the Illinois river, 90 miles southwest of Chicago. Wherever she goes, she carries the passenger into the past—away from traffic jams and war headlines.

BREWSTER DIDN'T FINISH A PLANE, NAVY AID SAYS

Seizure of Three Plants Is Explained.

New York, April 21 (AP).—The United States navy took over the Brewster Aeronautical corporation plants in Long Island City, Newark, N. J., and Johnsville, Pa., because "no finished planes were being produced," Capt. George C. Westervelt, U. S. N., retired, said today as he assumed active command over production.

Recently in Washington, Sen. Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] charged that operation of one Long Island City plant was only 40 per cent of capacity. Westervelt said he had not had time to delve into parts production, but could say "no finished airplanes have come off the assembly lines."

The company has contracts totaling millions of dollars for the production of fighters, dive bombers, and training planes.

No Hint of Sabotage.

There has been no hint of sabotage or slowdown because of enemy alien activity in the plant, Westervelt said, nor was there any hint of untoward union activity to cause production slowdown.

"Nowhere in my instructions or the conversation regarding the instructions at the navy department or elsewhere has there been made to me the slightest intimation that any such situation or influence exists," Westervelt said.

"I have no reason to believe that the taking over of this plant was influenced by any consideration of alien activity."

There will be no change in the union status at the various plants, Westervelt said, and added that so far as he was concerned there has been no reference to unsatisfactory union labor relations in any degree.

Singer Remains President.

The present management, with Ralph Singer as president, remains in a status quo, the captain said, but the board of directors is divorced from overall management.

The plants are not under military rule, he said, and a shore patrol will not supersede the civilian guards now operating at the factories.

Associated with Westervelt are six navy men, one an aeronautical engineer, and five others are administrative officers.

Westervelt, 62 years old, is the president of the Charleston, S. C., Shipbuilding and Drydock corporation. His last active naval duty was in charge of the naval aircraft factory at Philadelphia, Pa., from 1919 to 1927.

Byrd Asks Slowdown Data.

Washington, D. C., April 21 (AP).—Sen. Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] said today he had asked the navy to make public results of its investigation of alleged production slowdowns in eight war plants.

Byrd recently cited a report made by Rear Adm. C. W. Fisher, director of naval shore establishments, disclosing that government inspectors had found evidences of slowdowns in the eight plants. The navy department subsequently said the report did not represent its conclusive views, adding that further investigations were being made.

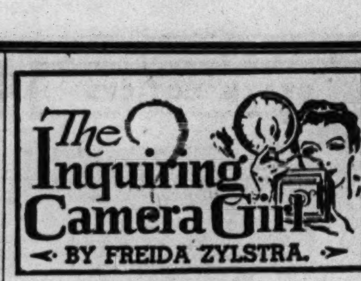
"If the navy has further information, it ought to let the public know the full truth about the situation," Byrd told reporters.

POLICE RACE 'L' TRAIN 7 MILES; CAPTURE THIEF

Detectives Robert Bickel and Lambert Barsema of the Oak Park police raced more than seven miles ahead of a Lake street elevated train yesterday, and captured a purse thief.

The suspect had been seen wandering in the William Beye school in the suburb at about the same time that the purse of Mrs. Catherine McAvoy disappeared from the adult education department where she is employed. The purse contained $53. Mrs. McAvoy lives at 2215 Lake street, Melrose Park.

Detectives Barsema and Bickel hurried to the Ridgeland avenue "L" station, the nearest, and learned that the suspect had boarded an eastbound train. Then they speeded to the Halsted street station in Chicago, and on a train they found their man, with the purse and money still in his possession. The prisoner identified himself as Rudolph Moss, 57 years old, and gave his address as the Hyde Park YMCA.



The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

THE QUESTION

What would you consider the perfect job?

WHERE ASKED

North Shore station, Elm street, Winnetka.

THE ANSWERS

Marjorie Marsh, stenographer, 1327 Central avenue, Wilmette—It seems to me a foreign correspondent's job is a happy one. It appeals to me because it involves travel, new people, and being around where things are happening. To get paid for that would make it perfect, I think.

G. Shaughnessy, X-ray technician, 829 Foster avenue, Evanston—My qualifications for the job are nil, but I think the nearly perfect job would be one that involved traveling in an interesting country. I'd choose South America, and I'm sure I'd be content with the position of travel guide.

Ruth Zeutschel, bookkeeper, 1517 West Wilmette avenue, Wilmette—If there's one thing I think I'm missing, it's getting a glimpse of the rest of the world. I think I'd jump at the opportunity to get a job as companion and secretary to a person who traveled all the time.

Eleanor Davis Southwater, music teacher, 1031 Spruce street, Winnetka—Before I made a job of it, all my spare time was spent in musical fields. There was nothing I enjoyed as much. Now it is my job and I think it's as perfect as any work can be. Young, eager pupils add to the attraction.

Gloria Eberle, student, 260 Mary street, Glencoe—It's possible that I'll change my mind about it, but I think being an actress on the stage would be wonderful. It looks perfect to me to have your name in lights and audiences cheering and still get paid for it.

Mrs. Russel Wells, homemaker, 1024 Cherry street, Winnetka—I have held many different types of jobs and have traveled enough to know that the perfect job is not necessarily in foreign fields, but right in my own home as homemaker and mother. It's a full time job and as perfect as I'd want it.

Several Hundred Needed to Fill Ordnance Battalion

Lieut. Col. A. P. Baston, who is organizing the 1st battalion, 301st regiment, army ordnance corps, said yesterday that several hundred men are still needed to complete the roster. The battalion is being recruited among automobile workers for overseas service in repairing and maintaining mobile equipment. Col. Baston, whose headquarters are in room 1701, 20 North Wacker drive, said his schedule calls for completing the unit's personnel by Saturday.

ASSAILS LABOR FOR EFFORTS TO SMEAR CRITICS

Rep. Smith Warns Bosses Face Aroused Nation.

Howard W. Smith.

Organized labor has set out to impugn those Americans who insist upon a definite war labor policy, Congressman Howard W. Smith [D., Va.] told the Illinois Manufacturers' Costs association last night in the Palmer House. He spoke at the association's 27th annual banquet. His speech was broadcast by W-G-N.

"A concerted propaganda effort has been made to discredit, criticize, and impugn the motives of those of us who insist upon a definite labor policy," Smith declared. "The term 'sixth column' has been invented for that purpose and the American Federation of Labor took up the cry with full page paid advertisments, paid for with money wrung from unwilling victims of the closed shop system, and in those advertisments branded as 'sixth columnists' those of us in public life who voice the demand of the American people for a cessation of labor union practices interfering with our national defense.

Quotes CIO President.

"At the last annual convention of the CIO the president of that organization was quoted in the press as saying: 'Nothing must stop the work of organizing the unorganized of America—not even a great national emergency.'

"It is time for the leaders of American labor to wake up and pay attention to the will of law abiding American citizens. If they continue their stubborn opposition to all legislation to regulate the abuses of their organizations they will arouse a public sentiment and a public opposition that will be destructive of both the good and the bad of labor unionism."

Turning to the 40 hour week, Congressman Smith declared that it could not be denied that the purpose of the plan was to spread employment during the depression.

Problem Solved by War.

"War," he continued, "has solved the problem the 40 hour week was designed to correct. The desperate struggle for national existence demands, on the contrary, all of the labor, all of the time, all of the hours, and all of the energies that all of us put together can exert.

"To persist in following a policy designed, admittedly, to retard production and penalize employers is tragic and intolerable.

"To say that the law does not prohibit work in excess of 40 hours is to beg the question.

"It is true that congress has passed two acts suspending hours of work, but it is also true that in both acts the suspension expires on June 30, less than 90 days away.

Taxpayers Are Employers.

"It is also true that neither of these acts suspends the time and a half overtime pay provisions. These overtime provisions were designed as a penalty on the employer. In our war production the American taxpayers—all of us—are the employers.

"It is unthinkable that the congress should penalize all of the American people in our desperate crisis in order to preserve the social gains of an organized minority."

MORE DYNAMITE IS INJECTED INTO DILLING BATTLE

7th Court Explosion Scheduled Today.

New dynamite was injected yesterday into the already supercharged Dilling divorce case, which is docketed for its seventh eruption today at 1 p. m. before Judge Rudolph Desort. The new developments:

1. Maurice T. Weinshenk, attorney for Albert W. Dilling, plaintiff in the case, asked Judge Desort to order Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling to produce all the records of her Patriotic Research bureau, including lists of contributions received since 1935 from any American or foreign persons "who were acting for any axis government in spreading pro-axis propaganda in the United States."

Asks Correspondence List.

The petition also asked a list of persons Mrs. Dilling may have corresponded with and appended a roster of 33 names, including those of several German agents.

2. Judge Desort deputized a neutral attorney to open Mrs. Dilling's safety deposit vault in the Continental Illinois company, 231 South La Salle street, and take from it a release her attorney, Theodore W. Miller, charged was given Dilling by "one of his 101 mistresses." The paper will be produced in court today.

Dilling's petition demanding records of the Patriotic Research bureau was ordered filed over the objections of Attorney Miller, who told the court:

"This is further evidence of a conspiracy to smear my client. They just want more material for Walter Winchell to broadcast from coast to coast. It is another sample of the blitzkrieg motions they've been putting thru."

Side Issue in Case.

Weinshenk stated that the order was necessary to Dilling's interests, because he had invested his own funds in the bureau which was a part of Mrs. Dilling's campaign against un-American activities. The court now is hearing a side issue in the case; Mrs. Dilling's motion to dissolve a temporary injunction tying up her bank accounts.

Miller's mention of Winchell referred to a broadcast of March 1 after which Mrs. Dilling asked that her husband, Weinshenk, Winchell, and Howard Mayer, a public relations counsel, be cited for contempt because material used in the broadcast later was deleted from Dilling's divorce bill. It accused her of using drugs and liquor to excess.

Her husband's petition yesterday also asked that she be ordered to produce canceled checks and other records that might relate to purchases of brandies, whiskies, or other intoxicants.

HOW GAMBLING FLITTED FROM ROOM TO ROOM

Charge Raiders Visited the Closed Ones.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Evidence was presented to the city civil service commission yesterday concerning a series of gambling rooms in the building on the northeast corner of Clark and Van Buren streets, old time headquarters of Ald. Michael Kenna, boss of the 1st ward for half a century, and named "Hinky Dink Corner" after him. The charge was made that police visited the gambling rooms in that building which were closed, but failed to visit the one particular room open at the time.

While the hearing was in progress, a handbook was found by state's attorney's detectives to be operating in a second floor room at the Brevoort hotel, 120 West Madison street.

Sam Freedman, assistant state's attorney, and Capt. Tom Duffy said the gamblers were providing the betting parlor in the hotel with elaborate equipment, and that the gamblers were served the finest foods. George H. Mink, resident manager of the hotel, was subpenaed to tell the grand jury how the gamblers rented the room. He said they represented their enterprise to him as a bridge club.

Testifies Against Lee.

At the hearing before the city civil service commission, Richard Austin, assistant state's attorney, called Henry Boerema, an investigator for the state's attorney's office, to testify against Sergt. Tom Lee, formerly of the morals [gambling] division. Lee is accused of neglect of duty and making false reports on raids he and his squad made.

Boerema said there was a handbook known as "74 Log" that moved from room to room in the building on the "Hinky Dink Corner," and that such addresses as 74 West Van Buren street, 76½ West Van Buren street, and 78 West Van Buren street were all in that building.

Charge Deliberate Avoidance.

Assistant State's Attorney Ralph Clare explained that the designation "74 Log" on the betting stubs used by the handbook at its various locations, showed it was the main office of the business operated by Joe Logan. He identified Logan as a man being groomed to succeed Kenna as alderman of the 1st ward.

"We'll show that the same set of employés was found in each place," Austin informed the commission. "We'll show that Lee and his squad deliberately kept away from the gambling rooms that were open and deliberately went to those that were closed."

Another address that figured in the day's evidence as to the activities of Sergt. Lee and his gambling squad was 7900 South Ashland avenue.

Sergt. Lee reported visiting 7900 South Ashland avenue 72 times in 1939 and 1940, and finding no gambling there. The state's attorney's office showed the building was being remodeled during the winter of 1939 and spring of 1940, and that it was unoccupied.

MILLS ORDERED TO RAISE OUTPUT OF WAR TEXTILES

Hope to Fill 'Essential' Civilian Needs.

Washington, D. C., April 21 (AP).—The War Production board took an initial step today toward eventual forced conversion of about 88 per cent of the cotton textile industry to war on essential civilian production.

Acting after months of investigation and study, WPB ordered from 20 to 100 per cent of the weaving looms in textile mills now producing various civilian cotton fabrics shifted to manufacture of bagging for sand bags, camouflage cloth and food and agricultural bags.

Cotton mills were granted up to 60 days in which to complete the required change-over, which WPB said is necessary to compensate for losses of burlap supplies, formerly imported from India, and steadily increasing military and farm demands for bagging.

Feel Effect Next Spring.

No appreciable effect on civilian fabrics for such goods as shirts, sport clothes, and towels was expected immediately. However, officials predicted that by next spring such fabrics will present a uniformly coarse appearance—particularly apparent, for example, in expensive broadcloth shirts. At the present time, stocks of fine goods are reported heavy.

Other civilian fabrics which will be affected include those for draperies, upholstery, tapestry, outing flannel, athletic uniforms, sheeting, and bed ticking.

Textile experts said they expect the conversion program to prove a boon to cotton farmers, in the form of increased consumption of raw cotton and expansion of the use of part waste and lower grade cotton. Altho farmers now have no difficulty in disposing of high quality cotton, they find little demand for poorer grades.

Plan Bigger Denim Output.

As a supplement to today's order, which in effect converts about 50 per cent of the cotton textile industry's capacity to war orders, WPB will issue future instructions specifically assigning additional capacity to production of certain essential civilian fabrics—such as denim, used in manufacture of overalls and work clothes.

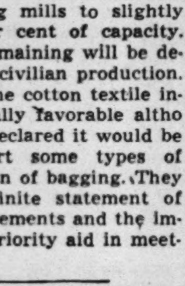
Issuance of these orders will bring the total war or essential civilian output of weaving mills to slightly more than 88 per cent of capacity. The percentage remaining will be devoted to ordinary civilian production.

Reaction from the cotton textile industry was generally favorable altho some spokesmen declared it would be difficult to convert some types of looms to production of bagging. They welcomed the definite statement of government requirements and the implied promise of priority aid in meeting them.

MRS. LEAHY, WIFE OF AMBASSADOR TO FRANCE, DIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, April 21.—Mrs. William D. Leahy, wife of Adm. Leahy, United States ambassador to Vichy, died today at a clinic where she had undergone an operation April 11.



Mrs. William D. Leahy.

The operation at first was considered successful and it had been expected that Mrs. Leahy would be able to accompany her husband, who has been recalled to Washington, D. C., for consultation.

It was stated that a blood clot was the immediate cause of her death.

Embassy officials said Ambassador Leahy would leave for home in accordance with his plans.

Mrs. Leahy, who was 66 years old, was the former Louise Tennant Harrington. She and Adm. Leahy were married on Feb. 3, 1904. Besides her husband, she is survived by a son, William H. Leahy, an officer in the United States navy, and a daughter, who is in Washington, D. C.

No Auto Deaths in City or County for 24 Hours

In the 24 hours that ended at 4 p. m. yesterday no fatalities had been reported from automobile accidents in either the city or county. The totals remained at 231 deaths in the county since Jan. 1 and 182 in Chicago. Injuries totaled 6,131 in the city.

FORMULATE PLAN TO USE YOUTHS IN DEFENSE EFFORT

Chicago Leaders Will Enlist Million.

A program which would enlist more than a million boys and girls of the Chicago metropolitan area as active workers in civilian defense was approved last night by a group of youth leaders meeting in the Chicago Bar association heaquarters at 29 South La Salle street.

Under tentative plans, boys and girls 8 thru 19 years old would perform duties essential to the war effort in small groups sponsored by existing youth organizations or new ones founded by church, civic, and social bodies.

The American Youth Reserves, as the organization will be called, is sponsored by the youth activities division of the Office of Civilian Defense, headed by Kenneth L. [Tug] Wilson, athletic director at Northwestern university.

Divided Into Three Groups.

Within the next few weeks charters will be issued to thousands of community organizations of the AYR, Wilson said. Each will be divided into three groups: Junior American Youth Reserves for boys and girls 8 thru 11 years old; American Youth Reserves for boys and girls 12 thru 15 years old, and the Senior American Youth Reserves for youths 16 thru 19 years old.

The AYR organizations, working under adult leaders of its sponsoring group, will carry out specific tasks related to the civilian defense program. They include messenger service for OCD workers, salvage and conservation campaigns, safety drives, promotion of war gardens, and the sale of war savings bonds and stamps.

Three national youth groups, the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and the Camp Fire Girls, whose civilian defense programs already have been approved by national OCD officials, automatically will become members of the American Youth Reserves, Wilson said.

Sponsors to Direct Groups.

Other youth organizations may become affiliated with the AYR upon application to the youth activities division of the Office of Civilian Defense.

"The American Youth Reserves will be a decentralized organization whose units will be directly under the control of its sponsoring committee," Wilson explained. "Thus, for example, officials of a church group which may sponsor a unit, will supervise all activities. The AYR will be the vehicle thru which youth may engage in appropriate activities related to the war effort."

MRS. C. O. WICKES, YOUNG ESTATE HEIRESS, DIES

Chicago relatives and friends yesterday were advised of the death in Baltimore of Mrs. Catherine Osborn Hobart Wickes, a daughter of Otto Young, multimillionaire Chicago merchant who died in 1906. Mrs. Wickes was one of four daughters of Young, whose estate, placed by his will in trust for the third generation of his heirs, is now estimated at 50 million dollars.

Mrs. Wickes, who was 62 years old, died yesterday at her home in Green Spring Valley, Md., where she had lived more than 30 years. She was widely known in philanthropic and hospital circles, serving as chairman of the executive committee of the women's auxiliary of Johns Hopkins, among other posts.

Otto Young was a Chicago jeweler and a partner in the Fair store. He owned much loop real estate, including the ground on which Carson Pirie Scott's store now stands and the block-long site on Michigan avenue now occupied by the Stevens hotel.

Dancers in Greek Garb Practice in Grant Park

Girls in Greek costumes practiced classic dance routines in front of Buckingham fountain in Grant park yesterday afternoon in preparation for a Victory dance festival in the Aragon ballroom on May 7. The dancers were led by Xenea Kanellos. The festival, in which Greek organizations in Chicago will take part, is part of a program for the preservation and continuation of Greek art and culture in America. Vassos Kanellos is art director of the festival.

TORPEDO 'VICTIM' ALIVE; DEATH OF CHICAGOAN TOLD

Because a seaman reported dead and his sealed body buried by his parents turned up very much alive, the navy yesterday was in the process of rectifying the mistake and had informed the Chicago parents of the dead man that their son is on his way here for reburial.

The Chicago youth was Curtis H. Koch, 22 years old, of 3939 North Oak Park avenue. He was educated at Steinmetz High school and technical schools and entered the navy last Aug. 22, training at Great Lakes. He was killed aboard the torpedoed tanker John D. Gill in the Atlantic on March 14.

The death was reported by the navy as that of Charles H. Koch of Fort Snelling, Minn. The supposed Charles Koch's body was sent home and buried there. When Charles Koch turned up alive a check of finger prints showed the body to be that of Curtis Koch of Chicago. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Koch, were notified of his death yesterday. They expect the body to arrive tomorrow.

Mother's Leg Broken in Bicycle Collision

Mrs. Rebecca Blunt, 37 years old, of 30 Indian Hill road, Kenilworth, suffered a broken right leg last evening when bicycles on which she and her daughter Frances, 9 years old, were riding collided near their home. Mrs. Blunt, who is the wife of Attorney Carleton Blunt, was taken to Evanston hospital.

CALL WATCHMEN STRIKE; PERIL TO WAR WORK SEEN

Police to Guard Plants if Necessary.

Police protection was promised last night for any plants engaged in war work that are left unguarded as a result of a strike of watchmen employed by the Central Watch service, 19 South Wells street.

The strike was called yesterday on a partial basis by the Building Service Employés' International union, one of three organizations claiming to represent the 500 employés of the watch service. The others are the Private Property Protectors union, No. 21485 [AFL], and an independent union.

Tells Company Stand.

Sidney Stackler, head of the watch company, said that only 19 men had been called out.

"We are not against the unionizing of the watchmen," he added. "But there is no recognized bargaining unit and three unions have bombarded us with claims. We don't know with whom we can deal. Meanwhile some of our 4,000 patrons are going unguarded. We notified Sergt. George Barnes of the police labor detail and he assured us that the police would see that, in this emergency, the factories in war work are protected."

Barnes corroborated this. He said he did not know the rights and wrongs of the jurisdictional fight, but that he was determined plants in war work would be made safe against thieves.

Speaking for the striking union, Attorney Daniel D. Carmell said Stackler was wrong on some points.

Says 50 Called Out.

"The number called out was 50, not 19," Carmell asserted, "but none of them guarded defense plants. We will continue to watch such plants. We have signed up 400 of the Central watchmen in local 73 of the international union. Stackler has refused to negotiate with us and we have asked the federal conciliation service to aid in getting settlement."

Recognition of the union is the principal demand of the strikers.

Eugene White of 1429 Jackson boulevard, a watchman, reported to the police Monday night that a bottle had been thrown thru a window of the Oak Manufacturing company at 1260 Clybourn avenue, which makes airplane parts. White works for the Central service. He said a group of men halted him outside, before the bottle was tossed, and demanded that he join a union. He was unable to identify the union.

Former Tobacco Merchant Leaves $159,000 Estate

John M. Meyer, retired wholesale tobacco merchant, left an estate of $159,000, according to his will, which was admitted to probate yesterday by Judge John F. O'Connell in the Probate court. The estate is to be put in trust, the income to go to the widow, Sarah, of 601 North Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park.

BISHOP PAGE, 75, ONCE A CHICAGO RECTOR, IS DEAD

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 21 [Special].—Death came tonight to the Rt. Rev. Herman Page, D. D., fifth bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Michigan from 1924 until his retirement in 1939 and for 14 years previously rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church in Hyde Park, Chicago. He was 75 years old and had been ill for six weeks.

Bishop Page was widely known for his efforts to liberalize the general church's canons on divorce and remarriage. He was chairman for more than 15 years of the Episcopal commission on marriage, divorce, and remarriage.

Since his retirement three years ago, he had made his home here, administering, as provisional bishop, the northern Michigan diocese.

2 Ways of Life, in France and U. S.: 2 Pictures

"The Last Time I Saw Paris," by Elliot Paul. [Random, $2.75.] Published Monday. May choice of the Literary Guild.

"The Making of Tomorrow," by Raoul de Roussy de Sales. [Reynal & Hitchcock, $3.] May choice of the Book of the Month Club.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

It is a coincidence that the week's two most important books should be a brilliant American's nostalgic picture of Paris—which is subtly an interpretation of the French way of life—and a brilliant Frenchman's view of America's way of life and her part in the world today and in the "making of tomorrow." And not the least interesting part of the books is the obvious effect which life abroad has had upon the minds of these two highly sensitive and articulate men.

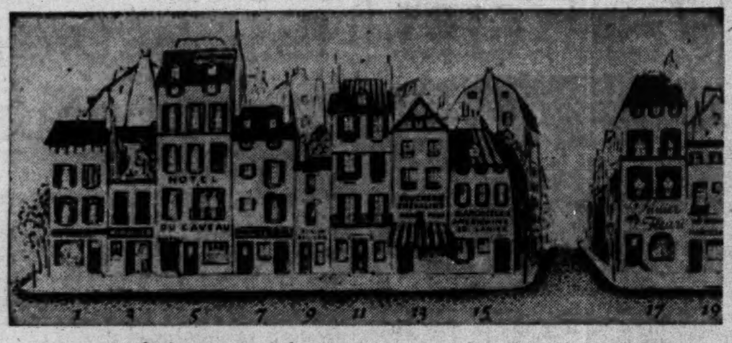
The two books have little else in common, even tho in both of them there is explanation and analysis of why France fell. For Mr. Paul's is a book about people, and the impact of life and events upon them, and Mr. de Sales' is a book about ideas and the impact of ideas upon, not individuals, but upon whole peoples.

"The Last Time I Saw Paris" divides itself, like all Gaul, into three parts.

The first part is the keenest, most vivid, tender, irreverent, sometimes ribald, always enchanting book about Paris that any one ever wrote. Elliot Paul lived, off and on, for 18 years in Paris in the tiny Rue de la Huchette on the left bank, a street wholly untouched by the annual spate of American tourists. There Elliot Paul came to know the inhabitants of the little street, from cocotte to judge, in the peculiarly general way in which foreigners often do get to know every one from high to low in the social scale, and in the especially intimate way that good newspaper men become very quickly an integral part of the life of which they choose to make themselves a part.

Elliot Paul loved the Rue de la Huchette and every one of the characters who lived in it—either because he felt affection for them or because they made superb copy—and the stories which he tells about them often literally make you burst with laughter. This panorama of lusty living is highlighted with the author's literary style, which is at the same time sparklingly brilliant and utterly unpretentious and earthy — like the Mark Twain prose.

'The Last Time I Saw Paris'



A part of the Rue de la Huchette, as shown in the amusing end papers for Eliot Paul's "The Last Time I Saw Paris," reviewed today. The author's Paris home was at No. 5.

The two short blocks of the Rue de la Huchette are immortal in these pages, as are the characters which make this book of fact so much more alluring and more truly novel than most novels.

Then comes the second part, which is composed mostly of letters that Elliot Paul's Paris friends wrote to him when he went to Spain—especially those written by the fabulously sophisticated and tragic little Hyacinthe. And finally there is the third part, when the Rue de la Huchette and all of its life were lost to Hitler, when the reader never laughs, and something in him, too, dies.

Mr. Paul goes into the reasons for France's fall which, when the book is finished, the reader realizes had nothing whatever to do with the simple people of the Rue de la Huchette.

Unlike "The Last Time I Saw Paris," which is a book to make you feel, "The Making of Tomorrow" is a book to make you think. Raoul de Roussy de Sales, for the last decade a resident of the United States, foreign correspondent for the Havas [French] news agency and Paris Soir, one of France's most important newspapers, has, he says at the close of his book, "raised several questions concerning the major trends which are discernible in these times of war and revolution."

"My purpose," he continues, "has not been to answer these questions, for the simple reason that I do not believe that any one today can make a synthesis of the contradictions which they imply."

If Mr. de Sales has not given us the answers, he has laid so skilfully on the table the historical, philosophical, and political components of the problem of tomorrow that no one can read this book without having his processes of thought speeded up and tightened up. And, after reading his careful analysis of the German way of thought and life, Hitler becomes for the reader less of an individual phenomenon than the symbol of the mass man of German culture, and the present war not the result of the Versailles treaty or Germany's economic abasement or any of the popularly accepted causes, but of the inherent German belief, the result of centuries' "influences which have taught him that the great mission of the Teutonic people is to overthrow the western world, to rid themselves of its moral discipline, of its rationalism, and of its concept that there is a law above men."

Three forces motivate the actions of men today, the author says, "nationalism, collectivism, and pacifism," and his exposition of the part which each has played in the present state of the world is extremely interesting.

Mr. de Sales, in his interpretation of the American way of life and thought, has the advantage that an intelligent foreigner always has over the native—he sees phenomena that native eyes are blind to from sheer familiarity. He sees America, however unconsciously, the greatest influence in the modern world and, however unwillingly, destined to preëminent leadership if democracy is to survive.

2 New Authors, Each 21, Write Unusual Novels

"Seventeenth Summer," by Maureen Daly. [Dodd-Mead, $2.50.] Published yesterday. Intercollegiate Literary Fellowship prize novel.

"Deadlier Than the Male," by James Gunn. [Duell, Sloan & Pearce, $2.50.] To be published tomorrow.

These two novels are written by 21 year old writers, Maureen Daly, who will be graduated in June from Rosary college, River Forest, and James Gunn, a senior at Leland Stanford university. They are as unlike as any two books could possibly be, but each is startling.

"Seventeenth Summer" is startling because it is so beautifully simple and moving. It is the story of the first impact of love at 17, of its shyness, its sweetness, its tentativeness. Never once does Maureen Daly record what happened that "seventeenth summer" with the condescension or the sophistication of 18 or 20 or 40 or 70 [as many young writers try to write]. Every thought, every emotion, every heightening of beauty and sorrow and deepening of the color of life and happiness that her heroine experiences is the essence of 17.

Nothing actually happens, except a trip out to Pete's coke parlor on the edge of the lake, or a party now and then. There is recorded only the heroine's quiet family life. But every moment of that seventeenth summer is alive in these unspoiled pages and all of them miraculously quickened by the touch of first love.

Youthful Novelist

Maureen Daly, 21 year old author of "Seventeenth Summer," reviewed today by Fanny Butcher.

If Maureen Daly can preserve her intense honesty of observation thru the excitement of winning the Intercollegiate Literary fellowship and the distractions of the book's certain success and does not permit herself to become "sophisticated," she may well become a really important chronicler of American life and emotions.

James Gunn has started his career in exactly the opposite fashion from Maureen Daly. He has not taken his material from his own experience or observation at all, but has made a synthesis of successful "tough guy" writers. In "Deadlier Than the Male"—which, altho it has three murders in it, is really a study of abnormal psychologies and not a mystery at all—any reader will recognize the influence of James Cain, John Steinbeck [in the "Of Mice and Men" mood], James Farrell, Hemingway, and all of the hilarious chroniclers of drunks. The result is startling because, altho you can recognize all of the parts, the whole is not the sum of them, but somehow the sum of Mr. Gunn. F. B.

H. L. Mencken Edits New Book of Quotations

"A New Dictionary of Quotations," selected and edited by H. L. Mencken. [Knopf, $7.50.] Published Monday.

Your literary editor is not slightly zany when she says that she has enjoyed reading a book of quotations more than she has many a novel of late. It's a fact that this new collection made by H. L. Mencken "on historical principles," as its frontispiece declares, has been done with such wit and wisdom by its editor that the wit and wisdom of mankind take on new glitter and new profundity. Thru the brilliant device of dating the quotations, the collection gives you a sort of historic survey of what was thought about everything from "Abbott" to "Zoo," from 750 B. C. to 1940 A. D. It's fun to open the book at any page, and much more fun to look up some subject you're intrigued by. Mr. Mencken is a great creative scholar as well as a great creative critic, and this vast and imposing new dictionary of quotations, the work of 25 years, will take its place beside his scholarly "The American Language." About 300 new detective books are published every year. You can't read them all. It's hard to find the best. But there's one sure guide. If a book is one like The Case of the Empty Tin, the latest Perry Mason thriller by Erle Stanley Gardner; or Evil Under the Sun, the Hercule Poirot masterpiece by Agatha Christie; or A Pinch of Poison, the Mr. and Mrs. North gem by Frances and Richard Lockridge it's sure to be good! And these three current novels are offered to you as this month's selection of the DETECTIVE BOOK CLUB.

How This Club Prevents You From Missing the Best Each Month

Every month you are offered, in one convenient volume, three of the finest recent detective books—by the best authors. Each is one of the season's fastest-selling mysteries by the finest writers in the field—books selling everywhere for $2.00 each. But, as a member of the Club, you get three of them (a $6.00 value) for only $1.89! You do not have to take a volume a month — you may accept as few as four during the whole year and still save two-thirds the usual price on those you purchase.

Your books are delivered right to your door—fresh, clean, unopened, and so attractively bound that month by month they will grow into a handsome library of modern detective masterpieces.

These one-volume editions may be purchased only through the DETECTIVE BOOK CLUB and not through any other source.

Will You Accept a CHARTER MEMBERSHIP?

By accepting this FREE book now, as a Charter Membership Gift from the Club, you will not be obligated to take every month's selection during the next twelve months. You may take as few as four during that time. You may cancel your membership whenever you wish. A description of each forthcoming selection will be sent you in advance, and you may reject any volumes you do not want.

Each month's selection will contain three recent, full-length mysteries by today's greatest masters. For example: your first three-in-one volume contains The Case of the Empty Tin, by Erle Stanley Gardner; Agatha Christie's recent baffler, Evil Under the Sun; and Frances and Richard Lockridge's newest puzzler, A Pinch of Poison—three of the season's greatest detective best-sellers.

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

From the director of a local social service organization:

"Dear Miss Brown: Here comes another request for help, but it is so deserving that I am sending it on to you.

"There are nine young men, all suffering from heart disease, in a local sanitarium. Their convalescence will be a long one, and I understand they will probably have to remain there for at least six to nine months. The following letter comes from one of these patients:

"'I wonder if you could help in any way. I am a young man, and very much interested in sports. At the present time I am confined to bed because of a rheumatic heart. I'm afraid I will be here for some time and I would like to know if there is any way in which we could obtain a radio. There are eight other men in the same ward and we would all like to be able to listen to the broadcasts of baseball and other sports.'"

All these men come from very needy families and they are, for the present, at least, unable to help themselves. The institution uses alternating current, and a worker will arrange transportation of a radio if some reader has one to give. A long period of invalidism faces this group and any one able to fill this request will be making a genuine contribution to their happiness and entertainment.

Women in War Work . . . . By India Moffett

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and will answer questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

Joan Winters, musical comedy and radio star, who in real life is the wife of Frank W. Bering, returned to Chicago yesterday from a visit to Camp Forrest, Tenn., where she was officially fêted and named "Buddy of the 108th Quartermaster Regiment."

Miss Winters was presented with the silver shoulder eagles of a colonel by Col. James U. Sammis, commander of the unit. She also received the unit's official insignia bearing the legend "Sine Qua Non."

An official review was staged for the guest, with an officers' dinner afterward and a dance given by the men. Miss Winters has been in touch with the regiment ever since it left Chicago more than a year ago. On Valentine's day she sent the men in the regiment a valentine weighing more than 1,000 pounds. It contained cigarets, candy, and scores of other items for the men in the regiment.

MRS. FRANK BERING.

Notice to cake bakers: The Service Men's center, 176 West Washington street, is sending you a real SOS. The military appetite has wrought havoc on all available supplies and unless you get to work with your ovens and produce some angel and devil's foods, there'll be a shortage of material for the sweet tooth at center parties tonight and tomorrow. The center really needs these cakes; so make your slogan for the day: Keep 'em Eating.

The Decorators Camp Furnishing committee no sooner had completed the task of providing furnishings for 62 day rooms at Camp Forrest than its members heard about 800 navy signal corps men at the University of Chicago who were in need of a few comforts, so the committee started another fund raising campaign. Any one who would like to contribute may send her check to the Decorators Camp Furnishing fund at 700 North Michigan avenue.

The committee appointed its vice president, Nina M. Bingham, to go down to the university and see what was needed. She found an immense lounge, completely empty, so she and her co-workers plan to install simple but comfortable chairs, desks, lamps, etc. Already a kind friend has given a grand piano, so a good start has been made. There is no group more active in war work than the Decorators, for in addition to furnishing the 62 day rooms at the army camp, they last year sent 20 rolling kitchens and $10,000 for hospital beds to the British.

J. Winstanley Briggs, Arthur L. Beverly, Lydia Lee, Marjorie Forker, Mabel Schamberg, Cornelia Conger, and Elizabeth Burton are some of those working with the committee.

A small American flag, mounted on a base which bears the pledge of allegiance to the flag, today adorns the desk of every person working in the headquarters of the Illinois State Council of Defense at 188 West Randolph street.

The flags were the gift of Mrs. Ednyfed Williams of the Ambassador hotel, who has been devoting her efforts to a more general display of the flag during wartime. In the first World war, Mrs. Williams was the originator and co-chairman with Lolita Armour [now Mrs. John J. Mitchell] of the "Food for France Shop."

Gray Is Urged for Your New Spring Coat

BY REA SEEGER.

Try a gray spring coat for a change from the usual navy or black choices. For a gray coat will prove to be just as smart an all-purpose foundation for any spring or summer wardrobe as a black or navy model. The fun of juggling costume accessories in color contrast will be just as interesting as assembling contrasts for navy or black, even more so, because there are so many new combines and possible contrasts with this neutral shade.

There are many stunning new gray coats in the shops and stores. Some look like particularly smart coat dresses, with sharply pressed inverted pleats in the skirt at each side in front. Some have snowy white piqué collar and cuffs and some are handsomely belted with leather. Silver gray wool, as soft and fine as the fabrics used for dressmaker costumes is another idea for the young looking full skirted coat with loose, wide, long sleeves. Mixtures that consist of a black and white get-together are especially smart street finds.

The popular reefer coats in light, medium, and dark tones of gray are numerous. The chalk striped affairs are slick as a whistle with snappy accents of white cuffs to the fitted long sleeves and a tiny band of a matching white collar or lapels. Many of the best finds in gray topcoats are matched with simple two piece suits ready to make a high fashion, three piece ensemble without which no well planned wardrobe is complete.

Many dress parade gray coats feature the graceful soft dressmaker details—bow trim, band accent, soft tied sash-belts, braided bands on sleeves, braided trim along shoulder seams, and similar ideas. But it's the many flattering shades of gray that make these coat collections so outstanding and so distinctive after seasons of navy or black.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

As the Office Girl Sees Him.

The American Business council, which sounded out the Junior Association of Commerce on masculine preferences in the office-girl-of-all-work, promptly turned around and asked the "ABC-ers" their reactions to the men in the office.

To the question "Are you as critical [or appreciative] of how men dress as men are of how girls dress?" 99 per cent of the girls said "yes." Fifty-seven per cent felt that men should dress conservatively; 39 per cent preferred them to dress "with some imagination." Sixty-four per cent liked double breasted suits; 34 per cent single breasted.

As for shirts, 91 per cent voted for white. Ties—the largest percentage went for stripes [35 per cent]; small figures next [34 per cent]; quiet colors [20 per cent]; solid colors 8 per cent. Not one girl voted for bold colors.

"Would you like to see men go to business in contrasting jackets and trousers, rather than matching suits?" No, siree, said 74 per cent of the business girls. But exactly 100 per cent answered "yes" to the query: "Do you think men should be as careful of their own grooming as they expect their feminine associates to be?"

On the subject of grooming, the girls objected to—in order—infrequent haircuts; disregard of those highly advertised products about which your best friends should tell you; unkempt nails; unpressed suits; unshined shoes; white shoes with business suits; suspenders in evidence, rolled up sleeves, etc.; droopy collegiate socks, and gaudy ties.

After adroitly getting this off their chests, the members of this enterprising group [directed by Frances Baker] . . . went back to work.

The Day's Work.

Overheard by Dorothy: "I had to take six letters today—doesn't that seem like a lot? And . . . five of them had to be done over! O, well! I don't like the work anyway."

Adds Dorothy: "I wonder what this young woman would do with 85 or 100 letters in one day!"

All Is Routine.

A girl, Faye Marley, sprained her ankle. She wasn't, she writes, in too much pain to enjoy a sense of release as she rode along the lake front on her way to the hospital. A DAY OFF from her desk—from the persons with whom she must be pleasant or firm.

And then she arrived at the outpatient department of the hospital. "Droning voices, wailing infants in the clinic, quietly hurrying feet, single toned bells, the swish of mops, the closing of doors, the running of water. And smells! Disinfectant permeating everything. The sights? The sick, halt, maimed; the too-young mothers with their too-quiet bundles of pink; the too-young nurses with their too-professional faces; the chatting interns, the established doctors. Where was Dr. Kildare? Where was romance? A stretcher wheeled by, empty. Who was going to be on it? Who had been on it?"

"The doctor," she continues, "who bandaged my ankle was interrupted by four phone calls before he was thru. And then I rode home, thru streets away from the lake, now, and I saw housewives with their children; I saw women dressed for luncheons or for the sterner business of war work. They were all doing jobs that were routine, like mine; they all had people to be pleasant with, or firm." All at once it came to her—"Perhaps, with a crutch, tomorrow I could get down to my desk."

U. S. Announces Regulations of Feminine Dress

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 21.—The War Production board today made a dozen changes in its regulation of women and children styles announced a couple of weeks ago. They are:

1. Bias sleeves, prohibited in the original order, are now permitted except when the cloth is plaid. Bias sleeves of plaid cloth are still prohibited because of the waste of material involved in matching.

2. Wool interlining, prohibited in the original order, may be used if the cloth was woven prior to April 9.

3. Fur trimmings may be used with a wool cloth lining when the wool under the fur is an integral part of the body of the coat. This provision makes it unnecessary to cut out material under fur when that material is actually a part of the body of the coat.

4. The top of a two piece dress is required to conform with the length restriction on jackets.

5. The prohibition against cuffs on slacks is extended to riding breeches, jodhpurs, ski pants, play suits, overalls, and coveralls.

6. A blouse made of any material may not have more than one patch pocket. Previously this restriction applied to blouses made of rayon, silk, cotton, linen, or a mixture of these materials.

7. A jacket may have a two piece back with a belt attached, provided the belt is stitched on in such a way that there is not more than a half inch overlay of wool cloth on wool cloth at the upper and lower side of the belt. In the original order a belt was not permitted on a wool jacket.

8. Flaps on patch pockets are prohibited. The original order did not refer to flaps.

9. The restrictions on pleats in skirts are lifted, provided the quantity of material used in the skirt comes within the restrictions. That is, if a woman does not care to have a skirt as full as is permitted under the order she may use up the difference in pleats.

10. A schedule of maximum sweeps [circumference of a skirt at the bottom] for suit skirts is added. This was omitted from the original order. It permits a sweep of 78 inches for a size 16, with corresponding sweeps for other sizes.

11. The restrictions of the order are lifted as to historical costumes for theatrical productions, provided that such garments are not sold for other purposes unless altered to conform to the provisions of the order.

12. Ensembles [matching garments sold at a unit price] may be sold if they were in the process of manufacture before April 9, but not if the process started thereafter.

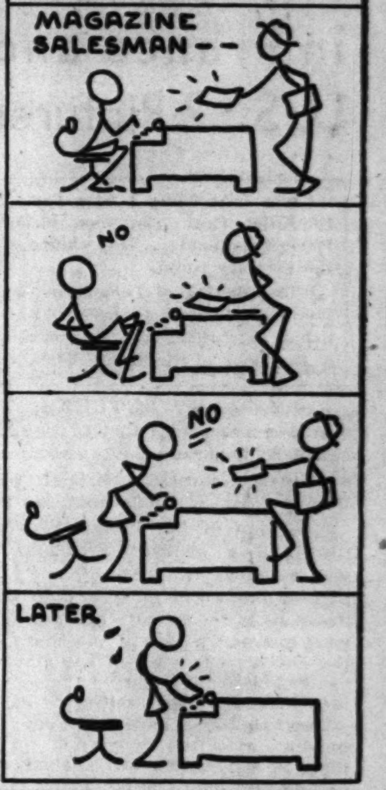
Dear Diary BY BECKY



Gov. Green to Address Congress of DAR at Opening Session Here

Important program details for the formal opening of the 51st continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution were announced yesterday when Gov. Dwight Green agreed to defer his vacation in order to address the thousands of delegates and guests who will be assembled on Monday night, May 4, in Medinah temple. Gov. Green's will be the principal talk that night. Mayor Kelly will give the city's greetings to the society, which for the first time in its history is holding its annual meeting outside of Washington, D. C. It also was announced that Edith Mason, who is a DAR member, would sing at the opening ceremonies. The congress will continue for four days, with headquarters at the Stevens hotel.

Far Away Points Beckon Many City Young Men to War Duty

BY JUDITH CASS.

STARTING off on the hazardous journey across seas somewhere is Mrs. Edward H. Bennett's son, Joseph A. Mead. He was accepted by an airways company for foreign service and is departing shortly. Mrs. Bennett and Mr. Mead's sister, Mrs. George W. Merck Jr., whose husband is an ensign in the navy, are in New York to see the adventurer off, and will return to Lake Forest at the end of the week.

Mrs. James H. Douglas Sr. came into Chicago yesterday for a family farewell luncheon for Mr. Douglas Jr., who now is a major in the army air force. He departed for Washington, D. C., yesterday afternoon. Arthur E. Dixon III, who also has been commissioned as a major in the army air force, left a few days ago.

Another Lake Forester who has been commissioned similarly is Maj. Kingman Douglass. He has gone to Washington temporarily, and his wife and their three sons plan to join him this summer and are putting their Lake Forest home up for rent. Kingman Douglass Jr. will be graduated from St. Mark's school early in June and will enter Yale this summer. Jimmy attends the Menlo school in California, and Angus is at home.

Evans Spalding Is Made Captain in the Marines.

Evans Spalding has been commissioned a captain in the marines, and has gone east to attend an aviation intelligence school. Duncan Hodges, now a captain in the signal corps, will depart on Sunday for temporary duty in Washington. Ralph Hines, now a lieutenant commander in the navy, has gone east for special training.

Capt. Graham Aldis of the army engineer corps, who served for several months here, has gone to Iceland. Albert B. Pattou now is a major in the army ordnance, stationed here. Lieut. Frederick H. Scott Jr., who recently completed his training with the Aviation Volunteer Specialists, is leaving today for the west coast.

Lieut. Errett Van Nice and Lieut. "Hick" Graham, both of the A. V. S., are to be stationed in the southeast. Mrs. Van Nice is expected at home at the end of the week after a visit with her husband. The Pump room and the Buttery won't seem the same when Jerry Freshman is no longer there to greet friends. His induction into the army will take place in about one month.

Voters' League Arranges Discussion of War Aims.

The National League of Women Voters has arranged an interesting discussion on "The Freedom We Are Fighting For," by the Chinese ambassador, Dr. Hu Shih, and Richard H. Tawney at 8:30 o'clock next Wednesday night in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House. Dr. Hu will speak on "What China Is Fighting For" and Mr. Tawney, who is adviser on social and politico-economic affairs at the British embassy in Washington, will speak on "What Britain Is Fighting For."

The Lake Shore League of Women Voters will hold its annual meeting at noon today at the Casino, with Mrs. John Collier, president, presiding. After luncheon, Freda Kirchwey will speak on "The Fight for Democracy." She has come to Chicago to help Mrs. Emmons Blaine in organizing the Union for Democracy. In private life Miss Kirchwey is Mrs. Evans Clark. Her son, Michael Clark, is a member of the British-American Ambulance corps and was on his way to duty in Egypt aboard the Zamzam when it was sunk. Mr. Clark, director of the Twentieth Century Fund, has traveled extensively in Central and South America as an emissary for Nelson A. Rockefeller in the development of cultural relations between the Americas.

At the speakers' table with Mrs. Collier and Miss Kirchwey will be Mrs. Blaine, Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mrs. Arthur Cable, and Mrs. Florence Fifer Bohrer. Mrs. Mitchell Follansbee, Mrs. Augustus A. Carpenter, and Mrs. Sydney Stein all have reserved tables.

Ann Webster's Betrothal Announced by Parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Webster of Evanston announce the engagement of their daughter, Ann, to the Rev. Edward Laurence Baxter, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Edward W. Baxter of Frankfort, Ky. Miss Webster, a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Roberts of Frankfort, is expected at home soon from the southern city, where she has been visiting relatives.

Miss Webster was graduated from Rockford college and studied at Northwestern university. Her fiancé, an alumnus of Centre college in Ken-

Birthday.

It was a feast of love and reason last night at the Chicago club when members of the Wine and Food society gave a dinner for G. Bernhard Anderson, on the occasion of his 75th birthday.

The occasion was a surprise to Mr. Anderson, who is head director, or "Sir Bacchus," of the society. Robert Hall McCormick ["Lucullus"], Dr. Kurt W. Ossendorff, chief cellarer, and Ernest Kuhn, chief cook, took exceptional pains with the menu and wines, and M. A. Hagel, scribe, headed the committee responsible for this touching testimonial printed on the cover of the menu:

Greetings, homage, and felicitations to G. Bernhard Anderson, master of arts of the Universities of Upsala and Harvard, knight and commander of the Order of the North Star of Sweden, vice consul of Sweden in Chicago since 1915, learned in the law, rich in culture, and adept in the art of living.

The memory of his friendship will go with us all the days of our years.

These greetings from his comrades in the Wine and Food society of Chicago, over which he has presided at many notable dinners. Upon the happy occasion of his 75th birtheday:

Skal to Sir Bacchus, skal.

A Foine Thing.

Grateful to a Chicago girl for the letters and gifts she'd sent to him during his first lonely days as a private at Camp Haan, Cal., Bill Feely of Joliet, a witty young Irish lad, sent this "kiddiegram":

I would like to kiss you if I could because you have been so very good.

Pasque Flowers.

The faint perfume of pasque flower bloom
Attracts the honey bees,
And stony hills assert the wills
Of pioneers like these.

Their starry eyes denote surprise
That thru 10 hundred years
The life of man, and all his plan,
Is patterned by his tears.
—Martha Wendt.

Comic Relief.

Members of a first aid class in Glencoe have applied themselves so seriously to learning their lessons well that they've had little opportunity for an occasional laugh. One came the other evening, however, when the instructor took up the subject of hypothetical emergencies.

"What would you do," she asked a man in the front row, "if you drove into a parking section of the forest preserve and saw a man slumped over the wheel of his car?"

Without hesitation the man replied: "I would walk over quietly, open the car door, and if the man appeared to be unconscious I'd stand guard over his tires.

The Housewife

A great aid to the career girl or to any woman who likes to launder her best lingerie at home is a product which not only removes dirt but also takes out stains such as those left by lipstick, by grease, etc. Its makers claim it will even remove ink and iodine stains. Packaged in envelopes you can buy a medium or large sized box of them. The medium sized box holds enough envelopes for 40 washings.

Pearl Harbor Eye-Witness Thrills Women

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

The words "Remember Pearl Harbor" will mean a thousand times more to the 600 women and the few men who heard Mrs. Charles Gates of Denver and Honolulu talk yesterday than they ever have before. And if every one of the women in the audience was not inspired to step up her work with the women's division of the Chicago and Cook county war savings staff of the United States treasury by Mrs. Gates' dramatic portrayal of the happenings on that historic 7th of December, we will be greatly surprised. "That should be recorded and played to every man, woman, and child in the United States," was the remark one woman who is slow to be roused to such a pitch of enthusiasm made when Mrs. Gates finished.

Dr. Jan Masaryk, minister of foreign affairs of the provisional Czecho-Slovak government in London and son of the late founder and president, Thomas G. Masaryk of Czecho-Slovakia, and his American born wife agreed with this opinion, without a doubt. When he, scheduled as the principal speaker, arose to follow Mrs. Gates he said: "After that classic account of what is gospel truth there is nothing else to be said. There should be no more speeches after that terrific one. I won't get over it for a week. I hope you'll have time, ma'am, to tell your story many times."

And he only went on for a minute or two, but that was long enough to charm every woman in the ballroom of the Drake, for he is noted as one of the most attractive men in public life today.

"The Statue of Liberty is in very great danger," he warned, "for at the moment we are not winning the war, but we are going to win it." He took the sting out of saying he was not going to thank the women for what they had done because they hadn't done enough with a delightful smile.

The luncheon meeting was given by Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, chairman of the women's division, and the executive committee for the workers who have been laboring without fanfare or fuss for several months and who yesterday heard that the total of their sales of stamps and bonds so far amounts to $11,043,656. The amount was announced by Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, executive vice chairman. Brief reports were given by chairmen of various committees and a short talk was made by Mrs. Frederick Atkinson of Minneapolis, representing Secretary Morgenthau of the treasury. She was enthusiastic in her praise for what the women of Chicago and Cook county have accomplished and urged them to continue their work in assisting the men's division to realize the Illinois quota of $81,000,000 a month.

"When Hell Came to Heaven," Mrs. Gates called her talk, which was an eyewitness account of what happened at Pearl Harbor. She saw much of what happened from her winter home on Diamond Head, and altho she adhered to the printed instructions given to her when she landed from the Clipper in this country about not telling anything that might be of value to the enemy, she did tell enough to make her listeners realize more than any straight news reports have done, how great was our unpreparedness, how extensive was the fifth column movement in the Hawaiian Islands, and how the complacency that still is apparent here was in evidence there.

"It couldn't happen in that paradise," she said, "but it did. You are just as safe in Chicago as we were in Honolulu, make no mistake about that."

There were gasps of amazement when she told of the little man who had been selling vegetables to the wives of the army and navy men appearing in a Japanese navy uniform as soon as the attack started; of various others who signaled from the ground the way for the low flying enemy planes to proceed; of the fact that all of those suspected of subversive actions were in custody two hours after it became known that it was an enemy bombing and not practice work for the army or the navy that was going on that early Sunday morning.

She was full of praise for the way in which every one met the disaster and for the way in which affairs have been administered since then in the islands, but she was bitter in her denunciation of those responsible for our not having been on the alert.

"The blame lies in Washington, with the army and the navy, and all the way down to you and you and you and me!" she thundered. "There is no time for political, religious, or labor disputes; make sure now that we are prepared. Let nothing stop our production. And above all, never again let 12 bombers fly away from our western shore into the skies without even one single round of ammunition."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 21.—Wartime shortages of tin and of rubber may force America to change its palate as well as its cooking habits.

Grocers soon will be telling housewives, "We aren't able to buy canned cherries any more." And, it was learned today in the bureau of agricultural chemistry and engineering, in a few months grocers may be able to add: "But we have these warpack cherries if you care to try them."

Research in government and private laboratories is emphasizing dehydration as a substitute for tin cans. The glass jar or bottle requires can. The glass jar or bottle requires a metal or plastic top and with some foods a rubber or cork gasket, all scare materials.

The work on dehydration became intensive about a year ago when food exports to England became heavy. By drying milk, eggs, and certain fruits and vegetables, bulk and weight were reduced to conserve shipping space.

Today, America's armed forces serving abroad are learning to enjoy these foods. And tomorrow, in the opinion of some of the agricultural department men, foods in these forms will be entering civilian pantries.

"Some of these dried foods, such as beans and corn, are older than the canned ready to serve variation," a department spokesman said. "But housewives preferred the easier form, and industry could cater to this preference when we had plenty of tin.

"Other foods such as milk, eggs, and soups have been on the market dehydrated for several years, but the public's taste preferred the liquid forms. Palate is habit to a large measure. Because the dried foods can be marketed in waxed paper, for example, the civilians may have to learn to like different tastes. The domestic transportation shortage, while not as acute as overseas shipping, also is a factor favoring the future of dehydration."

Overseas shipments of 27 million pounds of potatoes, for example, now can be reduced to 3 million pounds. The army has ordered 18 million pounds of dehydrated potatoes, onions, carrots, cabbages, beets, rutabagas, and sweet potatoes. Powdered eggs, milk, fruits, and soups also are on the soldier's menus overseas.

Dehydrated meats are in an experimental stage. Thus far, lean beef, mutton, and goats' meat have been produced satisfactorily, but pork has proved to be too fatty.

Lemonade has been dehydrated into crystals, 11 ounces producing a gallon of vitamin impregnated refreshment. A pound of dried eggs is the equivalent of three dozen liquid eggs. Five pounds of powdered chicken soup will make 25 gallons of soup.

INSTALMENT XLV.

KIDNAPING INTERRUPTED.

Dave judged he'd allowed Pete enough of a headstart, and he saddled his fresh horse, mounted, and headed again toward Hilliard. There was a heaviness of spirit upon him that he couldn't shake.

What they had planned tonight was a last desperate measure, and he knew Hyam could be hidden for only a few hours, or days at the most. After that, if Ives didn't return, or returned from Seco camp with nothing that would help them, then Dave knew they were finished. True, Beth Hilliard would have received a fair price for Chevron, but Gove and Chance, who had lied and framed and murdered, came off free, while he was hunted out of the country. He wondered bitterly if his words to Beth the other night had been believed, and he doubted it. She was loyal to Gove, and nothing short of a clumsy blunder on Gove's part would change her.

He circled above Hilliard and paused on the lip of the canyon, looking down upon the town. It seemed deserted, altho there were lights in the hotel, store, and saloon. But the tierails were empty. He had succeeded in pulling most of the posse away from town to the north in the last three days.

He left his horse in the timber, and afoot took to the wagon road above town. When he came to the bridge, he paused and looked at the hotel. Lamps were lighted in the lobby, but there seemed to be nobody around. Had Hyam joined the posse?

Dave slipped down the bank and hunkered down beneath the bridge, waiting for Pete. He put his head on his folded arms, and was immediately asleep.

"Con's not there," Pete murmured.

"Hyam in town?"

"I didn't want to ask the barkeep."

Dave rose wearily. "The street clear?"

"The whole town is, far as I can make out."

Dave was silent a moment, then asked, "Sure Con wasn't upstairs?"

"The barkeeper said no." He peered in the darkness at Dave. "You want to risk it?"

"We got to," Dave said. "You go in and look for Hyam. I'll move up to the veranda to the south of the door. Toll him out, with his back to me. I'll rap him over the head, then you hand him over the railing to me and I'll follow the river back to Con's."

Pete nodded and climbed the bank, Dave behind him. Pete went ahead up the steps. When Dave reached the top step, he saw Pete haul up in the doorway, then turn, look back, and tilt his head toward the lobby. Softly, Dave moved up against the wall, and when he was set, Pete went on.

Dave heard Pete say, "Hyam," twice, and then there was a blurred, answering grunt. Hyam, Dave judged, had been roused from a nap in one of the lobby chairs.

Pete said, "Miss Hilliard's down at Rollins. She'd like to see you."

There was a pause, and then Hyam said in a skeptical voice, "Miss Hilliard left home a half hour ago."

"Have her come up."

Pete's voice took on an edge. "There's nothin' I'l rather do than kick you down there, Hyam. You want me to?"

A chair creaked, and then Hyam drawled, "You couldn't do it, but it won't be necessary to try."

Dave drew his gun, looked swiftly down the street, saw nobody, and then hugged the wall.

Pete and Hyam stepped thru the door almost together, Hyam a little ahead of Pete. As he stepped onto the veranda, Hyam turned his head. He caught the motion of Dave's downswinging arm, dodged back into Pete, and yelled wildly, "Wallace! Here's Wallace!"

Pete whipped an arm around his neck, choking off his cries, and Dave clipped him savagely in the jaw with his fist. Hyam sagged in Pete's arms, and Dave knelt down, saying swiftly, "Put him across my back."

Upstairs they heard the sound of tramping feet.

Dave rose, Hyam across his shoulder, and said, "Hit for under the bridge, Pete! Move!"

Pete lunged past him and down the steps. Dave was halfway down them when a window in the second story above the veranda slammed open and a man bawled, "There he is!" And a gun went off.

Pete Framm paused, streaked up his gun and sent a shot at the window. The answering shot boomed into the plankwalk. Somebody was lunging down the steps inside, taking them three at a time.

Dave knew instantly that this was it. They couldn't hide under the bridge, nor could he reach his horse.

He yelled, "Light out, Pete. I'll catch up with you!"

Pete ran toward him, now, saying, "Drop him, Dave, and get your horse!"

And then the barkeep from the Olympus, sawed-off shotgun in his hand, slammed thru the door of the Olympus. He saw Dave, Hyam still on his shoulder, running across the street. He whipped up his shotgun and let go with one barrel. The range was long, but the shot still had enough power to sting savagely as it pelted Dave's side.

He was on the far walk now, Pete behind him, and two men were now shooting from the hotel. A third had covered the bridge.

Pete drove the man in the door back into the lobby and said with rising excitement, "What's the word, Dave?"

The bartender let go again, and the shot raked along the front of a warehouse. Another puncher, shooting on the run, piled down the boardwalk toward them, and the man on the bridge opened up.

Dave knew this was the finish. He said, "Cut down the river, Pete, and take a chance. So long!"

He approached the door of the warehouse, kicked it savagely, and when it swung on its cracking hinges, he lunged in. His foot went thru the rotting floor and he crashed on his face, Hyam sailing over his head. Pete lunged in behind him, kicked the door shut, then ran to the boarded up window. Raising his foot, he kicked a pair of boards loose, poked his gun thru and emptied it at the hotel.

"No chance," Pete said comfortably. Dave could hear him loading his gun.

"Listen, kid," he said swiftly, "You've still got a chance in the river. Take it, but hurry it up!"

"I'm stickin'," Pete said.

"Damn you, you don't see it!" Dave said angrily. "This is it!"

"Sure it is. I bought in, didn't I?"

Then Dave heard a voice lift into the night, calling: "You back there in the river, Monty?" It was the voice of Decker, the old jailer.

And from back of the warehouse there came the answer, "We got two men back here, Al."

Dave moved over to Hyam and lifted the gambler's gun. He was still unconscious from the savage blow on the jaw.

Facts No Married Woman Should Be Denied

It is every wife's right to know certain facts. Her greatest happiness, her physical and mental well-being, may be at stake. Yet thousands unknowingly use over-strong solutions of acids for feminine hygiene which can actually burn, scar and harm delicate tissue.

Today such doubts and unhappiness, such risks are needless. Science has given womankind Zonite. So powerful, it kills instantly all germs and bacteria with which it comes in contact. Deodorizes—by actually destroying odors. Protects personal daintiness. Yet! Zonite is non-caustic, non-poisonous, safe for delicate tissues. Over 20,000,000 bottles bought. Get Zonite at your druggist today.

[Copyright: 1942: By The Chicago Tribune.]

If you haven't rolled a thin slice of beefsteak around your favorite bread stuffing and baked it, you've missed out on a dish which you probably are going to list among your favorites, once you've tried it. You can make a long roll, to be sliced by the family carver at the table, or you can cut the beef into portion-sized pieces, and roll them individually.

Rolled Stuffed Steak.
[Serves six.]

2 pounds round steak, sliced about ½ inch thick
2 cups soft breadcrumbs
½ cup finely chopped celery
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 or 3 sprigs parsley, minced
¼ teaspoon sage or poultry seasoning
Salt, pepper
Melted butter

Wipe steak. Remove bone and save for soup flavoring. Combine remaining ingredients and sprinkle over surface of meat. Roll meat and stuffing, jelly roll fashion, and tie with string or skewer. [Make one or two large rolls, or six small rolls, using individual portions of meat]. Dredge rolled meat with flour. Brown in a little hot fat in a skillet, season with salt and pepper, and cover the pan. Bake in a 350 degree oven until meat is tender, about 1½ hours. A little water may be added to the pan from time to time. Not more than ¼ cup should be added at a time. Make gravy from drippings.

Fresh mushrooms have been among the good vegetable buys recently, so why not give the family a treat with sautéed mushrooms to accompany the steak? Don't peel a nice, fresh mushroom. Just wash it thoroly and remove any brown spots. Slice lengthwise, thru cap and stem. Or leave whole, if you prefer. Brown the mushrooms gently in butter, cooking until they are just tender. Season with salt and pepper and serve at once.

Speaking of vegetable buys, I have available about a thousand more copies of "Purchase and Cooking of Fresh Vegetables," a handy set of information. I'll be glad to send these to the first thousand readers who request them. They're free, but I'd like a large size envelope, stamped, with your name and address on it, in which to send you your copy.

Jellied Grapefruit, Radish and Cucumber Salad.
[Serves six.]

1 tablespoon or envelope plain gelatin
¼ cup cold water or grapefruit juice
1 tablespoon sugar
1 cup hot water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup grapefruit, cut in pieces
1 cup diced, crisp cucumber
½ cup sliced radishes

Soften gelatin in cold water or juice and dissolve in hot water with sugar. Add lemon juice and salt. Chill until mixture begins to thicken, then fold in vegetables. Turn into mold rinsed out with cold water. Chill until firm. Serve on escarole, with mayonnaise dressing.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE

"Simplicity," writes Pvt. A. W. Howarth of the 1st Armored Division, Fort Knox, Ky., "is the army watchword for efficiency and quick results." And his prize-winning recipe is simplicity itself.

You, too, may win one of the $5 prizes awarded daily to the best recipe entered in Mary Meade's contest. Any interesting and unusual recipe may be prize-worthy. Entries must give standard, level measurements, and clear and complete directions.

Corned Beef Ring.
[Serves six.]

1 8 ounce can corned beef, broken into small pieces
½ cup rolled oats
2 medium sized chopped onions
⅛ teaspoon sage
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 eggs
1 cup evaporated milk

Combine ingredients in order listed, mixing thoroly. Turn into greased ring mold or casserole and bake in moderate [350 degree] oven for 25 minutes. Remove from oven, let stand 5 minutes, and turn out. Serve with creamed vegetable.

[Send in your favorite recipe.]

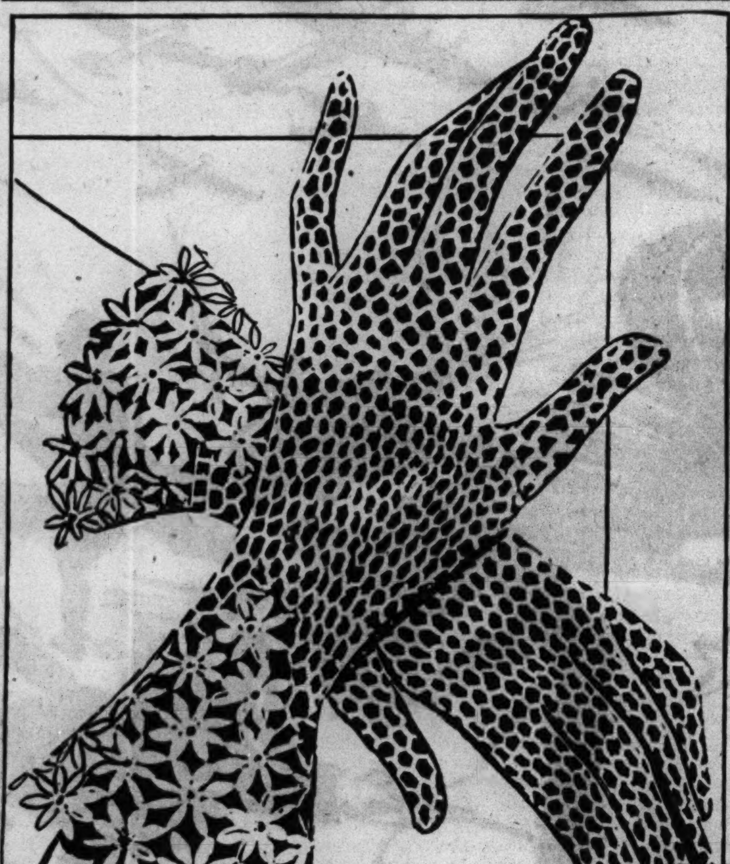
Smart Crocheted Gloves



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Crocheted gloves again are showing their smiling spring and summer beauty, with suitable changes and additions. These crocheted mesh gloves are trimmed with small medallions which form a smart cuff. It is no trick for even the amateur to attempt, and the gloves may be created in any color to match the ensemble.

For instructions in crocheting the gloves with the medallion cuffs, No. 917, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Faraway Points Beckon Many for War Duties

tucky, is finishing his theological studies at the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn. The wedding is planned for this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Charles Scherer of Evanston announce the engagement of their daughter, Josephine Grant, to Lieut. Robert W. Bailey Jr., U. S. N., son of Mrs. Bailey of Evanston. Miss Scherer and her fiancé attended Northwestern university, and Lieut. Bailey also studied at Purdue university. He was graduated two weeks ago from an eastern training school and is leaving tomorrow to report for duty on the west coast.

Second Child Is Born to Robert O. Lehmanns.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Lehmann [Barbara Ann Kinney] of Lake Forest became the parents of a daughter, Susan, their second child, yesterday at the Presbyterian hospital. The baby and her 1½ year old brother, Robert Jr., are grandchildren of the Edward J. Lehmanns and of Mrs. John C. Redmond.

Messages of best wishes are being sent from Chicago to the French hospital in New York City, where Mrs. Mario Braggiotti [Mary Melville Clow] and her infant son are staying. The baby's father wasn't present to welcome him on his arrival Monday, as Mr. Braggiotti had gone to Duluth, Minn., to give a concert. The little boy is a grandson of William E. Clow Jr. of Lake Forest and a great-grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Clow Sr.

Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw is among those entertaining at luncheon at the Arts club today following an illustrated lecture by Colin McPhee on "Music of Bali." Mr. McPhee, a Canadian, lived in Bali for several years. He will play recordings of Balinese music. The lecture will start at 11:30 o'clock.

More Than Half of Fund Is Raised for Symphony.

Good news to the many friends of the Chicago Symphony orchestra is that more than half of the $50,000 needed to cover the orchestra's deficit has been raised by the special gifts committee and by the women's committee of the orchestra. The news was told at a luncheon meeting of the special gifts committee yesterday at the Palmer House by Edward L. Ryerson, president of the Orchestral association.

Mr. Ryerson and Dr. Frederick Stock, conductor of the orchestra, spoke later at a meeting of the district chairmen of the women's committee in Orchestra hall, where Dr. Stock made an announcement of especial interest to music lovers. It was that Shostakovich's seventh symphony, which received a greater ovation at its première recently in Moscow than any symphony since Tschaikowsky's "Pathetique," would be included in next season's symphony program. "It's pronounced Shostákovich," said Dr. Stock, with a flash of humor, adding: "It's hard on the lips, but it can be done."

"This orchestra belongs to all of the people of Chicago," said Mr. Ryerson at the afternoon meeting, over which Mrs. Telfer MacArthur, chairman of the woman's committee, presided. "No great orchestra can finance itself from the sale of tickets, nor does an orchestra that is privately endowed remain great."

About 1,200 sustaining members were obtained last year. The committee seeks a larger number this year, tho it doesn't necessarily want a larger amount of money.

Looking at Hollywood

—By John Chapman—

Hollywood, Cal., April 21.—It grieves Hal Roach that there is only one-third as much movie comedy now as there was in the old days, and for the last year or so he has been trying to do something about it. He has made about a dozen "streamlined" comedies running 45 minutes each, and the results have warranted his determination to keep on making five-reelers. This is confusing to the movie business, which deals in double bills and thinks a four hour show is just about right. But the movie business is beginning to learn, and Roach is working like mad to set his streamliners in the public mind before other companies begin making short pictures, too.

Hal Roach.

Hal, now 50, has been in the movies close to 30 years, and, with rare and costly exceptions, has made nothing but comedies. He is a veteran of the brave times when there were no scenarios, no income taxes, and Westlake park was a studio. He has survived the times when greenbacks were shinplaster size and as plentiful as eggs in a lady sturgeon. He was one of the early multimillionaires of a dream business, and he spent like a man in a dream—a wild and glorious dream. He is medium-heavy set, wears his hair close cropped, has an engaging grin and an articulate and smooth line of talk. He is morally certain he's right about short comedies.

"You can't," he says, "sustain laughter for an hour and a half or two hours. Not every time. It's hard enough to sustain anything that long. You have some chance of getting by with a big featured drama, because if it sags in the middle there's a big star or two to maintain interest until the story gets going again.

"I'm making short comedies because I think they can be made better that way. We're trying to indentify the studio again as a comedy studio. We want to attract comedy writers, and we'll read anything that is submitted. We want to attract comedy producers and directors, and we want to build up some new comedians.

"Speaking of comedians, did you ever stop to think that big stars are everybody's friends? You've known them and liked them a long time, and they'll have to be pretty bad before you get mad at them. You've got acquainted with them over a long period. Well, it's easier to build new stars in short pictures. They're strangers at first, but you don't get too much of them in one dose and get tired of them. You see them for a little while, and maybe like them a bit; then in six or eight weeks you run into them again and remember them and perhaps like them a little more. Pretty soon they are your friends—and then they are stars."

Jewish Congress Brunch.

The Chicago Women's division of the American Jewish congress will meet for brunch at 10:30 o'clock today at the Hotel Sherman. Mrs. Archibald Silverman of New York, leader in the congress, will be the special guest.

School to Train Ministers for Wartime Roles

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Presbyterian ministers will go to school today at Presbyterian Theological seminary to learn how better to conduct services fitted to wartime spiritual needs. Dr. Goodrich Gates, Chicago field director for the Presbyterian board of Christian education, explained that the Presbyterian church has no special book of services to meet the needs of the time.

Topics for study will include the question of how to pray in wartime, how to post colors and otherwise use them in Christian worship, how to give recognition to soldiers, sailors, airmen, and marines before they entrain for service; how to conduct memorial services for those who fall in battle, and how to relate veterans' and other patriotic organizations to services of worship.

Dr. Gates announced that Prof. Jesse Halsey, former chaplain and noted liturgical authority of the Presbyterian church, will be in charge of the studies.

Wartime responsibilities of the church will be a central theme for a Lutheran pastors' convocation at Chicago Lutheran seminary, Maywood, tomorrow and Friday. Dr. Armin George Weng, president of the seminary and head of the Illinois synod of the United Lutheran church, announced that Dr. Ralph H. Long of New York, executive of the National Lutheran council, will address the convocation twice on the subject, "The Church in the World Today."

Dr. E. M. Hegge of United Lutheran church, Oak Park, will speak tomorrow on "Preaching in Wartime," and Dr. N. M. Ilvisaker, director of the service commission of the council, will tell of Lutheran work among service men. The Rev. George C. Koehler of Luther Memorial church, 2500 Wilson avenue, said yesterday that Lutherans of the United States are raising a fund of $650,000 for world Lutheran needs and that $250,000 of that sum will be used for service men's centers. He added that 25,000 service men visit Lutheran centers each month.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

KIND: Farce—I calls it.

STORY: Handsome baby doctor weds beautiful, simple minded actress with mother complex that has caused her to "kidnap" a deserted baby boy. . . . He makes an "honest mother" of her. . . . She sets him up in a rabbit hatchery which he has long desired for research purposes. . . . Their union is a marriage in name only until a little child's mastoid is instrumental in making mammy and pappy one.

ACTING: Miss Dietrich is very sweet in an idiotic way and looks positively gorgeous. . . . Mr. MacMurray smilingly goes over the top of his nuthatch rôle and deserves medals for his unblinking gallantry. . . . Magnificent acting by Aline MacMahon, who plays secretary to Miss Dietrich's Elizabeth Madden. [Where HAS she been for y'ars and y'ars?] Nice work by Marietta Canty as a maid and little David Corey, the baby, is a honey.

DIRECTION: More than sufficient unto the script thereof.

DIALOG: Ouch.

STAGING: Lavish.

PHOTOGRAPHY, SETS, and the LIKE: Okesy dokesy.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: Well—what do you think?

N. U. Glee Club Concert.

The Glee club of Northwestern university will give its annual concert at 8 o'clock tonight in Cahn auditorium of Scott hall on the Evanston campus.

The spring pattern book costs 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

The high-low signal, which demands the continuation of the led suit, is perhaps the most widely used and certainly one of the most valuable devices in bridge. Even so, its proper use requires a certain amount of discretion, as the defenders found out in the following hand:

West, dealer.

NORTH
♠ 9 8 7 3
♥ K 9 5 3
♦ 4 3
♣ Q 10 3

WEST
♠ K 4 2
♥ 6 2
♦ A K J 8 5

EAST
♠ Q J 10 6
♥ J 10
♦ 10 9

SOUTH
♠ A 5
♥ A Q 8 7 4
♣ K J

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 diamond	Pass	1 spade	2 hearts
2 spades	Pass	Pass	3 hearts
Pass	4 hearts [final bid]

I hold no brief for the bidding of this hand, but let us pass that over to get to our point about signals.

Against the four heart contract West opened the diamond king. After one look at dummy, East jumped to the conclusion that it would be very nice to have diamonds continued for three rounds because he could overruff any trump in dummy except the king. East felt that, even if the trump king were played on the third round of diamonds, it would not be a serious matter. He, East, certainly would take the lead later with the club ace and then would lead thru the declarer to what East fondly imagined would be the spade ace in West's hand. In short, East summarily decided that a two trick defeat would be easy and made no provision for a slight miscalculation of honor-placing. West, unaware of East's grand plan, obediently continued with the diamond ace and a third round. Declarer, who could see a high-low as well as any one, ruffed with dummy's heart king, then drew the adverse trumps in two leads. After that it was all over. The club king was laid down and, when East made his planned spade return, declarer calmly played the spade ace, then discarded his losing spade on dummy's third club.

The East-West recriminations that followed were long and bitter. East said that West's bidding had absolutely guaranteed the spade ace. West retorted [with some justice] that it would have been wiser for East to allow for the spade king in the West hand and to refrain from "echoing" in diamonds, thus asking for a shift [obviously to the spade suit bid by East] before East's ace of clubs was removed.

3,000 Register for Opening of PTA Congress

Three thousand delegates celebrated an impressive gain in membership yesterday at the opening of the 43d annual convention of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers in the Stevens hotel.

Mrs. Elmer Droste of Mount Olive, state membership chairman, announced that the membership has increased 16,000 during the present year to a total of 193,213, the greatest number in history. The Illinois organization is now second in size to that of California, the nation's largest.

Mrs. F. Russell Lyon of Chicago, president, attributed a large part of the rise to the emphasis the parents and teachers are giving to the home as the nation's first line of defense. She urged the local associations to maintain the stability of the individual homes and communities and encourage and guard the young people so they will be able to meet the future with courage and confidence.

Parenthood has become a slave trade under Hitler, Dean of Women Maria Leonard of the University of Illinois told the assembly in the principal speech of the evening session. Dean Leonard suggested that parents read, play, and work with their children; give them a budget, and increase it as they grow older.

"I have seen more blundering middle aged than blundering young folk," she said. "Youth needs models, not critics."

The principal address at the afternoon session was by Mrs. William Kletzer of Portland, Ore., the national president. Her subject was "Strength from Within."

Mrs. Kletzer urged that parents be frank with their children upon the problems of the war. She warned against a lowering of the child labor standards.

The nominating committee, whose report was presented by the chairman, Mrs. Paul H. Hahn of Chicago, indorsed Mrs. Theodore Gleichman of Moline, for president; Mrs. Herbert H. Siddall, Chicago, for first vice president; Mrs. Bruce Smyth, Blue Island, second vice president; Mrs. Christian Koch, Rock Island, third vice president, and Mrs. Irving V. Enevold, Libertyville, fourth vice president. Sixteen nominees also were recommended for district directorships.

Mrs. Gleichman's candidacy was accepted without further nominations. But when nominations were opened for the first vice presidency, Mrs. Russell Shriver of Charleston took the floor to place in nomination Mrs. Frank A. Damm, now serving as second vice president.

Excepting for the second district post, the nominating committe's recommendations for district directors were accepted without further nominations. In the second district Mrs. Ruth Marshall's name was proposed; the nominating committee's indorsement went to Mrs. R. E. Foulke of Aurora.

Others nominated were: Mrs. Milton Weiner, Chicago, district 1; Mrs. Thomas B. Mirfield, Moline, district 4; Mrs. Delbert H. Hooker, Bloomington, 6th; Mrs. Emmons Patterson, Barry, 8th; Mrs. Leonard Marquardt, Champaign, 10th; Mrs. Kenneth Beatty, Springfield, 12th; Mrs. George W. Nold, Belleville, 14th; Mrs. Aubrey Crowder, Mount Vernon, 16th; Mrs. Orien E. Mangum, Anna, 18th; Mrs. Edwin J. Turner, Hamilton, 20th; Mrs. P. E. Peterman, Downers Grove, 22d; Mrs. Guy A. Millard, Chicago, 24th; Mrs. Joseph P. May, Libertyville, 26th; Mrs. S. A. Kaar, Berwyn, 28th, and Mrs. J. B. Bennett, Cairo, 30th.

In addition to Mrs. Hahn, Mrs. Smyth, and Mrs. Siddall, the members of the nominating committee were Mrs. Shriver, Mrs. George H. Nold, and Mrs. Elmer H. Droste.

Thru the Looking Glass

In common with lots of Americans, we are entranced by lilacs. Just their very name conjures up for us a picture of heavy laden bushes, smelling so sweetly, with a freshness so lovely that it fairly takes the breath away.

We've recently been delighted to find a line of lilac preparations as real as the flowers themselves. Perhaps it is because the natural scent is so beautiful that its translation into perfume and allied agents is so often disappointing.

We open a bottle of something labeled "Lilac," expecting to get a whiff of heaven, and, our noses automatically turning up, are repulsed by a scent that is not remotely reminiscent of our favorite flower. It's like taking a mouthful of fluffy mashed potatoes and finding that the salt has been omitted. We just let them get cold and forget about them. The same with lilac translations. Too many disappointments take the heart out of trying them.

The line we have in mind has the proper lilac fragrance, true, light, and heady, with the moist overtone of the real blossoms.

The line is complete, so that the wearer may use it from head to toe and move in a perfect lilac aura. Perfume, cologne, toilet water, talcum and dusting powder assure the proper implements for scenting one's self lightly for daytime wear, or a little more heavily, without repugnance, for evening hours. It's the baby of a long established house, all of whose products are recognized for their fine quality.

SCHOOL TEACHERS! HELP YOUR CHILDREN WIN!

★ THE RULES ★

WHO CAN ENTER? This offer is open free to every man, woman, boy and girl—excepting employes of the Chicago Tribune and members of their families. It does not matter where you live. It costs you nothing—now or later. You do not have to solicit subscriptions.

WHAT TO DO? Each week day a crossword puzzle, based upon the life of General Douglas MacArthur, will be published in the Daily Tribune until 42 have appeared. With each puzzle, there will be printed an episode from his life. The missing word or words in each episode will appear automatically as the puzzle is solved. Find them and write them on the line provided. The Chicago Tribune will pay $10,000 in cash prizes to the persons who send in the most nearly correct complete sets of puzzles in accordance with the rules. Facsimiles are acceptable. Hold all answers until you have the complete set of 42. Do not send them in separately!

WHERE TO SEND? Mail your entry by first class mail to "MacArthur Puzzles," Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1539, Chicago, Illinois. With your entry send a letter giving your name and address and telling in your own way, in 50 words or less, which event or characteristic in the life of General Douglas MacArthur, in your opinion, contributed most to his success as America's great General. Letters will be considered only in the event of ties in solving the puzzles. Entries must be in the office of the Tribune one week after puzzle No. 42 has appeared.

BASIS OF AWARDS? Entries will be judged by a committee appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Every person who enters must agree to accept the judges' decisions as final. Each entry must be the original thought and effort of the person submitting it. If, in the sole opinion of the judges, any entry is found to be based upon answers purchased from anyone, or upon deceit or intent to deceive, such entries will be disqualified. Neither handwriting nor elaborateness will count. In case of ties, duplicate awards will be paid.

The Tribune will not engage in any correspondence on this subject.

THE LIFE OF DOUGLAS MacARTHUR

CHAPTER 1

CHAPTER I

THE story of the MacArthurs begins in Scotland, centuries ago. There the old Scottish clan of fighting MacArthurs carried on for generations. However, in the early part of the 19th century, General Douglas MacArthur's grandfather came to America as a boy from Glasgow, Scotland, with his mother, a widow. He studied law and was admitted to the New York bar in 1840. Later he moved to Springfield, Mass., and soon was made Judge Advocate. He married Aurelia Belcher. On June 2, 1845, the first MacArthur to be born in America was brought into the world. He was to become the father of the present General. His parents named him

Truett Sewell.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 21.—The Pirates, operating with a new battle front as the result of Frankie Frisch's distress at two setbacks in a row, refused to collaborate today in the effort to establish Hiram Bithorn, the Cubs' Puerto Rican rookie right hander, as a regular starter. The Pirates bounced him off the premises in six innings to nail down the second game of the series, 5 to 2, and take clear claim to second place.

The Cubs, who yesterday traveled high and handsomely at the expense of Max Butcher, were quite the reverse on this occasion, the change being due to the right hand tossing of Truett Sewell, who permitted only six hits, one the Cubs' first homer of the season for which Lou Stringer was responsible. The expertness with which Sewell cracked the whip on the Chicagoans is further indicated by the fact that two of the hits were infield scratches, both enjoyed by Clyde McCullough.

Hiram Is a Bit Wild.

There were two noticeable flaws in Bithorn's répertoire. One was a home run ball which the victors put to good use. The other was a tendency toward wildness. He walked four, and one of these happened to precede a drive sent into the seats by Bob Elliott in the third for the Pirates' first two runs. A bit later Stu Martin clicked for four bases, but it was an inside the park hit, as was Stringer's. The two other Pirates' tallies were due to defensive miscues of which Lou Novikoff and Len Merullo were guilty.

After Bithorn had been granted the comforts of the bathhouse Manager Jim Wilson summoned Johnny Schmitz, the lefty, who promptly showed enough skill to arouse the idea that he is about due to be promoted to a starting job. The long, lean hurler served only two innings and the only profit the Pirates could show during his term was a base on balls. Just to make sure his foes will remember him when he sees them again he fanned three, Vince DiMaggio in the seventh and Maurice Van Robays and Alf Anderson in the eighth.

Bithorn Meets Trouble in Third.

A double play after Di Maggio had beaten out a bunt and Elbie Fletcher had walked with none out staved off annoyance for Bithorn in the second inning, but his affairs took a disastrous turn after he had set down the first two men in the third. He walked Jim Wasdell and a moment later the pass became a run because Elliott hammered his homer into the right field seats. Di Maggio endeavored to prolong the fun by singling, but Fletcher swooned on strikes.

Stringer halved the Pirates' two run lead by scampering around the bases on his inside the park shot to right center with two out in the fourth. In the next inning the doubles of Stan Hack and Phil Cavarretta tied it, but not for long. Martin stepped up in the Pirate fifth and made the circuit on his wallop into right center. Wasdell then singled and continued to second because of Novikoff's fumble, scoring on Elliott's single to center. Bithorn shook off the next three batters.

Merullo Throws Wild.

The Pirates had their last chance to snipe at Bithorn in the sixth, and while they were mild with their attack they enjoyed enough outside aid to fashion their final run. This time it was Merullo's fault. He threw wild on Sewell's grounder after Babe Phelps had fouled to McCullough. Anderson cut in with a single to right, sending Sewell to third whence he scored on Martin's fly to Novikoff.

SUN AGAIN RUNS WELL TO FINISH SECOND IN SPRINT

Wright Candidate Looks Like Derby Horse.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lexington, Ky., April 21.—Trainer Ben Jones today launched his revised program for preparing Sun Again for the Kentucky Derby a week from Saturday. After abandoning his original plan to race the Calumet colt in the mile and an eighth Blue Grass stakes on Thursday, he sent Sun Again out this afternoon in the six furlong Calumet handicap against four older horses and one other Derby candidate, Dog Patch.

With little urging, Sun Again came home in second place a length and a half behind Arnold Hanger's 4 year old, Harvard Square. Swing and Sway was two and a half lengths farther back and then came Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Dog Patch, half a length off the third horse.

He's Still a Derby Horse.

Considering the ease with which Sun Again performed his task, it is generally believed that Warren Wright still has a horse for the Derby. The colt was toting 114 pounds, two under scale for his age, while Harvard Square carried 120, which was 10 under scale for 4 year olds. The time was 1:11 2-5. Sun Again's next engagement probably will be the Derby Trial at a mile next Tuesday, after which his handlers will decide whether it's worth while sending him into the big race at a mile and a quarter four days later.

The effects of training are beginning to show on Sun Again. When seen in the paddock before the race he seemed to have lost much of his previous beefiness. His coat was slick and shiny. It's not at all impossible that Jones may have a sleek horse by Derby day, tho the trainer himself is not at all sold on the idea that Sun Again can be prepared in time.

Eads Holds Him.

In the race today, Wendell Eads held him under snug restraint while Frank's Boy and Dog Patch moved out to set the early pace. Approaching the far turn Willie Strickler decided that the clip was a bit too speedy so he took hold of Dog Patch and let Frank's Boy go on ahead. On the turn, Dog Patch and Harvard Square raced head and head in second and third place, ignoring the leader on the theory that he could be taken whenever they got ready.

They were ready as they approached the stretch and passed Frank's Boy without difficulty. Meanwhile Sun Again had been moving up but he still was several lengths behind Harvard Square as the run thru the straightaway began.

Winner Pays $5.40.

Under Carroll Bierman's well-judged rating Harvard Square held control all the rest of the way. Sun Again disposed of the others easily enough and Eads refrained from putting him to a severe drive in an effort to catch the leader.

Sun Again and Harvard Square were co-favorites, each at 8 to 5. The winner paid $5.40, $2.80 and $2.60. They had met several days ago and Sun Again with 109 pounds up, had won while Harvard Square with 119, was finishing third. On that occasion, Sun Again had stayed considerably closer to the early pace than he did today.

Devil Diver Turns It On.

The Greentree Stable's Devil Diver was on the track this morning for the most remarkable workout yet delivered by any of the Derby candidates. Trainer John Gaver had been disappointed with the colt's drill several days ago when Eddie Arcaro worked him considerably slower than had been intended.

There was nothing sluggish with today's move. With Arcaro aboard, Devil Diver stepped thru the first quarter in :23 2-5 and was at the half in :47. Continuing in easy stride he hit off six furlongs in 1:11 2-5. Here Arcaro began easing him but even so Devil Diver swept on to seven furlongs in 1:24 and finished out a mile in 1:38. The Greentree colt was under a mild hand ride. This move made it clear that Devil Diver will be as fit as any horse in the field on

Iowa's Naval Flyers School Opens May 28

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Iowa City, Ia., April 21. — Erection of a classroom building for the University of Iowa naval aviation cadets was approved today. The first group of 625 men from the central states will begin their work here on May 28. The plan calls for an additional 625 to report each month so that when the three months course is in full swing, 1,875 will be in attendance.

St. Mary's [Cal.], the University of Georgia, and the University of North Carolina will offer the same program as the Iowa cadet school so that 30,000 men will receive three months training each year at the four schools before advancing to the 16 naval reserve bases, such as the base at Glenview, Ill., for ground work. Then, after successful completion of this three month course, cadets will be sent to the flying schools at Pensacola, Fla., Corpus Christi, Tex., and San Diego, Cal., where they will be awarded their wings.

Will Open on Schedule.

Establishment of the conditioning course at the University of Iowa has been a tremendous task. The job is far from completed, but the school will open on schedule and with two months leeway before the complement of 1,875 is enrolled there is no reason to doubt facilities will be ready. Hillcrest dormitory will house 850. The adjacent quadrangle will accommodate 1,025. Double decked bunks have doubled the capacity of these dormitories on Iowa's west campus.

The new classroom building and the facilities of the Iowa fieldhouse complete the navy setup. Lockers for the cadets have been installed in the fieldhouse and equipment rooms and offices have been constructed on the east and north sides of the building.

Many of the navy's academic and physical instructors already have reported. Capt. David C. Hanrahan is the commandant and Lieut. Com. John Bloom is second in command.

Has Perfect Accommodations.

"Iowa has perfect accommodations for the aviation school, Lieut. Com. Bloom said today. "The quarters are compact, ideally located, and there is more than adequate space for physical instruction and athletics."

The cadets will be confined to quarters on the west side of the Iowa river. No leave will be granted. The daily program starts with 15 minutes of calisthenics at 5:10 a. m. and ends with 9 p. m. taps. Floodlights will be installed for the calisthenics before dawn for 1,875 cadets inside the walls of the quadrangle. Cadets will be fed in the dining halls of their dormitories in two shifts. The navy has supplied new equipment. Each building will have a sick bay, canteen, den-

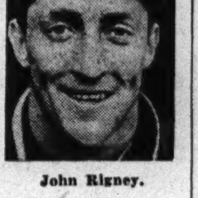
Rigney to Face His Draft Board All Over Again

Johnny Rigney, who has turned in two brilliant pitching performances for the White Sox this year, was given a physical examination yesterday morning to determine whether his selective service status should be altered. Last May the Sox pitching star was rejected by army doctors after he had been sent to an induction center by his draft board.



John Rigney.

Rigney's earlier rejection was because of an ear affliction, a condition which is the same as it was at the time of the army rejection, according to Rigney. Following his reclassification last year Rigney married Miss Dorothy Comiskey, treasurer of the White Sox. Rigney said he expected to have further information of his military status in about five days.

ALSAB AT DERBY SITE TO FINISH WORK FOR RACE

Louisville, Ky., April 21 (AP).—Alsab, the most discussed colt and the Derby favorite in most winter books, arrived here today to finish work for the race.

Trainer [Sarge] Swenke said the Al Sabath nominee had an uneventful trip from Maryland, where he ran second in the Chesapeake handicap last week. Swenke said he felt certain Alsab would be at his best in the Derby. The bargain colt is scheduled for his last testing Tuesday in the Derby trial.

Schmeling Turns Paris Matchmaker, Vichy Reports

VICHY, Unoccupied France, April 21 (AP).—Max Schmeling, former world heavyweight boxing champion who served with German parachute troops in the Crete campaign, was reported visiting Paris today to arrange a series of exhibition matches for occupation troops. Dispatches from the occupied capital said he visited various Paris bars and was seen with Georges Carpentier and other French boxers.

Barney Ross, former world lightweight and welterweight champion, was among a group of marine recruits which left the La Salle street station last night for the training base in San Diego, Cal. Ross, who is 32 years old, enlisted last March 9, but didn't take the oath until yesterday morning in United States courthouse.

Dodgers Rout Braves Early to Win, 13-2

Brooklyn, N. Y., April 21 (AP).—The Brooklyn Dodgers today mauled the Boston Braves, 13 to 2, getting 11 of their 19 hits and 9 runs in the first two innings to make the going easy for Rookie Pitcher Ed Head.

The National league champions sent 12 men to bat for six runs in the opening inning, routing Al Javery. Dick Errickson, who followed, was knocked out in the three-run second inning and John Hutchings was pounded for four more runs after the second.

Frenchy Bordagaray, subbing for Pete Reiser who had a cold, and Arky Vaughan each singled twice in the first inning.

Boston's tallies came in the fourth on three singles and a wild throw by Pewee Reese.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox waited till the ninth inning yesterday to execute action in the middle match of their three game series with the Detroit Tigers and the doings proved to be slightly tardy. The Tigers won, 4 to 2, the Sox succumbing in the final inning after scoring two runs and having the tying counters on third and second bases.

The Sox made six hits, the same number they effected Monday in beating the Tigers, 3 to 1, but they were a pretty sorry outfit offensively until the belated uprising in the ninth. Going into that final round they had negotiated four hits off Schoolboy Rowe, that tall fellow of fluctuating talents, and only two Chicago runners had got as far as second. Harry Sketchley got there in the second inning after walking and Luke Appling doubled at the start of the seventh.

Kuhel Starts the Rally.

We don't know exactly why we should dwell at length on the quasi-success in the home ninth but we like to write about the White Sox and since they did nothing all day until the ninth we'll tell you about it before we recite the details of how Johnny Humphries was bruised earlier in the engagement, which cost him his second straight loss, tnis matching his 1941 defeat total.

Joe Kuhel opened with a single to left, the fifth Chicago hit. Appling's double play grounder got away from Eric McNair. Sketchley whiffed, but Myril Hoag singled to right, loading the bases. Dario Lodigiani walked on four pitches, sending Kuhel home with the Sox's first run. That was all for Rowe and Johnny Gorsica went in.

George Dickey sent a grounder toward right field which caromed off Rudy York's glove, but Jimmy Bloodworth retrieved the ball and threw to Gorsica in time to get Dickey at first, Appling scoring, Hoag reaching third, and Bob Kennedy, who was running for Lodigiani, taking second. Thurman Tucker batted for Humphries, ran the count to three balls and two strikes, then popped to McNair. The Sox's fifth defeat in seven games was in the satchel.

Johnny Has 2d Inning Trouble.

The Tigers slashed at Humphries in the first inning when Doc Cramer and Barney McCosky got on base with one out. But Humphries was equal to this occasion. He struck out York and Pinky Higgins.

Humphries was not so fortunate in the second. Ned Harris opened with a single and went to third on a single by McNair. Birdie Tebbetts plunked an ornery little twister in front of the plate and Mike Tresh tried to grab it and tag Harris, who was coming homeward. Mike missed. Harris got home, McNair stopped at second, and Tebbetts reached first, credited with a single. The runners moved up on Rowe's sacrifice and McNair scored on Bloodworth's long fly.

The Tigers grabbed what turned out to be the winning run after two had been retired in the seventh. At this juncture McCosky singled, stole second, and scored on York's single.

The fourth Detroit run was produced in the ninth. Bloodworth sent a roller to deep short and Kuhel stepped off the bag to take Appling's long throw, apparently expecting to tag Bloodworth. Jimmy, however, dodged under him and landed safely on the bag, then stole second. Cramer and McCosky were retired, but York doubled to left, scoring Bloodworth.

The Sox, despite yesterday's sorrowful experience, did not plunk back into the American league cellar, thanks to the good Philadelphia Athletics, who obligingly took a licking from the New York Yankees.

PICK SHAPIRO TO REPLACE KOGON AGAINST PIRRONE

Defense Job Keeps Julie Off Coliseum Card.

Shapiro Wins in 7th

BROOKLYN, N. Y., April 21 (AP).—Maxie Shapiro, New York lightweight, stopped Frankie [Chief Crazy Horse] Martin of Los Angeles, Cal., in the seventh round of a scheduled eight round bout in the Broadway arena tonight. Shapiro, scheduled to meet Joey Pirrone of Detroit, Mich., in Chicago Friday, centered his attack on the Californian's head until the referee halted the bout.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Maxie Shapiro, New York lightweight, who has beaten Nick Castiglione and Sal Bartolo [twice] in his three fights this year, yesterday was substituted for Julie Kogon in an eight round bout against Joey Pirrone in the Coliseum Friday. Kogon was forced off the card, which is topped by a 10 round event between Johnny Colan and Altus Allen, when refused permission to leave his job in a defense plant in Hartford, Conn.

Altho Shapiro has not boxed in this section before, he comes well recommended and is expected to outpoint Pirrone if his rival from Cleveland fails to land his vaunted right on a vulnerable spot. In a recent encounter here Pirrone scored a first round knockout over Charley Eschman of Cincinnati.

Burley Comes to Town.

Charley Burley, Pittsburgh welterweight, who floored Phil McQuillan for the count in New York on Monday, will take his first workout in Trafton's gymnasium this afternoon for an additional eight round supporting match on the Coliseum program against Joe Sutka of Wyandotte, Mich. The conquest of McQuillan was Burley's 10th consecutive triumph and his sixth by a knockout. Previous knockout victims were Cleo McNeal, Willard [Big Boy] Hogue, Jay D. Turner, Ossie Harris, and Willis [Shorty] Hogue.

Colan and Allen will conclude sparring drills in Trafton's gymnasium today, the former against Billy White, Baltimore middleweight, and Altus against Hubert Hood, Golden Gloves heavyweight champion. Yesterday Colan went four fast rounds with White, while Altus sparred three with Hood. Johnny, who did not box Monday because of a shortage of partners, did not look particularly impressive, but perhaps this was because his opponent is smaller and faster.

Altus Has Weight Advantage.

Because Colan saw Booker Beckwith knock out Allen in the Stadium a year ago, he has an idea Altus is a soft touch. He may be in for a surprise come Friday. Since losing a decision in 10 rounds to Gunnar Barlund 14 months ago, Allen has displayed considerable improvement. The added advantage of superior height, reach, weight, and punching power besides a determination which rivals that of Joe Louis defending his world title is sufficient to keep fans from holding Allen lightly. Altus stands 5 feet 11½ inches, one and a half taller than Colan, and weighs 190 pounds to Johnny's 175.

An amateur boxing show will be held tonight in Cicero stadium, 19th street and 52d avenue, and a professional wrestling card will be offered in Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue. Karol Krauser and Rudy Kay will be principals in the mat headliner. The windup bout in the Cicero arena will involve Johnny Levatino, West Suburban club welterweight, and Jimmy Barrata of the Madison A. C. Levatino also is matched to face Joe Manjarrez in the Madison A. C. Friday.

New Trier High school dealt Proviso its first defeat of the Suburban league season yesterday, shutting out the Maywood nine, 5 to 0, behind the four hit pitching of Don Schaefer. The game was played in Maywood.

New Trier scored two runs in the fourth inning on two hits and three errors and finished its scoring with three more tallies in the fifth. It made eight hits off Frank Ahrens and Lee Kolwitz.

Split for Season.

The victory gave New Trier a split in the season's games, the Winnetka nine having been routed, 14 to 2, by Oak Park on Monday. Proviso defeated Morton, 13 to 5, in its first game and led Evanston, 6 to 1, when rain halted play after four innings of its second game.

Morgan Park Military academy defeated Illinois Masonic Home, 4 to 2, in a Southwest Suburban league opening game at Morgan Park. Orvil Hall worked on the mound for the victors and yielded five hits.

Steinmetz, Chicago Public High School league champion, undefeated in three west section games, yesterday beat McKinley, 10 to 9, in a practice game in Riis park.

Morton Beats Thornton.

Morton, Suburban league champion, invaded Harvey and defeated Thornton, 7 to 3, also in a practice game.

A home run in the seventh inning with two men on base gave Calumet a 7 to 4 victory over Washburne in a second City league practice game at Foster park.

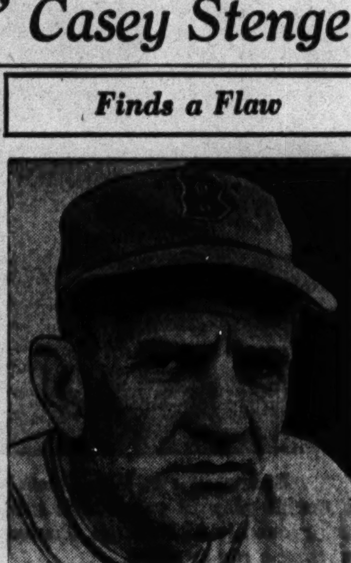
Finds a Flaw



Casey Stengel, Boston Braves' manager, who sees the heavy preponderance of left handed hitters in the Brooklyn Dodgers' lineup as the chief weakness of their attack.

New York, April 21 (AP).—Southpaw trouble is due to start happening to the Brooklyn Dodgers almost any day now, and it will be painful, in the carefully considered opinion of Manager Casey Stengel of the Boston Braves.

He bases his prediction on the fact that the National league champions have a lineup bursting with left handed batters—even more so than last year—and the certain knowledge that the Dodgers' pennant rivals are going to throw left handed pitchers at them in a steady stream.

"I'm sorry to say we can't do much about it," said Casey. "I haven't got much left hand pitching, and, anyway, we've been cousins to these birds for a couple of seasons. But wait until they bump into that southpaw staff of the St. Louis Cardinals and Cliff Melton of the Giants and Johnny Vander Meer of Cincinnati. They're going to find it tough.

Don't Get Him Wrong.

"Don't get me wrong. Brooklyn's still a strong club. But it's hitting power is practically all left handed. Arky Vaughan at third and Augie Galan in the outfield give Durocher a couple more lefties than he had last season. Galan's a switch hitter, but he's not so good right handed. Yeah, Leo can change it some by putting Joe Medwick and Johnny Rizzo in his outfield. They're right handers, but they're not the hitters they used to be. Leo's right hand lineup hasn't been able to win a game yet, I notice."

Has Three Good Rookies.

As for his own club, which has been widely picked to finish a jump or two out of the cellar, Casey is more than a little optimistic at this early stage. He thinks maybe he has come up with three exceptionally fine rookies. They are Froilan Fernandez, his new third baseman from San Francisco; Clyde Kluttz, a catcher from Sacramento, and John Sain, a young, unheralded pitcher from Nashville.

"I don't want to say so too soon," said Stengel, "but all three of them look like big leaguers. Fernandez is holding down third like a veteran and hitting the ball a country mile. Kluttz hasn't had much chance yet, with Ernie Lombardi having first call on the catching, but the kid looks to me like a natural.

Not Even on the Roster.

"This Sain—you won't even find him on our roster. We picked him up sort of accidentally from Nashville and I've learned since that another club or two had the same idea. He has one of the widest curves you ever saw. He struck out Johnny Mize of the Giants with the bases loaded, and he also struck out Jimmy Foxx of the Red Sox in an exhibition game. So far I've used him six times in relief rôles this spring, not over three innings any time, and he hasn't failed to stop a rally yet."

DECATUR PAIR SHOOTS 1,296 IN ABC DOUBLES

Columbus, O., April 21 [Special].—Lawrence Block and Harold De Ment of Decatur, Ill., broke a two day scoring lull in the 42d annual Bowling Congress here this afternoon as they exploded 1,296 in the doubles. Block was the pace setter with a brilliant 704 series on games of 226, 231, and 247 while De Ment added 592.

High in the singles was Albert Ulmes of Pottsville, Pa., with 675 as he hit for games of 268, 199, and 208.

Other scores were 1,269 in the doubles by Dan Barrone and Adam Brohez of Decatur. Barrone did the heavy firing with 691 on 244, 214, and 233.

Notre Dame, Ind., April 21 [Special].—Notre Dame combined a 21 hit attack with Johnny Metzger's five hit pitching to remove Northwestern from the undefeated ranks, 13 to 1, today. Jack Tallett, North Chicago, Ill., junior first baseman, hit two home runs and a pair of singles, scoring three times and driving in four runs.

The Wildcats scored first when Ed Hirsch walked and came in on George Benson's double.

Metzger drove in two runs with his single in the second. Tallett hit a homer in the third and repeated in the fifth. The Irish combined eight singles with three Wildcat throwing errors for seven runs in the seventh. Score:

MICHIGAN WINS, 5 TO 3.

Kalamazoo, Mich., April 21 [Special].—Michigan today took advantage of two Western Michigan errors, a hit batsman, three bases on balls and Francis Chamberlain's triple in the eighth inning to score five runs and win, 5 to 3.

Jerome Anderson had held Michigan to three hits going into the eighth, when he hit Pinch Batter Bill Cartmill. After an error by Left Fielder Ken Stillwell, the pitcher walked two men and a run resulted. Chamberlain's triple scored three more and he came home on an error.

The Broncos had the runs needed to tie on the bases when the game ended. Score:

KAY ABERNATHY.

Des Moines, Ia., April 21 (AP).—Kay Abernathy, 20 year old University of Texas co-ed, will reign as queen of the 1942 Drake relays this week-end. Miss Abernathy, a blue eyed blonde beauty who maintains an "A" average, ruled over the 1942 Texas relays. She was chosen by a local committee from a field of co-eds and is the third of her school to be named queen in the last nine years. The 1941 queen was Dorothy Ball, also of the University of Texas.

Miss Abernathy attended Lindenwood college at St. Charles, Mo., before enrolling at Texas.

MICHIGAN STATE NORMAL DEFEATS TECH NINE, 10 TO 7

Michigan State Normal won, 10 to 7, over Illinois Tech on the latter's field yesterday. It was the second loss in four games for the Tech nine. James Hinde, pinch hitter for Catcher Ken Shearer in the last half of the ninth inning, hit a home run with two men on base.

PABST BOWLERS RESUME CHASE IN CLASSIC TONIGHT

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

The Pabst bowlers tonight will make another effort to reduce the four game margin held by Schlitz when the Classic league bowls at Stack & Ryan's Recreation at 1133 Milwaukee avenue. The league has 15 games left, including tonight's three. Pabst meets the National Bowling Equipment five while Schlitz opposes Ambrosia tonight. The third place Monarch Beers, Sunday section champions, but out of the Wednesday division race, meet the Washington Shirts, and Blatz is paired with Koenig Brau.

The Cubs captured the second half championship—just as they did the first—in the Chicago Athletic association league, which ended its season last night. They finished with 24 games won and 15 lost and a season average of 941. Last night they fired a 2,981 total. On the team were Fred Tourtelot, Jack Geossle, Fred Schroeder, Harry Daniels, and John Seng. . . . Howard Bowl is planning a handicap mixed doubles sweepstakes for Saturday, the first combinations going on the alleys at 7 p. m. Call Betty Brugman at the Bowl. . . .

Baylis Wins Trophy.

Hank Baylis won the Chicago Rotary club league's Clarence Olson trophy, which goes to the best of the group of bowlers who have rolled the largest number of games for the season. Baylis shot 565 in the three game roll-off at Bensinger's Adams-Wabash center, in which six competed. . . . Ed Eda was South Shore Major's high shooter last week with a 756 series, including a 275 game. Mel Miller had 683. . . .

Night Life was the only three game winner in the Playdium Major, taking a full set from White Way Signs. . . . Evanston bowlers are planning a banquet for Carter McDonald, Red Crown recreation manager, who has taken an executive position with a Chicago mail order concern. McDonald, president of the Optimist club, also is known as a leader in Community fund and other charitable projects. He will be succeeded at Red Crown by George Lund, operator of the Niles Center alleys the last eight years.

Internationals Keep Lead.

The Internationals held their one game margin—with six games left to bowl—by winning two from Park Manor in the South End Traveling league. Rheingolds remained a game back by winning the odd from Pilsen, but Chicago Recreation dropped two games off the pace by losing two to Fuka Hatters, Joe Schaffek of Chicago was high with 664. . . . The Fishermen, who rolled 3,126 on the opening squad, won the Craftsmen's national tournament, Masonic event, which closed Sunday night at Gold Coast. W. Nikodem and J. C. Losch took the doubles with 1,404, Hiram Barnet the singles with 723, and Bud Wright the all-events with 2,059. Medals and prize checks will be distributed at the association's annual meeting in the Congress hotel May 10.

KELLER LEADS YANKS IN 10-4 DEFEAT OF A'S

Charley Keller.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 21 (AP).—The New York Yankees celebrated Manager Joe McCarthy's 55th birthday today by overpowering the Philadelphia Athletics, 10 to 4, for Charley [Red] Ruffing's second triumph of the season.

The victory advanced the world champions into a tie for the American league lead while the Boston Red Sox were kept idle by the weather.

Charley Keller hit a home run with the bases loaded in the first inning to set the Yankee machine rolling, and in the fifth they knocked Rookie Roger Wolff off the mound with another five run assault.

In the first inning the Yanks loaded the bases for Keller on an error, a single and a walk. Ed Levy opened the fourth with a single, his second hit in seven games, and two passes filled the bases. Tom Henrich doubled two runs across and Joe DiMaggio singled another home. Russ Christopher came on duty and walked Keller to load the bases and then, after two were out, Buddy Rosar singled a pair of runs home.

Bob Johnson drove in a run for the A's in the first with a double and brought home Lou Blair with a fly in the sixth after Blair had tripled. Pete Suder singled home two runs in the second. Score:

INDIANS THUMP BROWNS, 4-2.

Cleveland, O., April 21 (AP).—The Cleveland Indians bunched four of their seven hits in the fifth inning today to score three runs which led to a 4 to 2 triumph over the St. Louis Browns.

It was the first victory of the season for Al Milnar, expected to be one of the tribe's mainstays. He kept the Browns' seven hits scattered.

Bob Harris held Cleveland hitless until the fifth when the Indians knocked him out with three singles and Ray Mack's double. Al Hollingsworth finished. Score:

Cooper and Cards Blank Reds, 8 to 0

St. Louis, Mo., April 21 (AP).—The Cardinals shut out the Cincinnati Reds, 8 to 0, today as Mort Cooper turned in a three hit pitching performance.

The only hits off Cooper were singles by Bert Haas, Frank McCormick, and Charley Aleno in different innings.

Johnny Hopp, Cardinal utility man, was hit on the head by a thrown ball in practice, but examination showed the injury was not serious.

Eleven of the Cards' 12 hits were off Bucky Walters, who was sent to the showers in the seventh.

The St. Louis attack was led by Enos Slaughter, Frank Crespi, and Stan Musial. Slaughter drove in three runs on two hits, Crespi had a perfect day with three for three and scored three runs, while Musial hit a homer in the fifth inning with a runner on base. Score:

Baker Saving 2 Rookies for Sox in Detroit

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Manager Del Baker of the Detroit Tigers is very high on his three new starting pitchers, Virgil [Fire] Trucks, Hal White, and Charley Fuchs. He proved this by starting all three of his recruits from Buffalo in his first road series of the season, in St. Louis.

Trucks lost the St. Louis season opener, 7 to 6, but the other two freshmen, White and Fuchs, who were roomies while with Buffalo, each scored shutouts against the Browns, Luke Sewell's first setbacks of the season.

Fuchs Hurls Four Hitter.

White won his start, 4 to 0, yielding seven hits, three of which were scratches. Fuchs stopped the Brownies on four singles and won, 1 to 0, on a homer by Ned Harris.

Having worked the boys in St. Louis, Manager Baker spared them all the ordeal of facing the blazing bats of the Sox in the series here, but tonight the Sox and Tigers move to Detroit for a couple of games and Dykes' killers will be confronted by two of the trio, according to Mr. B.'s present plans. Which two he hasn't decided.

Not So Hot at Buffalo.

All three were under the Bison's league percentage last year, Fuchs with 7 victories and 13 defeats, Trucks with 12 victories and 12 defeats, and White with 16 victories and 12 defeats. However, Baker and Coach Merv Shea, both experts in the development of pitchers' talents, have tossed out that aggregate of 37 losses with Buffalo and are counting on all three young gents to be regular starters all seasons. Fuchs is 25 years old, the other two 23.

Bill Dietrich, whose first start of the season in the final of the opening set with the Browns, was attended by ill fortune, will try for better luck this afternoon in the final of the Tiger series, which also will be the first ladies' day of the season. Tommy Bridges is slated to pitch for the Tigers.

Cubs to Start Paul Erickson in Series Final

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 21. — Paul Erickson, who came to grief against the Cardinals in his first start of the season last week, will be sent back into action tomorrow in the series finale between the Cubs and Pirates. The Pirates' pitching will be in charge of Luke [Hot Potato] Hamlin, the refugee from the Dodgers.

Both Hi Bithorn and Johnny Schmitz seemed to figure Babe Phelps a batting menace in today's game. Bithorn walked him twice and Schmitz once. In his only official time at bat Phelps fouled to Clyde McCullough.

If the Cubs could have produced a hit in the first inning they might have gotten off to an impressive start. Two passes and Phelps' bad throw on a sacrifice by Lou Novikoff filled the bases with one out. But Babe Dahlgren flied short to Jim Wasdell and Lou Stringer fouled to Phelps.

IRISH RALLY TO DEFEAT ILLINOIS AT TENNIS, 5 TO 4

Champaign, Ill., April 21 [Special].—Capt. Don Canale and Bob Faught rallied to win their No. 1 doubles match today and give the Notre Dame tennis team a 5 to 4 victory over Illinois. It was the first loss for Illinois in three meets and Notre Dame's third straight triumph. Ken Clapper and Clifford Pilz of the Illini remained undefeated; they won their singles matches and teamed in the doubles.

SINGLES—Canale, Notre Dame, beat Gates, 6-2, 6-3; Von Spreckelsen, Illinois, beat Parks, 4-6, 6-3, 6-1; Faught, Notre Dame, beat Saikley, 6-2, 6-4; Ford, Notre Dame, beat Lothrop, 6-2, 7-5; Clapper, Illinois, beat Bittner, 6-1, 6-1; Pilz, Illinois, beat Joyce, 6-1, 6-2.

DOUBLES—Canale and Faught beat Lothrop and Von Spreckelsen, 5-7, 7-5, 6-4; Parks and Ford beat Gates and Saikley, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3; Clapper and Pilz beat Bittner and Joyce, 6-3, 6-3.

NCAA TRACK MEET DATES ARE MOVED UP WEEK

The date for the national collegiate track meet to be held at the University of Nebraska in Lincoln, Neb., has been changed from June 19-20 to June 12-13, it was announced yesterday by K. L. Wilson of Northwestern university, chairman of the NCAA track and field committee.

Wilson said that the date was moved up a week earlier because many of the schools had advanced time of their commencement exercises and bcause many of the athletes were being called into the services.

Pussy-Willows.

When you packed the pussy-willow and sent them on to me
There was something special in the box that none but I could see.
For, clinging to the slender stems the fuzzy catskins bring

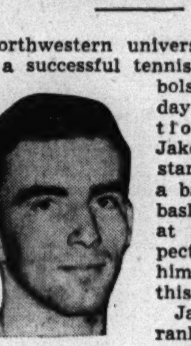
Ten Years Ago Today—The St. Louis Cardinals, world champions, broke a six game losing streak by nosing out Pittsburgh, 5 to 3, in the 10th inning. . . . Fidel La Barba, former flyweight champion, moving into the featherweight class, easily outpointed Petey Sarron in 10 rounds in Detroit.

Return of Jake Bolsters N. U.'s Tennis Hopes



Bobby Jake.

Northwestern university's hopes for a successful tennis season were bolstered yesterday by the addition of Bobby Jake, sophomore star, who suffered a back injury in basketball which at first was expected to keep him out of action this spring.

Jake, a former ranking national junior star and holder of the Wisconsin singles championship, will be available for the opening match of the season against Wisconsin in Evanston Friday. The Wildcats also meet Iowa in Evanston on Saturday.

The Northwestern squad is led by Capt. Seymour Greenberg, twice winner of the Big Ten singles championship. Greenberg, a product of Lane Tech High school, ranks as one of the outstanding tennis players in Northwestern history. In two years of competition he has been undefeated in the conference. In addition to winning the singles title two years in succession he also has paired with a teammate to win the doubles championship for two years.

In addition to Greenberg, Northwestern has two lettermen returning from last year's squad. They are Harrie Hall, a senior, who has won two letters, and Bob Goodkind, a junior. Other candidates are Don Skinrood, a reserve from last year, and two sophomores, Byron Gordon of Chicago, and Marvin Doherty of Cedar Rapids, Ia.

IOWA'S NAVAL FLYERS SCHOOL TO OPEN MAY 28

Planned Sport Program Will Harden Cadets.

Nearly $250,000 for Equipment.

Physical instruction and games will harden the cadets who already will have passed rigorous examinations. The cadets range in age from 20 to 25 years. Nearly a quarter of a million dollars has been spent on athletic equipment.

Intramural competition will head up to a varsity football team this fall. Maj. Bernie Bierman, former University of Minnesota football coach, will direct the cadet eleven. Students entering May 28 will have left for their ground schools before the opening game, but those entering later will be eligible. The cadets' football schedule follows:

Sept. 26—Cadets at Northwestern.
Oct. 3—Cadets at Minnesota.
Oct. 10—Cadets at Michigan.
Oct. 17—Cadets at Notre Dame.
Oct. 24—Cadets at home [opponent not selected].
Oct. 31—Cadets at Indiana at Northwestern.
Nov. 14—Cadets at home [opponent not selected].
Nov. 21—Nebraska at Cadets.
Nov. 28—Cadets at Ohio State.
Dec. 5—Missouri [site undetermined].

The extremely realistic attitude of the navy training officials can perhaps be best illustrated by the following subdivision for the "rough and tumble drill" listed as means for physical conditioning and strength. It reads: "Getting control of an opponent and liquidating an opponent by physical means."

Class periods will be held from 7 a. m. to 8:25 a. m, 9:40 a. m. to 12:05 p. m., and from 1:45 p. m. to 4:10 p. m. The cadet body will be divided into three sections and each day each section will study [1] physical drills, [2] military drills, and [3] academic courses. The latter includes military tactics, naval history and customs, recognition of planes and ships, parachuting, mathematics and physics.

Sports on Afternoon Schedule.

Cadets will have intramural and varsity sports from 4:15 to 6:15 each afternoon. Supper will be served at 6:40 p. m., after which they will alternate each evening between study and recreation until 9 o'clock taps.

"Altho these cadets will have passed thoro tests," Lieut. Comm. Bloom said this afternoon, "many may not be able to complete this course. Others may fail during the three months at the ground school. However, the navy will have conditioned intelligent candidates for its aviation schools. These preliminaries will give the United States the finest aviation candidates in the world."

Blue Grass Stakes Tomorrow.

The $10,000 Blue Grass Stakes, which climaxes the meeting on Thursday, now shapes up as a four horse race which probably will bring out Edward R. Bradley's Bless Me, the Greentree pair of Devil Diver and Shut Out and Hal Price Headley's Equinox. This event, at a mile and an eighth, is one of the country's outstanding preparatory events for the Derby.

The best 2 year olds in training at Keeneland will be out tomorrow for the $2,500 Lafayette Stakes. A field of 11 was named in the overnight entries. Menex, Tell Me Now and Glance About are considered the outstanding contenders.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Air Current, $10.10 straight, $4.70 place, $3.40 show; K. Dorko, $6.00 place, $5.20 show; Blue Gino, $7.40 show.

AIR CURRENT began to move up in the run down the backstretch. He circled the field entering the stretch, closed very fast, and was up to win in the last stride. K. Dorko was allowed to rate along, took the lead entering the stretch, gamely held on. BLUE GINO broke slowly, closed fast, but beat a lot of tired horses. FAIR CALL is improving. AMERICAN WOLF never was a factor. VAGRANCY trailed far back.

SIXTH RACE—The Backbone handicap. Purse $2,500 added. Four year olds and up in Class C. Mile and an eighth. Start good. Won easily, place driving. Went to post at 4:43. Off at 4:44½. Winner, b. h., 5, by Head Play-June Rose, by Myram. Owner, A. J. Sackett. Trainer, M. Hirsch. Time, 1:52.

Sportsman's Population Is Up to 900

For the last two weeks leading stables from Florida, California, Hot Springs, and Fair Grounds at New Orleans have been unloading at the half mile track. The Cicero track, which accommodates around 400, has been filled to capacity and the overflow has been taken care of at Hawthorne, the bigger track across the way.

One of the best of the racing stables on hand is that trained by Bill Molter, who trains a large public stable from California. Molter arrived at Sportsman's several weeks ago with eight useful thorobreds, all of which have performed at the Agua Caliente track with success. Among the better horses under Molter's care are Don Lin II., an Argentine bred handicap star; Valerosa II., also bred in Argentina; Old Smoky, Milk Route, Home Burning, and Mount Vernon II., a high class router.

13 ENTERED FOR 2-YEAR-OLD RACE AT HAVRE TODAY

Havre de Grace, Md., April 21 (AP).—Thirteen 2 year olds were named today for the 30th running tomorrow of the $2,500 added Aberdeen stakes over 4½ furlongs.

Sales One-Third Larger than Last Year.

Butler Brothers, Chicago wholesale merchandise distributor, reported yesterday that net profit for the quarter ended March 31 was $391,529, equal to 26 cents a common share, compared with $181,249, or 7 cents a share, in the 1941 March quarter. The company provided 1 million dollars for estimated federal income taxes on first quarter earnings against a tax provision of $54,000 for the year ago period.

Consolidated net sales for the 1942 quarter were $26,227,000, an increase of 33.85 per cent over the corresponding period a year earlier. The gain in wholesale volume was 35.04 per cent, while in retail sales [Scott-Burr stores] the increase was 23.05 per cent.

B. & K. Earnings Larger.

Balaban & Katz corporation, motion picture theater chain operator with offices in Chicago, had net income of $1,588,230 in the fiscal year ended Jan. 3, 1942, compared with $1,526,911 the preceding year. Profits were equal to $6.03 and $5.63 a share, respectively, on common stock.

A. M. Castle & Co., Chicago steel distributor, reported smaller profit for the first quarter. Net income was $107,233, or 45 cents a capital share, against $223,027, or 93 cents a share, in the 1941 period.

R. G. Le Tourneau, Inc., Peoria manufacturer of earth moving machinery, had March quarter net profit of $531,519, or $1.11 a common share, compared with $706,182, or $1.57 a share, a year ago. March net income was $177,995, against $217,681.

The Allegheny Ludlum Steel corporation, Pittsburgh, Pa., had first quarter net income of $1,331,426, or $1.02 a common share, against $2,720,164, or $2.12 a share, a year earlier.

PEACH CROP HARD HIT, BUT ILLINOIS EXPECTS PROFITS

Carbondale, Ill., April 21 (AP).—Subfreezing weather in December and January seriously damaged peach trees but southern Illinois orchardists expect to harvest a profitable crop.

Harry Day, southern Illinois fruit expert, said today there should be at least half a normal crop of peaches, enough to pay orchard owners good profits if prices are favorable.

A sub-normal yield and war-time demands indicate a sellers' market this summer and orchardists are not worrying about the need of finding enough customers for "Little Egypt's" fruit production. They anticipate profits large enough to help erase the deficits of recent years when unstable markets and unfavorable weather forced them to take heavy losses.

There was almost a complete kill in Massac county and other losses were as follows: Alexander county, as high as 75 per cent; Anna-Jonesboro-Cobden area, 50 per cent, and Wabash valley, in excess of 75 per cent. Centralia area will yield from 25 to 75 per cent of a normal crop.

How big the apple crop will be is yet to be determined.

Examiner Backs I. C. Plea to Scrap 75 Miles of Line

Washington, D. C., April 21 (AP).—An Interstate Commerce commission examiner recommended today commission approval of an Illinois Central railroad application to abandon 57 miles of line between Red Oak, Ill., and Dodgeville, Wis. The application was opposed by shippers. The examiner sustained the railroad's contention that losses and the cost of deferred maintenance would be unduly burdensome.

ICC Authorizes Erie Road to Buy Up 10 Subsidiaries

Washington, D. C., April 21 (AP).—The Interstate Commerce commission gave the Erie Railroad company authority today to purchase virtually all the property of 10 subsidiary companies and to assume liabilities of two of them aggregating more than 10 million dollars. The subsidiaries are terminal, dock, and real estate companies.

MILLING DEMAND BETTER; WHEAT PRICES ADVANCE

Other Grains Join Upturn on Chicago Market.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

Grain dealers reported an improved milling demand for wheat yesterday and prices advanced 1¼ to 1⅝ cents with May futures closing at $1.20⅝ a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade. The bread grain led an advance in all commodity futures on the exchange with corn gaining ⅝ to ⅞ cent; oats, ½ to ¾ cent; rye, ⅞ to 1¼ cents, and soy beans, ⅝ to 1 cent a bushel.

While actual sales of wheat to the mills continued small, the grain dealers reported flour makers were inquiring about available supplies.

Price Below Probable Loan.

Wheat prices currently are about 10 cents below the rate the government is expected to lend farmers on their 1942 wheat crop. The spread between the May and July futures is about wide enough to cover carrying charges thru July on grain purchased now.

The grain men said the mills are noting this situation and are inquiring for old crop grain when they can find dry, high protein grain, rather than waiting and taking a chance on new crop grain.

Buy Flax and Bean Seed.

Seed dealers reported a growing demand for soy bean and flaxseed to be planted on acreage that previously had been intended for oats. The heavy rains in some sections has delayed oats and red clover seeding.

Farmers are said to be abandoning intentions to plant these crops and are going to put in soy beans and flax, two crops in which prices are substantially higher than they were a year ago, and for which the government has asked larger production.

DISMISSES SUIT FOR RETURN OF LEASE SECURITY

Judge Cornelius J. Harrington, in the Circuit court, yesterday dismissed a suit brought by the 54 West Randolph Building corporation against the Marshall Field estate asking the return of $100,000 posted at the time a lease on the Randolph street property became effective. The money was posted in 1938 as "condition precedent for the right to assign the lease during the 99 year term."

The directors of the corporation in their suit said they had relinquished the right to assign the lease and wanted the return of the $100,000. They said that placing of the money in a trust violated Illinois law prohibiting the establishment of trusts in perpetuity.

Judge Harrington ruled that the trust did not violate Illinois law and that the $100,000 was put up as security for the performance of the covenants of the lease over its entire period as well as security in the event of the assignment of the lease to a sub-lessee.

G. E. Buys Kokomo Glass Factories for Navy Work

Kokomo, Ind., April 21 [Special].—Announcement was made today that the General Electric corporation has purchased extensive holdings of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company here and plans to recondition and expand factory facilities to fill war orders for the United States navy. The deal involved 23 acres of ground and some 700,000 square feet of factory floor space. General Electric is reported to be negotiating with the navy for a loan with which to equip and enlarge the buildings.

ORDER REASSESSMENT.

Reassessment of all real estate in Marion county [Indianapolis] in 1943 has been ordered by the Indiana tax board. The board said property owners in distress because of high assessments since 1932 are entitled to relief.

GENL. ELECTRIC PLANS BILLION '42 WAR OUTPUT

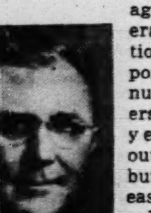
The progress of American industry in war time was reported by the managements of several of the nation's large corporations at annual stockholders' meetings held yesterday thruout the country, but mostly in the east.



Charles E. Wilson.

Forecasting production of approximately 1 billion dollars of diversified war materials in 1942, Charles E. Wilson, president of General Electric company, told stockholders at Schenectady, N. Y., that present output is at about 85 per cent of this annual goal. He said that production will be augmented by the addition of new plants later in the year.

Patent Aid Given Competitors.

In reply to recent justice department charges, Wilson said that the company offers "without reservation" any of the company's designs and techniques that may be needed by the government for the duration of the war. He said patents, experience, and other aid has been given to companies who ordinarily would be General Electric's competitors.

Wilson emphasized that the company desires only to safeguard its capital investment by adhering to an all-out production policy, and has no intention of profiteering. The company is willing to renegotiate any government contracts based on actual costs.

He reported that first quarter net income after taxes was $10,300,000, equal to 36 cents a share, compared with $11,400,000, or 39 cents a share, in the 1941 first quarter. Provision of 37 million dollars for federal taxes, 105 per cent more than a year ago, and 8 million dollars for contingences, twice that of a year ago, was made from first quarter earnings.

U. S. Rubber Orders Huge.

War orders, excluding munitions, received by the United States Rubber company in the first quarter this year exceeded the total for 1941 and were almost 10 times those in the first quarter of 1941. This was reported to stockholders by F. B. Davis Jr., president and board chairman of the company, at the annual meeting at Jersey City, N. J.

F. B. Davis Jr.

Taxes and the seizure of the company's Pacific area rubber plantations by the Japanese make the payment of preferred dividends uncertain, he said.

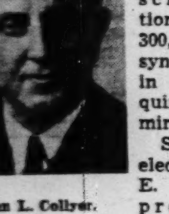
Discussing the company's large plantation investment, H. H. Humphreys Jr., chairman of the finance committee and vice president, asserted that United States Rubber has been the world's largest producer of crude rubber. The plantations, now in Japanese hands, comprise about 131,000 acres, of which 101,000 are in Sumatra, and 30,000 in Malaya.

Produced 57 Million Pounds.

The plantations produced 57 million pounds of rubber in 1941, accounting for $2,600,000 in revenues before war loss provisions. Including plants and equipment, the investment was carried at a net value of about 19 million dollars, before war loss reserve.

Davis reported that the company has undertaken various war projects, including the making of small arms, ammunition, TNT, synthetic rubber, army duck, woven asbestos, howitzer parts, and plane wing assemblies.

Stockholders of another large rubber company, B. F. Goodrich company, were informed by John L. Collyer, president, that achievement of a scheduled national output of 300,000 tons of synthetic rubber in 1943 will require "almost a miracle."



John L. Collyer.

Stockholders elected Cleveland E. Dodge, vice president of Phelps-Dodge corporation, to the board of directors. He succeeds Arthur B. Newhall, who resigned to become War Production board rubber coördinator.

Chrysler Works on 24 Jobs.

Chrysler corporation is working on some phase of 24 war production projects in which its 19 automobile plants will be engaged, K. T. Keller, president, said at the stockholders' meeting in Detroit. He said the company is in volume production on six out of seven major war jobs undertaken before Pearl Harbor and will be ready to begin shipments on the seventh in 30 days.

Construction involving 45 million dollars of its own funds and 50 million dollars of government funds is planned by the Union Carbide and Carbon corporation for 1942, Benjamin O'Shea, president, announced at the annual meeting. This compares with an expenditure for construction of $59,500,000 of its own funds in 1941.

O'Shea said first quarter earnings this year would be slightly less than in the same 1941 period. Income tax provisions for the quarter will be approximately $14,500,000 against $9,000,-

Latin America Lifts Flow of War Material

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, April 21 [Wide World].—Latin America, a rich storehouse of raw materials, today is pouring a stream of war essential minerals and agricultural products into the arsenals of the united nations.

The axis, which once drew heavily upon these resources, first was reduced to a driblet by the blockade and now is cut off, while the United States and its allies, by control of the sea and wartime trade agreements, enjoy a monopoly of all the rubber, tin, manganese, chrome, mica, tungsten, copper, diamonds and lead that these countries can produce.

Many Now Inaccessible.

Item for item, many of these products match the supplies lost in Malaya, the Dutch East Indies, the Philippines and other areas won by the axis. In a long war they may well supply the "extras" needed to win.

But most of South America's mineral resources are locked in the jungles and mountains of inaccessible regions. The same shortages which create the demand for them interfere with obtaining the machinery, the railroads and the shipping to dig them out and transport them to the factories.

From Cape Horn to the Rio Grande, explorers and prospectors are seeking easily tapped resources to supply especially the rubber, the chrome, the manganese that is needed in the war effort. Newly organized government and private agencies seek priorities for the machinery and railroads needed to get the materials out.

U. S. Loan to Speed Rubber.

The United States Export-Import bank has arranged a 100 million dollar credit for Brazil, part of which will be used to establish a project for developing Brazilian rubber resources in the Amazon jungles.

The expectation is that 60,000 to 70,000 tons of rubber will be produced annually. But this is only a drop in the bucket compared with the hundreds of thousands of tons needed for army trucks and guns.

Ecuador, exactly halfway around the globe from the Netherlands East Indies, marketed 1,650 tons of rubber last year, most of it a wild variety unwanted then by the United States. Today it is a sought after prize for which United States representatives have bid against Argentina.

Bush Runners Hunt Groves.

With the assistance of the United States government, Ecuador is off on a double program to boost production, sending bush runners out to find new supplies of wild but ready to harvest rubber, and putting to work a special mission of experts on a 20 year program of development of cultivated rubber plantations.

From 4 to 5 million wild rubber trees are spotted across Panama's seven provinces, the government estimates.

Costa Rica already has a Goodyear rubber plantation, and in Honduras rubber plant seeds already have been sent to the northern coast, where there is some wild rubber growing.

Guatemala produced some wild rubber years ago, and the United States is sending a commission to investigate the present prospect.

Manganese Supply Large.

Rubber production in land locked Bolivia is increasing and is being stimulated by a $100,000 contract from the United States.

Manganese, vital to production of steels and light metals, is hidden in almost all the Central American nations and its supply is being increased in various way.

Mexico is one of the best sources. Mexican manganese mines are working at nearly double their former capacity, hundreds of additional workers are employed, and thousands of tons are being shipped to United States factories.

BILL EXEMPTING WAR WORK SUPPLIES FROM SALES TAX ADVANCES

Washington, D. C., April 21 [Special].—The house ways and means committee today reported by a divided vote a revised bill to exempt from state and local sales and use taxes supplies purchased by contractors for use in filling war orders.

The measure in its original form, reported by the committee a month ago, had been held up by the rules committee whose members objected to the failure of the bill to leave entirely to the states their levies on gasoline and motor fuel. This provision was contained in the bill reported today.

Vigorous opposition from the states continues, however, and it was said by committee members the bill will have to undergo a stiff fight before it can be enacted. War contractors' supplies have yielded to states and localities about 140 million dollars in taxes, it was estimated.

'FREEZE' CALLED 'DEATH SQUEEZE'

Typewriter Dealer Assails Government Order.

A story of the hardships wrought by the government's freeze order on typewriter stocks was related yesterday by Rudy S. Marek, owner of the A-Alpha Typewriter service, 10 East Elm street.

With an inventory of 27 rebuilt typewriters valued at $2,500, Marek said his business has been paralyzed since March 6, when the War Production board issued its ban on typewriter sales.

"Like many another small business man, I am getting squeezed out," Marek said. "I have tried to sell my stock to other dealers and to eligible purchasers but it looks like competition for the few customers that are permitted to buy is too hot.

Appeals Meet Deaf Ears.

"I have appealed to the WPB, the Office of Price administration and other government agencies, but no one seems to have considered the plight of the small business man whose livelihood is tied up in his inventory, which he cannot liquidate.

"I am willing to sacrifice what I have for the war, but the government order is inequitable. I have had to borrow $400 on my car and I have $200 in other debts, which I would be able to pay off if I could sell my typewriters."

War Plants Want New Ones.

Marek said he had canvassed war contractors in the Chicago area who are eligible to buy typewriters, but all desired new machines. A State street store gave him an order for 10 machines, but he learned later that it was ineligible to purchase them for use in its office.

"It looks like the small fellow is being sentenced to death without a trial or an appeal," Marek said. "When you close a man's business you take his bread from him."

CENTRAL WEST CONFECTIONERS FIGHT CANDY TAX

Members of the central west trading area of the National Confectioners' association meeting in the Palmer house yesterday opposed the proposed federal excise tax of 15 per cent on candy in a resolution addressed to Rep. Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.], chairman of the house ways and means committee.

The resolution asserted that the levy on candy as a food would be discriminatory because the proposal does not include any tax on other similar food products. It was also said that such a tax would limit the amount of revenue the government already is receiving from the industry thru present taxes and would impose hardships on more than 1½ million retailers.

Report Bell & Howell Will Run Plant for Government

The Bell & Howell company, manufacturer of moving picture cameras and other specialized equipment, will operate a plant to be built by the Defense Plant corporation in the Lincolnwood area of Chicago it was learned yesterday. The architecture firm of Mundie, Jensen, Bourke, and Havens was reported to be drawing plans for the plant. Details as to what will be manufactured were not disclosed for military reasons.

Traditionally a policyholders company, Employers Mutual enjoys ever-increasing confidence of American business because of the service rendered. Our workmen's compensation insurance proposals win immediate interest of cost-conscious executives.

Rationing of Pork Is Indicated; Food Men to Confer with OPA

Blames Need of Allies

Washington, D. C., April 21 (AP).—Chairman Hampton P. Fulmer [D., S. C.] made public today a letter from Leon Henderson in which the price administrator asserted rationing of pork may "have to be resorted to if the existence of smaller sellers is to be preserved."

Henderson's letter was in reply to a complaint by Fulmer against inequities in the OPA pork ceiling prices. Carolina packers had protested on the ground that large Chicago packers "having advance knowledge" of the price order had been able "to bid up prices of hogs in South Carolina to a point where local packers can buy the hogs only at a great loss."

While an OPA amendment to the original price fixing order "will give relief to smaller packers," Henderson wrote, other factors support prices.

"Chief among them," he said, "is the great pressure which the government has placed upon certain sellers by demanding that they furnish for export to our allies 40 per cent of the entire United States pork production of the next few months."

Open 4 Day Meeting

Representatives of the food industry will begin a four day conference in Washington, D. C., today with Office of Price administration officials. The meeting was called to discuss general price problems at the manufacturer, wholesale, and retail levels.

OPA has invited three manufacturers, three wholesalers, and three retailers—including representatives of independents, coöperatives, and chain stores—from each branch of the trade to attend the conference. Trade branches to be represented will include fats, oils, and soaps; canned fruits and vegetables, coffee, packaged cereals, prepared flour mixes, citrus fruits and juices, tea and spices, household supplies, cocoa and chocolates, dried fruits, and jams, jellies, and preserves.

OPA yesterday telegraphed manufacturers of rolled and wire glass an invitation to attend another Washington meeting April 29 to discuss maximum prices on their products—used in windows, skylights, and office partitions.

LOSSES THRU STRIKES ARE MUCH REDUCED IN FIRST QUARTER OF '42

Washington, D. C., April 21 (AP).—The War Labor board reported today that strikes caused a loss of 332,000 man-days affecting the war effort in the first quarter of 1942, or about one-fourth of the approximately 1,384,000 man-days of strike idleness in the first quarter of 1941.

Chairman W. H. Davis said that employment on war production increased about 156 million man-days in the first quarter of 1941 to an estimated 552 million man-days in the first three months of 1942.

Expressed as a percentage of war employment, he said, idleness in strikes related to war production was approximately 90/100 of 1 per cent in the first quarter of 1941 and only 6/100 of 1 per cent for the first quarter of 1942.

20TH CENT.-FOX ELECTS WILLKIE AS CHAIRMAN

Wendell L. Willkie yesterday was elected a director and chairman of the board of 20th Century-Fox Film corporation at the annual stockholders' meeting in New York. He had been appointed to the posts at a directors' meeting April 9.

Other new directors elected were Spyros P. Skouras, who also was named president to succees the late Sidney R. Kent; Darryl F. Zanuck, vice president in charge of production, and William Goetz. Tom J. Connors was elected vice president in charge of sales.

Skouras told the stockholders that gross revenues in the first quarter this year rose about 4 million dollars or 30 per cent over those of the same 1941 period and that net earnings in the 1942 period were approximately $800,000.

ASK RE-ELECTION OF 6 HARVESTER BOARD MEMBERS

Reëlection of the six present directors of the International Harvester company for three year terms was proposed yesterday in a proxy statement mailed by the management to stockholders in connection with the annual meeting May 14 at Hoboken, N. J.

The directors and the amounts of company stock held directly or indirectly on March 20 follow: John A. Chapman of Blair, Bonner & Co., Chicago, 303 common and 100 perferred shares; William S. Elliott, vice president and general counsel, 1,900 common; James R. Leavell, president of Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, 100 common; George A. Ranney, chairman of Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, 2,000 common; John Stuart, president of Quaker Oats company, 150 common, and John P. Wilson of Wilson & McIlvaine, 2,001 common and an interest in 900 common and 300 preferred shares.

International Harvester in the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, 1941, paid a total of $753,705 to its officers and directors, and contributed $431,134 to a retirement fund for the officers.

Begin Work on New Lock to Speed Ore Ship Traffic

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 21 (AP).—Work on a new $9,500,000 lock around the Sault falls of the St. Mary's river was begun today with dredges tearing down the south approach wall of the old Weitzel lock, now too small.

NEW FORD AERO MOTOR TO GET TEST IN TANKS

Mass Production for British Is Near.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., April 21.—The new high powered Ford aircraft motor that has been under development here for the last two years is going into large scale production within the next few weeks, Ford Motor company officials disclosed here today. But instead of going into combat airplanes the engine will first be placed in British tanks and British motor torpedo boats.

Tooling for mass production of the new engine has made considerable progress. First production models will be delivered and perhaps be in action in the English channel or on the Libyan desert before midsummer. These particular versions of the motor will not be supercharged. As a result, they will produce only approximately one-half the power that the aero unit already is delivering for laboratory testing programs.

2,000 "Horses" for Take Off.

The new Ford aircraft engine will have a take-off power delivery of 1,850 to 2,000 horse power and will maintain 1,500 horse power at altitudes of from 3,000 to 32,500 feet. But this expected performance—achieved by no other engine in production anywhere in the world today—depends upon the operation as an integral part of the motor of a new type of Ford exhaust-driven supercharger.

C. W. Van Ranst, who designed the motor and is in charge of its development, said that use of the new aircraft engine in tanks and torpedo boats would provide his engineering staff with valuable field reports on the main stress bearing parts of the motor.

The British tank installations call for motors of two sizes. The Ford company therefore offered the British both a V-8 and a V-12 version of the new engine. The only difference is that the front four cylinders of the V-12 were cut off to make the V-8. The V-8 engine without a supercharger will deliver about 650 horse power and the V-12 more than 925 horse power.

Power-Weight Compares Well.

At these powers the motor will be slightly heavier on a power-weight ratio than the finest airplane engines now flying. In tank and boat the new Ford engines will weigh about 1.6 pounds per horse power as compared to 1.2 pounds for the standard Pratt & Whitney and Wright air cooled aeronautical engines and the Rolls-Royce liquid cooled aircraft engines now in service.

But the reliability of the Ford engine, its speed of manufacture, and its ease of maintenance in the field, are expected to offset completely the weight handicap which is slight anyway. The Ford engine has been designed for heavy duty and long periods of trouble-free functioning between overhauls. It is notably sturdy, with fewer working parts than any other motor of comparable power, and its laboratory history has been phenomenal from the standpoint of reliability.

Aero Engine Strides Made.

Progress also has been made in the last six months toward mass production of the airplane version of the new motor. The tooling now under way for producing cylinders, valve gear, pistons, connecting rods, crankshafts, wrist pins, bearings, piston rings, valves, and even the crankcases and cylinder cases of the motor for tank and torpedo boat usage will be utilized in building the aero engine, Van Ranst said.

The bottleneck at this time is in development of mass production methods for creation of the supercharger. The Ford company and Van Ranst are satisfied with the supercharger they have developed, but they have not as yet satisfied them-

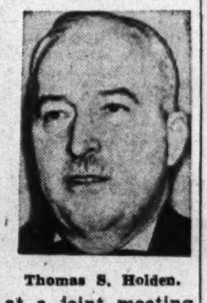
Builders Face Biggest Task, Says Holden

With the War Production board planning construction this year exceeding the entire total for the country for both private and public works in 1941, the construction industry faces the biggest program—in dollar volume — in its history, Thomas S. Holden, president of the F. W. Dodge corporation, said last night. He spoke at a joint meeting of the Chicago chapter of the American Institute of Architects and the Illinois Society of Architects in the Chicago Bar association headquarters, 29 South La Salle street.



Thomas S. Holden.

Holden said that in addition to work done in the United States there will be a large amount of construction overseas on supply depots, assembly plants and bases. Many American architects, engineers, builders, and skilled workers will be sent to these sites overseas as well as large amounts of American materials.

Fall Into Three Main Types.

Holden said that war projects will fall into three categories:

1. Barracks, army and navy and air bases, ordnance plants, supply depots, fortifications and other types of construction for the armed forces.

2. New plants for extracting and processing essential raw materials and for fabricating assemblies and parts of implements and munitions of war and also storage facilities.

3. Housing and community facilities for war workers and their families who migrate to new or established but expanding industrial centers.

Commenting on the WPB conservation order L-41, which bans most types of civilian construction, Holden said that the action had largely been discounted by the industry.

Says Move Was Anticipated.

"The order was largely a conversion order, channeling all this year's activity of the industry into war construction," he said. "Since it was anticipated ever since Pearl Harbor as a logical next step to follow previous curtailments of civilian construction, its effects on the industry as a whole is of minor importance, altho it does radically affect particular types of operations and particular members of the industry."

Holden said he expects that a large part of the war construction activity will extend into 1943, but added that the question of whether there might be any period of lessened activity after the peak of war construction would to a large extent be determined by the length of the conflict.

BIG AM. TOBACCO LOAN PRICED AT PAR BY BANKERS

Morgan Stanley and company announced yesterday that the 100 million dollar issue of American Tobacco company 20 year 3 per cent debentures would be priced at 100 when offered to the public, possibly tomorrow. Morgan Stanley spokesmen said a group of 146 underwriters and an additional 500 selling agents would handle the offering.

A banking group headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., Chicago, offered 2 million dollars of Commonwealth of Massachusetts water bonds, due 1943 thru 1972, at prices to yield 0.30 to 1.5 per cent.

Lehman Brothers headed another group offering a new issue of $3,500,000 City of Norfolk, Va., bonds at prices to yield 0.60 to 2.4 per cent for maturities from 1943 thru 1967.

Packard Accepts Gilman's Resignation as President

Detroit, Mich., April 21 (AP).—The board of directors of the Packard Motor Car company today accepted the resignation of Max M. Gilman as president and said a successor probably would be appointed tomorrow. Gilman resigned recently because of ill health.

IRON PRODUCTS PUT UNDER WAR PRIORITY CURBS

May 15 Rule to Hit 2,700 Foundries.

Washington, D. C., April 21 (AP).—Deliveries of iron products may be made only upon military priority ratings after May 15, the government directed today. At the same time steps were taken to suspend deliveries of steel plates to users having supplies on hand.

The priority action of the War Production board brought the country's 2,700 iron foundries under restrictions which previously applied only to steel. No iron or steel products may be delivered except on orders carrying an A-10 preference rating or higher.

The board's iron and steel branch followed up a survey of steel plate in the hands of shipyards and other consumers with announcement that those having excessive supplies would receive no plate allocations in May.

Check Inventories Constantly.

A constant check on inventories of plates is being made, said C. E. Adams, branch chief, because demands of the emergency ship program and other requirements continue at least 50 per cent higher than plate production. Steel plate output next month is expected to reach an all-time peak of 900,000 tons, Adams estimated.

A third action ordered the segregation of tin plate and tin alloy scrap from other scrap being delivered to steel mills. The order prohibits the mixture of any tin bearing scrap in a bundle or car of scrap iron and steel.

It was explained that the scrap shortage had resulted in increasing amounts of tin can scrap and other tin material reaching steel mills. If more than small amounts of tin go into steel, the product is brittle. Another objection is that tin cuts thru the bottoms of steel furnaces.

Facilitate Dairy Repairs.

Acting to assure supplies necessary to keep dairy machinery in good running order, the WPB granted high priority ratings on deliveries of operation, repair and maintenance materials to plants processing or producing dairy products.

One rating [A2] is assigned to materials needed for emergency repairs to avert spoilage "due to an actual or threatened breakdown of operations"; a lesser rating [A3] is assigned materials required for normal repair, maintenance, operation or replacement.

Curb Rubber Tires on Farms.

Manufacture of all rubber tired farm machinery, except harvester-thresher combines, must be stopped April 30, the WPB decreed. Production of the combines must cease July 31. Included under the April 30 deadline are all farm tractors requiring rubber tires.

WPB officials said additional time was permitted makers of combines because a new small-size machine had been developed requiring rubber tires for complete efficiency. Manufacturers now are endeavoring to perfect a satisfactory substitute for rubber in the special tires used.

Members of the newly organized motion picture industry advisory committee were told by WPB officials that they must conserve materials and man power as much as possible and save on film wherever feasible.

STOCKS MAINTAIN RISING POWER 3D SUCCESSIVE DAY

Chemicals, A. T. & T. Move Counter to Trend.

New York, April 21 (AP). — Stocks continued to reach for higher levels today under slightly improved buying prompted by the market's turn after reaching nine year lows last Friday.

The recovery swing was interrupted at intervals by heaviness of American Telephone, du Pont, and Allied Chemical. A late upturn in the rails helped to impart closing firmness altho industrials generally finished a little under their best prices for the day.

See Return of Confidence.

Brokers saw signs of some recovery of confidence in the market's position after a long stretch of declines culminating in last week's deep slide on the Laval return to power in the Vichy government. While today's foreign news was interpreted as mostly on the favorable side buying cues seemed to come mainly from ideas that the list was entitled to a further technical rebound.

Recording its third successive rise the Associated Press 60 stock composite was up .2 of a point at the close. Transactions totaled 270,250 shares compared with 240,000 yesterday. Analysts were hopeful of some expansion in trading with disclosure of the administration's inflation control program, due within a few days.

BUTLER GAINS ¼.

Butler Brothers common closed ¼ higher at 6 on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday coincident with the company's report of a large increase in profit for the first quarter of 1942. The issue also was the volume leader for the day with a turnover of 1,500 shares.

Prices tended moderately higher on improved trading volume of 15,000 shares. Of 78 issues traded, 36 advanced, 21 declined and 21 closed unchanged. Commonwealth Edison rose ⅜ to 18¼.

SELECTED RAIL AND INDUSTRIAL BONDS ADVANCE

New York, April 21 (AP).—A selected group of rails and industrials moved up fractions to around a point in today's bond market while depressing influences were at work among the utilities and movements were narrow and irregular in other departments.

Trading picked up, especially in the carrier division, with the day's total sales amounting to $7,329,300, par value, against $5,601,600 on Monday. The Associated Press averages reflected the cross currents besetting the market as a whole by recording rises of .1 of a point each in the rails and industrials, declines of similar proportion in the utilities and foreigns and stationary figures in the low yields. The utilities touched a new 1942 low, the second day in succession.

HOG PRICES TURN UP AS U. S. ASKS QUICK SHIPMENT

Hog prices turned upward yesterday on news that lend-lease buyers are becoming more insistent that packers immediately deliver large quantities of pork and lard for shipment abroad. Prices rose mostly 15 to 20 cents, with some sales 25 cents higher for the day, despite the new pork ceilings that went into effect Monday.

It was reported that the government's disappointment with last week's deliveries of pork resulted from the fact that much more shipping space has become available.

Fat lambs soared 25 to 40 cents to the highest price level since January, 1930. Best steers held steady, but most others sold off 10 to 15 cents.

MINNEAPOLIS FLOUR.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 21 (AP).—Carload lots, per brl, in 98 lb cotton sacks: family patents, unchanged, $7.10@7.30; standard patents, 10c higher, $5.90@ $6.10. Shipments, 11,825 brls. Pure bran—$34.50@ 39.50 per ton. Standard middlings—$36.50@ $38.50 per ton.

Commodities

Cotton futures closed 25 to 40 cents a bale lower yesterday on hedge selling against recent purchases from Commodity Credit corporation and more favorable reports regarding the new crop. Irregular price changes are to be expected pending President Roosevelt's message to congress outlining policies for controling the cost of living, traders said. Wool top futures declined .4 to .5 cent a pound. Coffee, cotton seed oil, and grease wool closed unchanged.

CHARGES RUBBER OUTPUT THRU USE OF GRAIN STIFLED

Farms Could Solve Other Problems, House Hears.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 21.—Large petroleum and sugar cane interests have joined forces to block use of the nation's huge stores of farm products in the development of a synthetic rubber program to offset the wartime shortage, Rep. Anton Johnson [R., Ill.] charged in the house today.

Altho these interests admittedly can meet only a small portion of current needs, Johnson declared, evidence brought to light at congressional hearings indicates they are being favored by the directors of the war effort to the detriment of the nation's farmers.

The Illinoisan explained that the base from which the majority of synthetic rubbers are made is ethyl alcohol. In the manufacture of gasoline, this is a byproduct. Sugar cane producers make it from black strap molasses.

Need Unlimited Production.

"Both sources are limited," said Johnson. "There is the further inescapable fact that we must have ethyl alcohol in almost unlimited amounts for the manufacture of smokeless powder and other munitions.

"Luckily, the problem can be solved easily and quickly, if the powers that be will give the farmers of America a chance to help fill this war material requirement.

"The farms of America can supply untold millions of bushels of extra corn and wheat and other starchy products from which vital materials can be made. A bushel of corn will produce 2½ gallons of 190 proof ethyl alcohol and a gallon of the alcohol will produce 2.2 pounds of synthetic rubber.

Under modern manufacturing methods, and using corn worth 85 cents per bushel, synthetic rubber from this source costs approximately 22½ cents per pound, or only 4½ cents more than the present fixed price of natural rubber—about 52 cents per average tire.

"We know we have to have these ume and the congress will not be materials in almost unlimited voldoing its rightful duty if it does not see that we get the.m"

Lists Freight Savings.

Johnson proposed that the government set up a large number of small distilling plants in the vast grain belt where farm products can be processed at a saving in freight and other costs.

Byproducts of the distilling, particularly those known as brewers' grains, could be returned to the nearby farms for cattle and hog feed, which would be an added saving from the present method of drying, bagging, and transporting the feed from urban areas back to the agricultural regions, he said.

According to evidence unfolded before congressional committees, the Illinois representative noted, Germany had 36,000 of these small plants at the start of the war.

People and Events

Two new directors were elected yesterday by the stockholders of Acme Steel company at the annual meeting in Chicago. They are Guy T. Avery, Riverdale plant works manager, and W. Sheridan Huss, central district sales manager. They fill vacancies caused by the resignations of James E. MacMurray, now living in California, and F. C. Gifford, who retired because of ill health.

Six new members were appointed yesterday to the war engineering board of the Society of Automotive Engineers at Detroit. The new members are L. R. Buckendale, Timken Detroit Axle company; Arthur Nutt, Wright Aeronautical corporation; Don Berlin, General Motors corporation; C. G. A. Rosen, Caterpillar Tractor company; Ralph R. Teetor, Perfect Circle company, and Earl H. Smith, Packard Motor company.

Winners in the third annual advertising exhibit sponsored by the Chicago Federated Advertising club will receive awards Friday at a special luncheon in the Hotel Sherman. The winning displays will be shown in the grand ballroom of the hotel from 11 a. m. to 3 p. m. The casts and production staffs of winning radio programs will attend the luncheon. More than 700 entries were filed for eight classes of competition.

The Chicago Automobile Trade association has moved its headquarters to 100 East Superior street, it was announced yesterday.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BOB BECKER

Wild Flowers in Bloom.

THE spring wildflower parade is well under way on the farm. When we hiked thru the east woods recently we found the first delicate pink spring beauties, patches of white anemones, the mottled leaves of the dogtooth violet and mandrake plants pushing their spring umbrellas up thru the oak leaves.

The spring beauty display will continue for some time. There are thousands of delicate plants in the farm woodlots, and they are especially abundant in the east woods. When we examined a number of the plants we found that not all of them had open blossoms. When the rest of the spring beauties respond to the sunlight that streams thru the leafless trees, the whole woodlot will be carpeted with a delicate shade of pink.

There are several patches of anemones near the northwest corner of the east woodlot, in about the same stage of development as the spring beauties. A few more days of warm weather will put them in full flower. The dogtooth violet is the next flower scheduled to blend color in the woods.

Blossoms Grow Quickly.

All of our early spring flowers are on a hasty time schedule which shows how Nature has her program worked out. The anemones, spring beauty, and other species which make our Chicagoland woods so attractive every spring can't take their time about developing their blossoms. They have to hurry and catch the spring sunlight before the foliage appears on the trees and cuts this source of life from them. So, they bring out their flowers early even tho many of the days in April seem too cold for any species to do much growing.

The hepaticas don't bother to grow their leaves until after their flowers have come and gone. They put all their energy into flower production during the early days of spring, and their old leaves live over the winter. On the farm we have this flower in white and also in various shades of blue and purple.

Willows Are Beautiful.

The anemones are in blossom at a time when many of the farm trees are showing a distinct flush of green due to the development of either their flowers or slightly unfolding leaves. Greenest and most beautiful of all are the willows which are such a lovely shade of green that they catch your eye from a long distance.

The gardener at one of the farm homes showed us how he had transplanted two tiny anemones without realizing it. Last fall the men moved three Norway maples from the center woods to the lawn of this farm home. A large ball of earth was transported on the truck with the tree roots. The men didn't realize there was any wildflower seed involved in the moving process, but the other day two small white anemones popped out of the soil at the base of one of the maple trees.

BILLION DOLLAR WAR OUTPUT BY G.E. SEEN IN '42

000 in the 1941 quarter. He said sales are at the annual rate of 400 million dollars against $318,000,000 in 1941.

Louis C. Cates, president of Phelps Dodge corporation, predicted at the company's annual meeting that its copper output this year will set a new record mainly because of the addition of the Morenci plant, a large open pit copper mine now coming into production after 5 years of development.

Assuming present federal taxes but predicting steep tax increases which will further reduce net income, Cates estimated first quarter earnings before depletion at $4,470,000 or 88 cents a capital share.

Locomotives to Be Finished.

American Locomotive company has been given government permission to complete locomotive orders now on its books, William C. Dickerman, chairman, reported at the annual meeting. He estimated that output this year may total about three times the 73 million dollars in sales in 1941. He said the company is awaiting the new federal tax laws before proceeding with a plan to wipe out the $41 a share dividend arrearage on the preferred stock.

Raymond H. Fogler, president of W. T. Grant company, told stockholders that despite a 20 per cent gain in sales, earnings are running about the same as a year ago because of higher taxes.

Discussing the outlook for maintaining sales, Fogler said the variety chain would encounter increasing difficulty in obtaining many lines of merchandise. However, he said replacement lines should provide for a sufficiently higher sales volume.

Balaban & Katz Elect.

Leonard M. Goldenson, in charge of theater operations for Balaban & Katz corporation in New York, was elected a director of the company at the annual meeting in Chicago. John Balaban, secretary and treasurer, reported current earnings were somewhat better than a year ago.

Erle S. Thompson, president of the American Water Works and Electric company, told stockholders that the management is discussing with government regulatory bodies the possibility of utility rate increases to relieve the pressure from higher taxes.

M'NEAR DEFENSE RESTS IN PEORIA RAILROAD TRIAL

Peoria, Ill., April 21 (AP).—George P. McNear Jr., president of the government seized Toledo, Peoria and Western railroad, rested his defense today, without testifying at his trial on federal charges of coercing union employés in violation of the national railway labor act.

Two other road officials on trial with McNear—Superintendent Harlan H. Best and Trainmaster Bruce Gifford—made a blanket denial of the charges.

The case, carrying maximum penalties of $20,000 fines and six months jail sentences on each of 24 counts, is expected to go to the jury tomorrow. It began April 6.

Testimony involving McNear was given a week ago by Charles Mosher, East Peoria conductor, who quoted the road head as saying he would "scrap the railroad and sell it for junk before he would sign a contract with the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen."

Testimony of 25 character witnesses brought the defense's case to an end today, with final arguments scheduled for tomorrow.

Butter and Egg Futures Record New Price Gains

Butter and egg futures recorded new gains on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. Butter production last week was 8 per cent smaller than in the corresponding period last year and fresh receipts continued smaller than a year ago. Butter futures were up .35 cent a pound and egg futures around ¼ cent a dozen. Farm run eggs were in good demand for drying to fill government contracts.

Order Punchboard Firm to Pay $6,601 Back Wages

Charles A. Brewer & Sons, punchboard manufacturers at 6320 Harvard avenue, were ordered yesterday by Federal Judge Charles W. Woodward to pay $6,601 in back wages to 68 women employed at home placing numbers in the punchboards. The company was charged with violating the minimum wage provisions of the fair labor standards act.

NEW FORD AERO MOTOR TO GET TEST IN TANKS

Mass Production for Use by British Is Near.

"What's the good of making one turbo-supercharger and having it work like a charm unless you can turn them out in the necessary quantity," said Van Ranst. "We've got to be able to produce the superchargers just as fast as we can produce the engines—and we expect to build the aircraft engine just as fast as we do the V-8 motors in Ford automobiles."

The Problem: Turbine Wheels!

Specifically, he said, the turbo blowers or turbine wheels in the supercharger are the crucial items in that device. The company now is making an effort to cast the turbines with thin hollow blades to such close "tolerances" in measurement that virtually no machining will be required.

"We may get the whole thing licked next month, or it might be a year," Van Ranst suggested.

An idea of the delicacy of the job may be obtained from the fact that the exhaust driven turbo must stand up under exhaust gas temperatures of more than 1,000 degrees Fahrenheit, and at the same time be so perfectly balanced that it will revolve at speeds of 20,000 to 38,000 revolutions per minute. The metals now available will stand up to the heat and balancing is not difficult, but producing a turbo blower wheel that requires little or no machining is another matter.

Weighs Much Less.

Weight of the Ford aero engine with the power increases obtained thru supercharging will range just over eight-tenths of one pound per horse power. This is far less than the weight of any comparable aircraft engine—American, British, or German—in service today. And that includes the weight of the Ford turbo and the intercooler unit.

2 WAR PLANTS MAKE ILLIOPOLIS A BOOM TOWN

Illiopolis, Ill., April 21 (AP).—This little cornland village has begun to feel the stimulation of a war boom as the result of spade work on the government's two new ordnance plants which are mushrooming almost on its borders.

Traffic along the highway between Springfield and Decatur, which passes thru this community whose population was listed at about 700 in the 1940 census, has reached an all-time high in congestion.

The highway's real estate frontage in the village is reminiscent of that on U. S. route 50 thru Salem during the boom days of the oil field rejuvenation in that neighborhood in 1937. Residents are busy building cottages, expanding their homes to accommodate roomers, and constructing additions to their business establishments—gas stations, stores, and lunchrooms. Others are converting yards into trailer camps.

In Illiopolis and on the flat land where the new plants are building, hundreds of trucks are hauling earth that has been scooped by dozens of steam shovels. Wooden buildings—large sprawling affairs which will house various activities of the plant are taking form on the government's 19,000 acre reservation for which 173 farm tracts were condemned.

COURT APPROVES UTILITY'S PLANS FOR LIQUIDATION

Philadelphia, Pa., April 21 (AP).—United States District Court Judge William H. Kirkpatrick today approved the voluntary plan of the Great Lakes Utilities company to liquidate its business. The firm said it was unable to meet requirements of the holding company act of 1935 to integrate its 10 gas utility companies into a single system.

The company, with main offices here, owns or controls the Ohio Gas, Light and Coke company, the Gas Corporation of Michigan and its subsidiary, the Gas Transportation Company of Michigan; the Rochelle Gas company and the Paxton Gas company of Illinois; the Independence Gas company and the Le Mars Gas company of Iowa; Watertown Gas Company of South Dakota; the Martinsville Gas company and the Virginia Gas and Utilities company.

The parent firm said these companies were too far-flung to merge into a single setup. The plan for dissolution calls for disposal of the holdings of $1,582,000 of first lien 5½ per cent gold bonds and 151,431 shares of $1 common stock.

Sen. Brooks to Address Small Business Parley

Frederick A. Virkus, president of the Illinois division of the National Small Business Men's association, announced yesterday that a national small business conference will be held in Washington tomorrow evening. Virkus, who will preside, said that several congressmen, including Sen. Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] and Rep. Charles S. Dewey [R., Ill.], will attend. Subjects to be discussed are government competition and economy, priorities, consumer goods, taxation, labor, price control, sabotage, and trade barriers.

JAPS TO SELL 5,000 CARS.

German broadcasts said a dispatch from Sofia said the Japanese minister had signed a trade agreement under which Japan would supply Bulgaria with 5,000 motor cars on an unspecified date.

ROBERT R. YOUNG IS ELECTED C. & O. BOARD CHAIRMAN

Five New Directors Give Him Control Again.

Richmond, Va., April 21 (AP).—Robert R. Young, chairman of Alleghany corporation, regaining control of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway, was elected chairman of its board of directors and of its finance committee today.

The action came immediately after stockholders had named five new directors at their annual meeting to replace members Young once classed as allies of Guaranty Trust Company of New York.

George D. Brooke of Cleveland, president of the company, said that because of the increased burden of his work due to the war he would welcome the assistance of Young in the direction of the company's affairs.

Office Vacant for Year.

The board chairmanship had been vacant since the resignation of Herbert Fitzpatrick of Huntington, W. Va., a year ago in an effort to end the dispute between Young and Guaranty.

Robert B. Tunstall, counsel of the company, was promoted to vice president and general counsel by the board of directors. Brooke and all other officers of the company were reëlected.

The new directors are Fitzpatrick; Carl E. Newton of New York, Alleghany counsel; James M. Nicely of Guaranty Trust, which is trustee for one Alleghany bond issue; Joseph P. Routh of New York, chairman of the Pittston Coal company, and William H. Lipscomb of Leesburg, Va.

Replace Young Opponents.

They replace Frank B. Bernard of Muncie, Ind.; J. L. Dickinson of Charleston, W. Va.; Homer L. Ferguson, president of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company; Ralph C. Gifford of Louisville, and J. B. Hollister of Cincinnati, law partner of Sen. Robert A Taft.

Allan P. Kirby of Morristown, N. J., associate of Young in the 1937 purchase of controling securities in Alleghany corporation, who succeeded John M. Miller Jr. of Richmond, resigned as a member of the board last December, was reëlected, along with James G. Blaine of the Marine Midland bank of New York, trustee of one Alleghany bond issue; Brooke; H. B. Erminger Jr. of Chicago; Harvey D. Gibson of Manufacturers Trust company, New York; Harry C. Thompson of the Continental Bank and Trust company, trustee for another Alleghany bond issue; Brig. Gen. Leonard P. Ayres of Cleveland, and Young.

Ayres, Gibson, and Lipscomb were elected by holders of preference stock, series A, and the other 10 by holders of common stock.

WAYNE PUMP.

I read recently that the Wayne Pump company voted to give the federal government any 1942 profit above taxes which exceeds the average net earnings, after taxes, for the last five years. Can you give a brief description of the company and a comparison of recent financial operations?—M. R.

Answer: The Wayne Pump company, Fort Wayne, Ind., manufactures about 25 per cent of all pumps and accessories used by gasoline stations, garages, and airports thruout the country. Sales in 1941 were not reported, but average volume for the preceding four years was between 7 and 10 million dollars annually. Sales this year are expected to be increased by war contracts.

So far this year more than half of company operations have been turned over to production of munitions and other war supplies, and facilities have been expanded considerably. Plants are located in Fort Wayne, Ind., Los Angeles, Cal., England, Canada, and Brazil. Earnings for the fiscal years ended Nov. 30 and dividends paid in the calendar year follow:

	Net income.	Per share.	Dividends.
1941	$1,002,098	$3.46	$2.00
1940	922,514	3.18	2.00
1939	935,925	3.23	1.50
1938	1,065,205	3.68	2.50
1937	1,637,073	5.65	3.00

WABASH REORGANIZATION.

Has the Wabash railroad reorganization been completed? What was the sale price? How did 1941 earnings compare with 1940? How long has the road been in receivership?—B. E.

Answer: Sale of properties and assets of the Wabash Railway company was completed on Dec. 1, 1941, and confirmed by the United States District court at St. Louis, Mo., 15 days later. The reorganization managers declared the new plan operative Dec. 30 and the new company, The Wabash Railroad company, took custody and control of the road Dec. 31. The Interstate Commerce commission gave final approval of the sale on Jan. 5 this year. Sale price was $31,030,950. The Wabash Railway company earned $5,532,113 in 1941, compared with a loss of $2,335,899 in the preceding year. The road went into receivership in 1931.

SUSPEND OPERATIONS.

Has any information been received on the Bulolo Gold Dredging company in New Guinea since the outbreak of the war with Japan?—H. S. B.

Answer: The property of Bulolo Gold Dredging, Ltd., was evacuated in January and operations suspended, it was stated by an officer of the International Mining corporation which owns a stock interest in Bulolo. Three company airplanes were said to have been lost, and no other information has been received regarding damage to other equipment.

Letter from India Permits Collection of Back Wages

A letter mailed from Calcutta, India, Jan. 23, granting power of attorney to Mrs. Jessie Bartley of 2102 North Bissell street, has permitted her to collect $273 in back wages due her husband. The husband, Paul, 36 years old, has been a truck mechanic on the Burma road since last November. The money came from Bartley's former employer, the Red Stripe Print shop, 1152 West 63d street, which was enjoined from violating the fair labor standards act in federal district court and ordered to pay 14 employés $1,434 in back wages.

YES, AND WITH POISONED DARTS!!
BUT I'VE GOT MY EYE ON THOSE MURDEROUS LITTLE SAVAGES--THEY'RE DANGEROUS!!
FORTUNATELY THEY ARE SO BLACK THAT I CAN SEE THEM A MILE AWAY ON THE WHITE BEACH AND AT NIGHT?

MR. RYAN, THERE IS LITTLE TIME TO DECIDE...WILL YOU AND MADAME AND THE SMALL ONE RIDE WITH ME?
GIVE US A FEW MINUTES TO GAB ABOUT IT, NIP-NIP
WHAT DO YOU SAY, NORMANDIE? SHALL WE MAKE A DASH ON NIP-NIP'S DYNAMITE EXPRESS?...NON-STOP RUN...ESPECIALLY IF A TRACER BULLET HITS THE CARGO!
I KNOW HOW MUCH WORSE IT WOULD BE IF WE STAYED AND WERE CAPTURED...
BUT IN SPITE OF THAT POSSIBILITY, I WOULD NOT RISK MERRILY'S LIFE — EXCEPT FOR THE FACT THAT YOU WILL BE WITH US.... I WOULD FOLLOW YOU THROUGH ANYTHING!
YEOW! NIP-NIP!
MILTON CANIFF
FULL STEAM AHEAD!... I JUST GOT CLEARANCE PAPERS FROM A DREAM! ...IT WAS A DECLARATION ABOUT A GOOD OLD-FASHIONED CUSTOM! WE CAN TRAVEL AT NIGHT BY THE LIGHT OF THE TORCH I'M CARRYING!...

FURNITURE
LOANS
At Commonwealth you may take your choice of several loan plans. Actually, however, a furniture loan is by far the most popular. The requirements are so simple that nearly any one keeping house can qualify. The payments, too, can usually be adjusted to fit even the most modest income. If you need money, investigate the various loan plans COMMONWEALTH has to offer. STOP IN, WRITE, or PHONE for full details.
